U. S. WILL AID BRITAIN

Under Two Flags

The British flag flying above the Italian flag at the masthead of this submarine tells the story of a naval victory. The sub, Italy's Galileo Galilei, was captured in the Gulf of Aden when British trawler Moonstone's depth charges forced it to surface.

Japan Holds U. S. Responsible For New Axis Treaty

Jap Press Taunts America With Being Unprepared For Any Military Action In Pacific Zone While Germany Threatens Atlantic

TOKYO, Sept. 28.—Japanese reaction to the new Rome-Berlin-Tokyo pact crystallized today in the view the United States was mainly responsible for conclusion of the treaty through consistent and unfailing opposition to Japanese policies in the last nine years.

"In short," a highly placed Japanese told the Associated Press, "the attitude of the United States forced Japan to take sides. We have done so."

"Japan's friendship need never have been alienated," he declared, "particularly since America has neither economic nor strategic considerations of any importance in the far east. We were unable to understand America's concern over areas of the world where America's interests hardly exist."

This source said private conversations between former foreign minister Hachiro Arita and United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew before the fall of the Yonai government last July constituted the "last attempt" to resolve American-Japanese problems on that basis.

TO DEFINE ATTACK

In response to a question whether the economic pressure of the United States' embargo on scrap metal could be considered an "attack" under Article Three of the new pact, Yakichiro Suma, foreign office spokesman, told Japanese reporters a more exact definition of the word "attack" would be made.

Article Three binds the three powers to support each other with economic, political and military means—"when one of the three contracting powers is attacked by a power at present not involved in the European war or the Chinese-Japanese conflict."

In regard to Soviet Russia, Suma said significantly "the Imperial government intends to adjust its relations to all nations.

"Russia is closely related to this treaty."

ALIGNING RUSSIA

Qualified sources, asserting Japan's primary problem now is to bring Russia into the framework of the new agreement, predicted Japan would make an immediate effort at a rapprochement to safeguard her western boundaries. German help in such a move was forecast in view of the importance to Germany of the trans-Siberian channel of trade.

Two Children Hurt In Apartment Fire

WINNIPEG, Sept. 28.—Two children were injured, one critically, and a fireman was hurt in a fall when fire broke out last night in National Apartments in downtown Winnipeg. Damage was estimated at $5,000.

In critical condition with burns is two-year-old Jack Durham. Betty Durham, 14-months-old, suffered shock.

Fireman James H. McNeice, 50, suffered spinal injuries when he fell down a flight of stairs.

Nation In Peril, U. S. Is Ready For Anything, Welles

CLEVELAND, Sept. 28—Sumner Welles, United States under-secretary of state, today reasserted the intention of his government to "Render all material support and assistance in the form of supplies and munitions to Britain and her Dominions, in what we hope will be their successful defence against armed aggression."

In a foreign policy pronouncement considered especially significant because of yesterday's formal alliance of Japan with Germany and Italy, Welles warned the United States faces as grave a danger as any in its history and said the government was preparing "for any eventualities".

The address was delivered to the foreign affairs council here.

It served as a response to the Tokyo-Rome-Berlin pact, interpreted in world capitals as a move to curb American aid to Britain.

Welles Praises Heroism Of British People

Welles praised the heroism of the British people "in defending successfully their homes and their liberties" and added:

"It is the policy of your government, as approved by the Congress of the United States, and, I believe, by the overwhelming majority of the American people, to render all material support and assistance, through the furnishing of supplies and munitions, to the British government and to the governments of the British dominions in what we hope will be their successful defence against armed aggression."

Setting forth "the requirements of the United States" in the Orient, Welles declared there is no problem in the far east "which could not be peacefully solved through negotiation."

Japan's assault on French Indo-China he condemned as a threat to "the integrity of the French colony" contrary to the promises of the Japanese government to respect the status quo in that area.

Primary Requirements Of U.S.

"In essence," Welles declared, "the primary requirements of the United States in the far east may be thus simply set forth:

"Complete respect by all powers for the legitimate rights of the United States and of its nationals as stipulated by existing treaties or as provided by the generally accepted tenets of international law.

"Equality of opportunity for the trade of all nations.

"And finally, respect for those international agreements or treaties concerning the far east to which the United States is a party, although with the expressed understanding that the United States is always willing to consider the peaceful negotiation of such modifications or changes in these agreements or treaties as may in the judgment of the signatories be considered necessary in the light of changed conditions."

The Japanese government, however, he said, "has declared that it intends to create a 'new order in Asia.' "

"In this endeavor," the under-secretary said, "it has relied upon the instrumentality of armed force, and it has made it very clear that it intends that it alone shall decide to what extent the historic interests of the United States and the treaty rights of American citizens in the far east are to be observed."

American Rights Have Been Violated

He declared that "many hundreds of incidents have occurred" in which American rights had been violated.

But, he said, "there is no problem presented which would not be peacefully solved through negotiations provided there existed a sincere desire on the part of all concerned to find an equitable and a fair solution which would give just recognition to the rights and to the real needs of all concerned."

Reviewing the "tragic history of the international relations of the past seven years," Welles said "there is just one bright picture of constructive achievement that stands out." That, he said, was the development of close relations among the twenty-one American republics.

In discussing United States' policy in the far east, Welles

Today's War Moves

By J. W. T. MASON
British United Press War Expert
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

THE Russian government allowed publication today of the terms of the German-Italian-Japanese military alliance and also the fact that German troops had landed in Finland two days before the pact was signed, rightly implying a relationship between the two moves. Stalin is facing a situation that points to preparations by Germany to block Russian power in the Baltic while preventing expansion of Slav influences in the Balkans.

Russia has to be kept in order by Germany, Italy and Japan, if there is any hope of the new military agreement functioning. This is the more immediate necessity facing the east-west allies, for if the pact eventually were to involve the United States, Russia's position would have important consequences.

Russia cannot help being seriously perturbed by the military agreement which encircles her in Europe and Asia. This fact now seems to have been taken into advance consideration by Germany and explains the mysterious announcement made last Wednesday that Germany was using the northern railway through Finland to send troops into Norway.

FINLAND'S ONLY HOPE

The primary object in thus making Finland a military base for Germany is to menace Russia. Finland's consent to the passage of German troops through her territory seems to have been readily given, since assistance to Germany is Finland's only present hope of recovering the territory taken from her by Russia.

A few days before the German troop movement in Finland began, Russian troops were landed at the Finnish port of Hango, ceded to Russia as a naval base after the the Russo-Finnish war. Hango guards the entrance to the Gulf of Finland, protecting the approaches to Leningrad.

This military concentration could only be directed against Germany, since the Germans alone have sufficient power in the Baltic to threaten Leningrad. It may well have followed advance information at Moscow that the German-Italian-Japanese alliance was about to be signed.

The Germans selected as their

R. A. F. PLANES BREAK UP NAZI DAY ASSAULTS

German Attempts To Hit At London Broken Up In Big Battles

By WALLACE CARROLL
British United Press Exclusive Cable To The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Sept. 28. — British fighter planes attacking at tremendous altitude broke up two German aerial thrusts at London today in battles over South England.

Bombs crashed in the London area during the daylight raids, after 24 hours of intensive aerial operations over the capital and surrounding territories.

Incendiary bombs started big blazes in warhouses in central London but during the two daylight air alarms the Nazi pilots flew so high to avoid defense fire that their aim was poor. Many casualties resulted from bombing of an apartment block in east London.

FIGHTING NOT SEEN

British Spitfires and Hurricanes attacked the German warcraft at such great altitudes that the fighting often could not be seen from the ground.

A report that a strong German formation had crossed the Kentish coast, headed toward London, brought a morning air raid alarm and sent up a fleet of intercepter planes.

The Germans were flying so high they could not be seen over Kent county. As they reached the southeast outskirts of London the British fighters went into them with machine guns firing. Anti-aircraft guns blazed at such of the German planes they could pick out without danger to British planes.

At the end of the fight, the German planes fled homeward.

German air fleets had climaxed an almost continuous 24-hour attack on London with a ferocious bombing of the central area in the early morning hours, while the Royal Air Force planes were heavily attacking invasion ports and communications in western Germany.

133 LOST FRIDAY

It was asserted officially that 133 German planes had been shot down during raids yesterday, and it was probable that many more, damaged, had crashed on the way back to bases.

Throughout the night big German formations were bombing Britain all the way from southwest England to southeast Scotland, with London for the 21st straight night the main target.

Reports indicated that despite the terrific rain of bombs, damages and casualties were not unusually large in any area and that homes and shops had suffered most as usual.

An unusually brief joint communique of the air and home security ministries said:

"Enemy air attacks were again directed on London, bombs dropping on many parts of the capital, its suburbs and surrounding districts and causing damage to houses and commercial and industrial premises.

"Bombs also were dropped on south Lancashire, on several Midland towns, on several districts between London and the south coast and areas of southwest England. Casualties were small."

British Fire New Invasion Base Of Nazis

Lorient Port On French Atlantic Coast Is Set Ablaze In Fierce R.A.F. Raid—Heavy Damage Done

By SYDNEY J. WILLIAMS
British United Press. Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The air ministry said today that British bombers dropping high explosives at the rate of five a minute started great fires at the new Nazi invasion base of Lorient on the French Atlantic ocean coast.

Smashing at German objectives from the west coast of France to munitions factories deep in the Reich, the British squadrons reported that an "intense" three and one-half hour attack had left the Lorient harbor in flames that could be seen 70 miles away.

Lorient lies southeast of Ireland, providing an ideal submarine base, and with Brest is one of the most westerly points yet attacked in force by British bombers.

Other British bombing planes ranged deeply into Germany, damaging railroad yards and munitions plants as far as Dusseldorf, the ministry said.

In the attack on Lorient, the ministry added:

"Fires spread rapidly in the dockside buildings and others were started near a block of warehouses on the east bank.

"One huge blaze engulfed buildings near the harbor power station and lit up a great part of the docks and the (Scroff) river.

"Following raiders were guided by the fires and added to the damage. Incendiary bombs set a timberyard ablaze."

Lorient is a fortified seaport and military base of perhaps 50,000 population, with harbor facilities for both commercial and naval ships. It has big naval establishments and ship building yards.

U.S. WARSHIPS REACH BRITAIN TO JOIN FLEET

Destroyers Secured In Trade Make Crossing Of Atlantic

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ABOARD A BRITISH DESTROYER AT A UNITED KINGDOM PORT, Sept. 27— (Delayed) —The first flotilla of American destroyers transferred to Britain arrived at this war-bustling port today after completing safely the 2,500-mile voyage from an east coast Canadian port and coming through an apparent submarine attack unscathed during the last night on the Atlantic.

Manned by British crews, the grey ships in the flotilla, vanguard of the fleet being taken over by the Royal navy, knifed down the harbor to anchorage and took their places in the war zone less than a month after completion of the historic deal in which the United States obtained defence facilities in exchange for 50 destroyers.

Six of the 50 destroyers were commissioned in the Royal Canadian navy.

Without official welcome or fanfare, the flotilla slid quietly into this port in the grey mist. No whistles shrieked, no flags dipped. They arrived as secretly as they left Canada and later will be moved to another British port for minor alterations before going into service.

The over-age American destroyers, built 20 years ago, were not built for ocean crossings but they stood up splendidly to the Atlantic pounding.

General Eastwood Gets New Command

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Maj. Gen. Thomas R. Eastwood, 50, has been named inspector general of the home guard, replacing Lieut. Gen. Sir H. R. Pownall, who becomes commander of British troops in Northern Ireland.

Pownall, former chief of the general staff under Lord Gort, was put in charge of home forces to organize the "parashot" corps.

BRITISH REPLY TO AXIS PACT WILL BE FIRM

Diplomats Expect Re-Opening Burma Road, Increased Defences

By FREDERICK KUH
British United Press Staff Correspondent
Exclusive Cable to Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Sept. 28—Great Britain was reported by foreign diplomats in London today to be preparing a three-fold answer to the new triple alliance uniting Japan with the European axis powers.

Diplomatic sources said they expected Britain to take at least three drastic steps. These are:

1—Re-open the Burma road over which China receives vital supplies to carry on the war against Japan. The road was closed upon Japan's insistence early this summer until October 18.

2—Conclude new Pacific ocean defense arrangements with Australia and, if possible, with the United States. This would presumably involve further efforts to arrange for joint United States navy use of the British base at Singapore.

3—Increase the diversion of dominions export of essential raw materials from Japan to Britain and the United States.

Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax was understood to have informed China through diplomatic channels that Japan's entry into French-Indo China created a new situation regarding the Burma road and the triple alliance presumably would make this attitude stronger.

Some diplomatic sources in London took the view that failure of Britain to re-open the road would be a slap at the United States, in view of Washington's loans to China and the embargo on scrap iron to Japan.

Russian circles, meanwhile, indicated that Soviet Russia would continue to give extensive support to China.

BOARD SELLS SHIPLOADS OF BRITISH COAL

Million Dollars' Worth Diverted To Canada Disposed Of

OTTAWA, Sept. 28—How the wartime prices and trade board successfully disposed of nearly $1,000,000 worth of British soft coal and coke suddenly dumped upon the Canadian market when France capitulated, was described in a "now it can be told story" released Friday by the board.

A great fleet of grimy coal carriers scurried across the Atlantic, unconvoyed and most of them unprovisioned for an ocean voyage, to prevent their cargoes falling into enemy hands.

Carried across the Atlantic in a fleet of about 30 vessels ranging from small coastal colliers to huge freighters, the coal was originally destined for France but was diverted when that country asked the Germans for an armistice.

FOR FRANCE

When Germany first struck down into France and took over the principal large mining areas, British coal had to be shipped over in large quantities to help French industries.

At the moment France asked for an armistice there were 35 boat loads of British coal and coke either en route to France or actually unloading at French ports. They were ordered to proceed full steam to Canada.

In June the Wartime Prices and Trade Board was advised that the cargoes would be landed in Canada in order to prevent them falling into German hands, and that the vessels were urgently required to return at once with fresh cargoes of war essentials.

Coal Administrator J. McG. Stewart and his technical adviser, F. G. Neate, were both in Halifax at the time and they took charge of the job.

FORTY VARIETIES

There were some 40 different varieties of bituminous coal, some of a type not used heretofore in Canada, and it was impossible to know in advance what variety would be in each cargo.

"However, we received most hearty co-operation from the trade," Mr. Stewart was quoted in the board's statement. This co-operation had to do with use of dock and unloading facilities and with regard to "willingness to pay reasonable and even generous prices for these grades in the Canadian market."

By July, 20 of these vessels had discharged their cargoes at eastern Canada ports and in Newfoundland, six others were unloading and five others were on their way to unloading points from control stations.

One ship went through the Panama canal and unloaded at San Francisco and Seattle, and all but one of the original fleet has been accounted for, the statement said.

DELEGATES TO CONGRESS END LONG SESSION

Labor Representatives Pass Many Resolutions Affecting Workers

By HERBERT L. JONES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28—Delegates to the 56th annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada entrained for their homes today, leaving on the congress records a score or more of important decisions affecting close to 175,000 Canadian workers.

The measures are the result of week-long deliberations here by some 300 delegates who ended their convention yesterday. In scope they range from wartime taxation, old age pensions and unemployment insurance to a request to the government to bring Great Lakes Shipping Company employees into the Canadian Seamen's Union.

Some of the more important resolutions were endorsed late yesterday, just before Tom Moore of Ottawa was re-elected to his 23rd term as president of the congress and Calgary chosen as the 1941 convention city.

WAR TAXES

In the last rush of business the congress endorsed a Vancouver resolution protesting allocation of taxes in Canada's last wartime budget and asking the government to place the cost of war "on the shoulders of those who are best able to bear it."

On the other hand the government was commended for production of war materials through government-owned companies and urged to extend that policy. Labor representation was asked on government boards and commissions but a resolution asking the appointment of a Labor member to Canada's wartime cabinet was rejected as a matter for the government alone to decide.

The congress agreed to co-operate with the government in any plan to bring relatives of British trade unions to Canada for the duration of the war, went on record as favoring free transportation for men of the fighting services while on leave, and passed another resolution that Canadians in the fighting services be retained on government payroll after the war until they find employment.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED

Another resolution that asked government-sponsored insurance plan for enlisted men, was referred to the incoming executive for action.

During its week-long convention, the Congress: Endorsed the Defence of Canada regulations; unemployment insurance for persons earning not over $3,000 per year; advocated a reduction in the old age pension limit from 70 to 60 years; asked the Dominion government to assume responsibility for Canada's "employable unemployed."

Requested the return of "The single authority of the department of labor" in the letting of wartime contracts. Declared that Canada's vital natural resources should not be exported except by government permit. Asked legislation setting out labor's right to organize, and outlawing "company unions." Endorsed in principle an advance of not less than 40 cents to prairie farmers storing Canada's wartime wheat carryover.

WAR ATTITUDE

Declared itself in full support of democratic institutions and opposed to all forms of Nazism, Fascism and Communism.

The congress' attitude toward the war was outlined in a resolution by the Fort William Trades and Labor Council, which received unanimous endorsation. It read in part:

"We stand for peace, but not a peace based on peoples enslaved by Fascism, Nazism or Communism, but a peace based on freedom of the people under Democratic institutions."

JAP TREATY SEEN AS THREAT TO WEST COAST

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28—The new Japanese treaty with Germany and Italy is a "definite threat to the Pacific coast," according to Vancouver's Mayor Lyle Telford, who telegraphed Defence Minister Ralston Friday asking what is being done to safeguard Vancouver and coastal points from "subversive activities" by Japanese.

The mayor's wire, sent after he had read of the new Japanese commitments, said that citizens here would welcome re-assurance from military authorities that the situation was under control.

A recommendation to Prime Minister Mackenzie King urging an embargo on scrap iron shipments to Japan was also included. He recommended that all Japanese here suspected of disloyal activities be interned.

"We must prepare our defences and prepare at once," said the mayor. "Our trouble so far has been too much delay. I am sure all good Japanese citizens here will welcome any opportunity to undergo immediate investigation in order that they may be cleared of any suspicion of disloyalty."

French Order

VICHY, France, Sept. 28—The government announced last night adoption of a law providing for court martial of all persons establishing "exaggerated" food stocks.

PREVENTION OF SHOCK STUDIED AT UNIVERSITY

MONTREAL, Sept. 28.—Federal authorities have requested medical research workers at McGill University to speed up their investigation into the cause and prevention of shock, it was announced at the university Friday.

War has made the solution of the shock as a cause of death a matter of urgency, doctors explained. McGill research workers have been tackling it since the start of the year with funds from the medical committee of the National Research Council.

Now their efforts are to be redoubled in the hope of reducing army fatalities by eliminating one common cause of death. Shock may follow any severe injury, prolonged infection, exposure or fatigue.

"The research to date has given promise that the solution is in sight, and it is upon this reasonable expectation that the medical committee of the National Research Council has asked us to redouble our efforts," a spokesman said. "We hope to complete the research this year or shortly thereafter."

Doctors said their research centres around an excretion of the adrenal glands called "cortin." Research has shown that persons suffering from shock in its early stages lose cortin, whose normal function is to supply the blood with a defence against the effects of injury and disease.

If experiments bear out the theory that the diminishing supply of cortin is followed by increasing symptoms of shock, doctors believe they can cure the affliction by administering cortin following injury or before and after the operation.

As the supply of cortin from biological sources is limited, McGill medical men have set themselves the additional task of producing it synthetically and comparing the effectiveness of the natural and synthetic substances.

Merchant Shipping Is Being Resumed In Mediterranean

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Sept. 28.—British authorities found evidence of their control of the Mediterranean Friday in the increasing number of companies resuming shipping schedules between Alexandria and Mediterranean ports.

Egyptian maritime authorities are studying requests of a number of concerns to resume operations halted when Italy entered the war.

Are Arrested

BUCHAREST, Sept. 28—Rumanian authorities asserted last night that five British subjects, including a Canadian were arrested following the alleged discovery of important secret documents and large quantities of time bombs on the British premises of oil fields.

Enemy Aliens

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 28—A second group of German war prisoners and enemy aliens arrived here Monday from the British Isles. Included in the group were several women. Many of the women brought their children.

Casualty List

LONDON, Sept. 28—The war office 51st casualty list issued last night contained 133 names made up of 34 killed, eight died of wounds, 67 wounded, 19 made prisoners and five previously missing now prisoners.

Trawler Lost

LONDON, Sept. 28—The naval trawler Loch Inver is overdue and must be considered lost, the Admiralty announced last night.

DELIVERY OF WHEAT QUOTA LAGS BEHIND

No Rush To Deliver Grain To Elevators Ottawa Says

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—Figures available Friday night on movement of wheat to the prairie elevators are interpreted by trade department officials in Ottawa, as indicating there is no rush to deliver the quota of eight bushels to the acre.

With insufficient elevator space to take care of all the marketable wheat grown this year because so large a quantity of last year's crop is still held in storage, a quota of five bushels to the seeded acre was fixed so that each farmer would get equal treatment. This was later increased to eight bushels to the acre.

IN NO HURRY

Under the eight-bushel quota Manitoba farmers could have delivered 32,345,000 bushels but up to Sept. 20 had delivered only 18,000,000. Officials here say that most of the threshing in Manitoba is completed and these figures indicate the farmers are in no particular hurry to get their wheat to the elevators and thereby convert it into cash.

The same officials regard the Saskatchewan and Alberta figures as not so conclusive because harvesting is later. The quota provided Saskatchewan farmers with elevator space for 192,373,000 bushels and 58,000,000 bushels had been delivered on Sept. 20. In Alberta the quota space was 71,800,000 bushels aand the deliveries 17,500,000.

Farmers are allowed two-thirds-of-a-cent-a-bushel storage for each month they hold their grain on the farms. Officials here believe many farmers prefer to hold their wheat on that basis than to rush it to the elevators and turn it in at 70 cents a bushel, basis No. 1 Northern at the head of the lakes or Vancouver.

MEET IN WINNIPEG

George McIvor, head of the Canadian Wheat Board, in Ottawa yesterday, said a meeting of the advisory board on wheat marketing headed by D. G. McKenzie, will be held in Winnipeg next Tuesday and at that meeting it will be decided at what date payments for storage on the farms for the first month will be added to the price paid the farmers when the wheat is delivered. An announcement is expected on Wednesday. After two months the farmers will get 1 1-3 cents added, and so on.

Meanwhile officials here said there would be no announcement over the weekend on what the government proposes to do about advancing money to tide over farmers who will not be able to turn their wheat into cash after the elevators have been filled.

They held out the hope, however, that the storage quotas would be further increased in certain sections of the country within a week or so, and that there would probably be a general increase in quotas about Dec. 1.

BULGARIA MAY LINE UP WITH AXIS ALLIANCE

ROME, Sept. 28.—The possibility Bulgaria, as well as Spain, may join the new alliance of Japan, Italy and Germany against attacks by other powers now at peace was hinted in Italian political circles today.

If Bulgaria entered the new alignment, foreign observers said, it presumably would be for "protection" against Greece, from which Sofia wants an outlet to the Aegean Sea through Thrace, and also from neighboring Turkey, friendly with Britain.

Such an alliance, these observers added, would tend to isolate Turkey in a manner similar to the United States.

Authoritative Fascists have said previously Italy and Germany want a settlement of still pending problems in southeastern Europe, among which are Albanian and Bulgarian claims on Greece.

A dispatch from Sofia reported King Boris talked with his foreign minister, Ivan Popoff, and added that the Bulgarian finance minister, Dobri Boj Loff, who has the close confidence of the King, would visit Berlin and Rome next month at the invitation of the Axis governments.

Heavy Expansion By Firm Expected

CALGARY, Sept. 27.—Heavy expansion by Home Oil Company, Ltd., may be expected at Turner Valley field, it was revealed at a meeting in Calgary Friday, of officials of the Home, Home (Brazeau) and Home (Alberta), companies. A number of wells will be drilled, but when these will be drilled, expenditure and location will depend on a report to be issued by Major J. R. Lowery, Vancouver, managing director of Home.

Watch Air Fight

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The King and Queen, standing on the edge of a huge crater, Friday watched anti-aircraft shells bursting and Royal Air Force fighters pursuing a German bombing formation. They took cover later before resuming a tour of the bombed areas.

Russian Navy

MOSCOW, Sept. 28.—The Soviet Russian navy was disclosed Friday to have completed its manoeuvres in the Pacific. Warships, submarines, seaplanes and coastal batteries were reported to have combined in an exercise against attack from the sea and air.

Police Officials Hunt Distributor Communist Notes

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28—Royal Canadian Mounted Police officials here Friday investigated the distribution of Communist literature at the convention hall of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Delegates returning to their seats at the convention following lunch-time adjournment yesterday found the literature—hundreds of copies in sealed envelopes—on their chairs. Each copy was signed by "The British Columbia Joint District Committee of the Communist Party of Canada."

CANUCKS BAG 6 RAIDERS IN DAY'S BATTLE

Squadron Participates In Giant Air Fight Near London

By LOUIS V. HUNTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 28—The Royal Canadian Air Force squadron participating in Friday's giant air battle spread across Britain's skies knocked down six raiders during a dog fight south of London.

The attack against the raiders by Sqdn. Ldr. Ernest McNab's men was made in the company of one of the Royal Air Force Polish squadrons which accounted for 10 Germans during the day.

The Canadians' latest action came two days after Air Marshal W. A. Bishop, V.C., had helped them celebrate their 50th victory over the Nazis. It marked the seventh time in the last fortnight that the Canadians had been called on to help save London from attack.

LARGEST YET

Announcement of the R.C.A.F. squadron's success was made in the air ministry's news service account of the day's fighting. The air ministry said Friday's attacks were the largest yet made on Britain.

"There were about 30 Heinkel bombers," one of the pilots said. "They were protected by 50 to 60 Messerschmitt 109s. We attacked the bombers from astern and were ourselves attacked by Messerschmitt fighters from above. We turned towards those and they broke up in disorder, and we got four of them.

BACK TO FRANCE

"In the meantime the bombers had wheeled and were heading south back to France. We again went into attack against them from astern.

"Just afterwards we saw another formation of 40 Dorniers approaching head-on. These formed a defensive circle as also did some Messerschmitt fighters above them. Two more Hurricane patrols came in to attack them as we had no more petrol and had to go home."

Caterpillars never have more than six legs.

LONDON HEALTH UNDER FIRE IS REPORTED GOOD

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—Dr. John E. Gordon, of the Harvard Medical School, today described the health of London's war-stricken millions as "amazingly, surprisingly good" despite frequent bombings, loss of sleep, and the crowding into bomb shelters.

"England has a very efficient public health service," said Dr. Gordon, who has just returned from there by plane.

There is little typhoid there now, he said, and he did not anticipate it would be a problem. He believed that there would be an increase in cases of meningitis—"which is a problem in every war"—in pneumonia, in 'flu and in such common communicable diseases as mumps and measles.

Dr. Gordon expects to go abroad again in about 30 days with plans for a 100-bed model hospital and laboratory to be established with American funds in southwest England for study and treatment of communicable diseases under wartime conditions. He will be head of the hospital which will be sponsored by harvard and the American Red Cross.

Householder In Vancouver Gets Warning Letter

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28—City Fireman Cecil Hagman sought police aid Friday to solve the mystery of an unsigned letter which reminded him his home had been the scene of a murder one year ago.

Hagman bought the house after the bludgeon-slaying of Geo. Gray, former occupant, whose murderer was never found. Yesterday he received a letter, addressed merely to the street number of the house, on which was printed in block letters: "A year ago."

Alarmed for the safety of his wife and family, Hagman reported the incident to police.

No motive was ever found for the killing of Gray, an elderly recluse. Apparently nothing was touched in the modest home where he was attacked.

BRITISH PRESS SEES ALLIANCE WITH U.S. NEAR

Declare New Axis Pact Precipitated By Fear Of American War Entry

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The British press, almost without exception, took the view today the chief effect of the new German-Italian-Japanese alliance was to link the United States more closely to Britain.

The Daily Mail attached great significance to the conference in Washington yesterday between President Roosevelt and Lord Lothian, the British ambassador, declaring:

"The announcement of the conference strengthened authoritative but unofficial reports that an agreement of vital importance between the British Empire and the United States has been almost completed."

AIMED AT STATES

Most editorials expressed belief the three-power pact was aimed directly at United States, and gave great space to reports of American reaction.

Editorially, The News Chronicle hinted at United States entry in the war with the statement: "If the English speaking world has taken on all aggressors at once it will survive and win."

The Mail said: "Neither Britain nor America will quail before Ribbentrop's bluster about a 'new order' backed by 250,000,000 people."

The Manchester Guardian said Hitler would count on immediate gains "if the United States came into the war against him and was then attacked by Japan," on the theory "the United States would have to give its first attention to the Far East and it would divert to its own needs a large part of the supplies of all kinds that it is sending in increasing measure to the European Allies."

U.S. "FORMIDABLE"

This belief, The Guardian said, failed to "take account of two essential points."

"The first is the formidable capacity of the United States for making war, however many the fronts, in the economic, the military and every other field, should she, by whatever process, be drawn into the struggle. It ignores also the no less formidable spirit with which she makes war when she is in it."

Oil Production In Turner Valley At Highest Peak

CALGARY, Sept. 28.—Producing at an average of 27,250 barrels per day, Alberta oil wells are well on their way to setting an all-time high production this year, according to figures compiled by F. K. Beach and released Friday by the Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board.

Production in August totalled 844,751 barrels compared with 853,910 barrels in July and 767,984 barrels in August a year ago, it was reported. Total production for the first eight months this year was 5,279,235 barrels, a substantial increase over the 4,899,258 barrels to the end of August, 1939. Last year's record output was 7,594,411 barrels for the 12 months.

Aerial Defences Of Pacific Coast To Be Increased

VICTORIA, Sept. 28.—The aerial defences of Canada's Pacific coast are to be considerably expanded in machines, personnel and equipment as circumstances permit, Hon. C. G. Power, minister of national defence for air, said here Friday.

The minister said he is considering establishment of a recruiting depot or a medical board here to facilitate enlistments in the Royal Canadian Air Force.

(At present Vancouver is the only R.C.A.F. recruiting depot in British Columbia).

Mr. Power said that existing establishment at Patricia Bay will be increased by the transfer of additional squadrons.

Welles Says Nation In Peril; Outlines Strong New Policy

said it in "no way differed from the policies of this country in relation to other regions of the world."

"It is true, of course," he added, "that the problems which have arisen in our relations with the countries of the far east have had certain peculiarities because of the earlier rights of extra-territorial jurisdiction accorded to the nationals of occidental powers, along with various other special procedures adopted with special reference to special situations, but as situations have changed the United States has by the process of negotiation and agreement voluntarily assented to the alteration and removal of these special features.

Network Of Common Interests

"From time to time the nations directly interested in the far east have entered into treaties and international agreements which have created a network of common interests, as well as common responsibilities and obligations. . . .

On April 15 of this, as a result of developments in the European war, the foreign minister of Japan, in a public statement, asserted that Japan desired the maintenance of the status quo of the Netherlands East Indies. On April 17, the secretary of state made a statement on behalf of the United States expressing the belief of his government that the best interests of all nations called for the maintenance of the status quo in the entire Pacific area. On repeated occasions since then official spokesmen for the Japanese government have reiterated their desire for the maintenance of the present status of the Netherlands East Indies, and have further specifically declared that this policy applied not only to the Netherlands East Indies, but to French Indo-China as well. Nevertheless, and notwithstanding these official declarations, we are all familiar with the events of the past week which have culminated in measures undertaken by the Japanese military forces which threaten the integrity of the French colony."

CONGRESS WILL SIT WITHOUT ADJOURNMENT

British United Press
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—The Japanese-Axis military alliance appears to have killed any possibility of an adjournment of the American Congress.

Senate Republican Leader Charles McNary says the world situation probably will operate against an adjournment or a recess.

He predicts that after Congress disposes of vital legislation it will take a series of three-day recesses so that all members can be kept on call in event of a crisis.

Attorney-General Is Seeking Power Search B.C. Homes

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28.—Attorney-General Gordon Wismer said here Friday he had asked Federal authorities for power to search homes under the order-in-council requiring registration of firearms.

Mr. Wismer said he had asked that the order be amended to permit policemen to enter any house or other premises, merely upon direction from himself, in order to search for unregistered firearms. At present the police must have "reasonable grounds for suspicion" before such search is made.

New Directorate Of Army's Staff Duties Is Formed

OTTAWA, Set. 28—Creation of a new directorate of staff duties under Lt.-Col. M. H. S. Penhale of Ottawa was announced by the department of national defence today.

Col. Penhale is being recalled from the post of deputy assistant adjutant general at Canadian military headquarters in London to organize the directorate.

Most important duty of the directorate will be to co-ordinate under the direction of Maj.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, chief of the general staff, action taken on matters affecting more than one branch of the staff.

Shareholders Will Attempt To Block Bawlf Firm Sale

WINNIPEG, Sept. 28—T. C. Jobin, Winnipeg broker and shareholder in the N. Bawlf Grain Company, said today a shareholders protective committee has been formed to block the proposed sale of the company to the Alberta Pacific Grain Company for $1,000,000.

Counsel has been retained and an attempt to block the transaction will be made at the shareholders' meeting here Oct. 25 and later, if necessary, before the public utilities commission and in the courts, he said.

Assistance Rushed To Distressed Ship

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 28—The coast guard cutter Tailapoosa is speeding to assistance of the American steamship Alice Tebb, which radioed a distress signal from 100 miles east of Jacksonville, in the Atlantic, early today.

Coast guard divisional headquarters quoted the ship's distress signal as saying her seams had opened and she needed assistance.

Flagpole Gift

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 28.—A flagpole, gift of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, graced the campus of McMaster University Friday as graduates and undergraduates gathered in Convocation Hall for opening chapel service.

Today's War Moves

Finnish landing place the strategic port of Vasa, northwest of Hango, on the Gulf of Bothnia. There is no reason why Vasa should be used as an entrance for sending German troops to Norway. The route is circuitous and costly, and far longer than the normal passage from Germany direct to the Norwegian or Swedish coast. The Finnish route provides only an excuse for Germany's threat to Russia.

SPLENDID TERMINUS

Vasa is a splendid railway terminus for military transportation. One main rail line runs across Finland, eastward, passing into Russian territory and ending at Leningrad. It crosses the complicated eastern lake district of Finland where the Russians became entangled during the Finnish war. Another railway line from Vasa runs south to Helsingfors, the Finnish capital, with a branch line terminating at the Finnish port of Hango, now in Russian occupation.

With the Germans in possession of Vasa, a German army could move eastward through Finland toward Leningrad and another army could move southward to Hango. An offensive of this kind would be the quickest way for the Germans to menace a vital part of western Russia.

Stalin thus is threatened through his recently conquered Finnish territory with the certainty that the Finnish army would not hamper the Germans and might help them. The warning seems clear that Russia must show no open antagonism toward the German-Italian-Japanese agreement, certainly as long as Germany remains strong. But, it must be expected that if the European war becomes long and Germany weakens, Russia will await an opportunity to try to overcome the German menace, now so openly and flauntingly displayed.

Duke Of Kent Sees Rescued Children

LONDON, Sept. 28—The Duke of Kent drove 40 miles to a Scottish port Friday to see the six children rescued after a week in an open boat on the Atlantic following the torpedoing of their ship, the City of Benares, by a German submarine. The Duke shook the hand of each of them and also congratulated their escort, Miss Mary Cornish, who played a heroine's role in keeping the spark of life in the children in the intense cold and rough weather.

Calm Sea Reported In Dover Straits

LONDON, Sept. 28. — Brilliant sunshine and a calm sea in the Straits of Dover were reported today by the press association, although a fairly thick haze was said to limit visibility to mid-channel. There was a fresh northwesterly offshore breeze.

China Press Urges Recall Of Envoys

HONG KONG, Sept. 28.—A section of the Chinese press today urged recall of the Chinese ambassadors to Germany and Italy in protest against the axis alliance with Japan. The newspapers declared recognition by Germany and Italy of Japan's "right to establish a new order in east Asia" was a hostile action against China.

Assembly Plant

BUFFALO, N.Y., Sept. 28.—The Bell Aircraft Corporation will construct at Niagara Falls, N.Y., a new $1,500,000 assembly plant for fly-away delivery of military planes. The company has a backlog of $60,000,000 in orders for the United States and Great Britain.

U. S. WARSHIPS GO TO MANILA IT IS RUMORED

British United Press Exclusive Cable To The Edmonton Bulletin

HONOLULU, Hawaii, Sept. 28.—Five battleships and an aircraft carrier of the United States fleet left Lahaina roads for Pearl Harbor today, apparently on a week-end trip. Reports that some fleet units have gone to Manila, Philippine Islands, cannot be confirmed.

There have been reports that a section of the American fleet left for the Philippines a week ago and that other units, including an aircraft tender, will follow—indicating that the United States plans to strengthen its patrol in far eastern waters.

NAZIS MAY USE POISON GAS IS EDITOR'S VIEW

British United Press
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

NEW YORK, Sept. 28—William Phillip Simms, foreign editor of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, said in a dispatch from Washington yesterday that qualified sources at the capital had reason to believe that Germany "May now be on the point of drenching London and other vital areas with poison gas."

Simms said his informants reported that Adolf Hitler had reached a high pitch of anger because his German air force had not succeeded in bringing Britain to her knees and also because of the effective damage the Royal Air Force was causing in Germany.

Any such use of gas by the Germans, Simms said, probably would be preceded by what he termed a "Propaganda build-up of the sort made familiar by Dr. Goebbels, Nazi minister of propaganda."

The "build-up," Simms said, probably would take the form of charges that Britain was using poison gas, thereby laying the basis for German reprisals.

Simms said his sources claimed to have information that the Germans have been turning out gas at a "maximum capacity" for several months.

Manitoba House To Consider Farmers' Debts Adjustment

WINNIPEG, Sept. 28—An early session of the Manitoba legislature will be held to determine the need for extended debt adjustment legislation to assist the farmers, now burdened with wheat for which they can find little storage space and no markets.

The early session was recommended by the agricultural committee of the legislature, in session the last three days. It was accepted by Premier John Bracken, who said the early session would probably precede the regular sitting with possibly one or two short adjournments.

It was believed the session would start early in October.

Jap Gold Bullion Arrives In Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28.—Six million dollars worth of gold bullion from Japan arrived in San Francisco from Yokohama aboard the Japanese freighters Kunugasa Maru and Tosan Maru. The gold was consigned to the Yokohama Specie Bank here.

Ban On War Metals To Japan Is Urged

OTTAWA, Sept. 28—In view of Canada's "defence agreement" with the United States, the Canadian government should co-operate with the United States government in banning all shipments to Japan of scrap metals and other war materials, Angus MacInnis (C.C.F.-Vancouver East) has wired Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Spain Hesitates

NEW YORK, Sept. 28—The New York Times said editorially today the delay in Spain's formally announcing her adherence to the axis "is a further indication of hesitation to fall in completely with the plans of Germany and Italy."

U.S. Dive Bombers

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Sept. 28.—Douglas Aircraft Company reported Friday night that powerful dive bombers, which it described as "superior in performance to types in the war" are actually in production for the United States navy and are being delivered in quantities.

Today's Communiques

British

LONDON, Sept. 28.—A communique of the air ministry and the ministry of home security said Saturday morning:

"Enemy air attacks during last night were again directed mainly against London.

"Bombs were dropped in many parts of the capital and its suburbs and in surrounding areas. Damage was caused to houses, to commercial and industrial premises and other buildings. Fires caused by incendiary bombs were all brought under control, most of them being quickly extinguished.

"A number of casualties has been reported.

"Bombs which fell in parts of south Lancashire did very little damage.

"In several midland towns some damage was done to houses and buildings but the casualties resulting were few.

"Bombs were also dropped in several districts between London and the south coast, in a certain area in southwest England and in some other localities. In all these areas the great majority of the bombs did no harm but in some few places houses were damaged.

"The number of casualties reported from all these areas is small.

"At about nightfall last night a few bombs were dropped in east Scotland but no damage or casualties have been reported.

"The total number of enemy aircraft destroyed yesterday was 133. One of our pilots previously reported missing is now known to be safe."

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Text of an air ministry communique Saturday:

"Dock buildings were wrecked, warehouses and a timber yard set ablaze and great fires, some visible 70 and 80 miles away, were started during an intense bombardment of the French Atlantic port of Lorient last night by bombers of the Royal Air Force.

"The raid lasted for nearly 3½ hours. Good visibility and a cloudless sky enabled many of the attackers to pinpoint the damage caused by their bombs.

"In the first phase of the attack high explosive and incendiary bombs fell at the rate of five a minute for over an hour.

"Hits were scored on the docks, on the east and west banks of the harbor and on the quayside near the Pont de Caudan.

"Fires spread rapidly among the dock-side buildings, others were started near a block of warehouses on the east bank and one huge blaze engulfed buildings near the harbor power station and lit up a great part of the docks and river.

"This fire was seen by the crews of aircraft flying over the French channel coast on the other side of the peninsula.

"Following raiders, guided by these fires, added to the damage. Incendiary bombs set a timber yard ablaze and sticks of high explosive bombs straddled the shipping lying in the basin and the river anchorages.

"One long stick of bombs fell right across the river, the first bomb exploding on the eastern dock and the remainder bursting in a line which ended in the west dock on the opposite bank.

"As the last of the raiders left for home in the early hours of this morning the smoke of many fires billowed over the docks.

"Other night raiders operating over Germany bombed railway yards at Mannheim and Hamm and attacked a large munitions factory at Dusseldorf."

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Dunkerque, Ostend, Calais, Boulogne, Le Havre and a new "invasion port"—Lorient—were heavily attacked by the British Air Force last night, an air ministry communique said late Saturday.

The communique:

"Attacks on shipping in enemy-occupied harbors in France were extended last night to Lorient, on the Breton coast, where the docks were heavily bombed.

"Other strong bomber forces continued the nightly attacks on shipping in the channel ports of Dunkerque, Ostend, Calais, and Boulogne, and also at Le Havre, where the attack was particularly successful.

"In Germany our aircraft bombed the railway yards at Hamm and Mannheim, and a munition afctory at Dusseldorf. All our aircraft returned."

German

BERLIN, Sept. 28.—The text of the German high command's communique Saturday:

"The air force's raids carried out yesterday with strength were directed primarily against port facilities, docks, factories, power plants and gas works in London and southern England, as well as troop camps. The ports of London and Bristol were especially heavily bombarded.

"Extended blazes and heavy explosions indicated success everywhere. In central England we succeeded in hitting disastrously an armament plant with the heaviest calibre bombs. Long range batteries again took Dover under fire, damaging three armed merchant ships anchored in the harbor.

"Later it was observed that two of the ships sank. Battle planes attacked a strongly protected convoy off north Ireland and sank a 6,000-ton merchant vessel by a square hit.

"A few enemy planes at night aimlessly dropped bombs in open fields in the western German border region. No damage was caused.

(Beyond an informal indication that R.A.F. bombers attacked communications across the German border during the night, no account of last night's activities has yet been issued by the British air ministry).

"Strong nocturnal retaliatory attacks were concentrated on war-essential objectives in London and Liverpool. In the course of Sept. 27 numerous hectic airfights developed in which 1010 British planes were downed. Thirty-eight of our own planes are missing.

(The British air ministry announced that 133 German aircraft were destroyed over Britain yesterday. British losses were 33 fighter planes).

"Minesweepers attacked a British submarine with depth charges. The vessel's destruction was probable.

"An airplane crew commanded by 1st Lieut. Leonhardi especially distinguished itself during the raid on central England. In a daring dive attack, and despite strong defence, the crew raided an armament plant, dropping bombs into the centre target from the lowest altitude.

Guard Against Stinkweed For Cream Flavor

Stinkweed, when consumed by dairy cows, imports a disagreeable flavor to milk and cream. During the spring months and after harvest, when cows are turned into grain fields, they frequently feed on the young green plants or pick up the seeds around straw stacks, it was stated by the provincial department of agriculture.

The flavor of stinkweed is very powerful; one can of tainted cream will spoil a whole vat of butter of 1,000 pounds.

A discount of 11 cents per pound butterfat below special grade is made for stinkweed flavored cream.

The following suggestions will assist in avoiding losses from cream tainted with stinkweed:

1. Remove cows from stinkweed infested fields at least three hours before milking.
2. Milk every cow into an empty pail, and determine by taste and smell which cows are producing tainted milk. Use the tainted milk for feeding live stock on the farm.
3. Carefully check and test the flavor of cream from each individual separation before adding to the shipping can.

Is Sentenced

Convicted on a charge of indecently assaulting a 17-year-old girl, Joseph M. Servant, Edmonton, was sentenced Friday to serve six months in Fort Saskatchewan jail by Mr. Justice W. C. Ives in supreme court. He was found not guilty on a rape charge.

City Calls Frank Back To Appraise Injured Kangaroo

United Press
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 28—The city council has voted an appropriation of $500 to bring Frank Buck, the "Bring-Em-Back-Alive" animal hunter, here.

The council needs Buck's expert testimony in a $75,000 suit over the death of a kangaroo.

Peter The Great, the kangaroo, died after his tail was pinched in an elevator at the municipal auditorium. His owners, Ted and Pearl Elder, Albert Lea, brought suit against the city.

The council wants to ask Buck how much a kangaroo is worth.

Americans Urge Aid To Britain

British United Press
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—A "flying squadron" of advocates of immediate further aid to Great Britain conferred with President Roosevelt yesterday and described themselves as "enthusiastically encouraged" after the meeting.

Chester Rowell, editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, who acted as spokesman for the group, refused to disclose Mr. Roosevelt's direct reaction to the plea.

"But you may say we are enthusiastically encouraged," he said. "Anything further must come from the president or his secretary."

Safe Wintering Of Bees Needed Apiarist States

There is ample evidence, contrary to popular notions, that bees can be and are being kept over winter successfully, according to W. G. le Maistre, provincial apiarist. Furthermore, those hives that are properly wintered are usually better producers of honey than hives established from packages in the spring.

The most important features of wintering bees are: (a) a large number of young bees—at least enough to cover six frames when they are partly clustered as on a cool day. (b) Fifty pounds of good quality honey or sugar syrup. (c) Protection against sudden changes of temperature. (d) A good queen. (e) Some combs with pollen in them.

Britain Sure To Win Says Egypt

CAIRO, Egypt., Sept. 28. — The newspaper Al Azima said today Egypt has not declared war on Italy, whose troops have driven a 60-mile spearhead into her western desert, because the "overwhelming superiority of the British forces over the invaders leaves no doubt as to the result."

Nazis Would Cut Russia In On Deal

BERLIN, Sept. 28—Dienst Aus Deutschland, Nazi foreign affairs commentary, said today that the three signatories of the axis military pact had "agreed on the area in which the Red Star of Soviet Russia is to be the controlling symbol."

Monday Holiday Mail Delivery To Be Resumed

Present day emergency conditions has caused the post office authorities to renew delivery of mail on statutory holidays falling on a Monday and also to revive the delivery of mail on Christmas Day. Announcement of this change was made by Postmaster General William P. Mulock.

In making the announcement Hon. Mr. Mulock points out that though the need for economy is still great it must be realized that Canadian business is working on overtime schedules, in many cases night and day for seven days a week, and they therefore should not be deprived of a mail service over a long weekend where a holiday falls on Monday.

A four-hour postal wicket service will be resumed on holiday Mondays instead of the two-hour service now in effect.

DEALERS DENY HARSH METHODS IN COLLECTING

WINNIPEG, Sept. 28—Mortgage and implement company representatives appearing before the agriculture committee of the Manitoba legislature Friday denied they were exercising unduly harsh methods in trying to collect accounts.

Relations between them and their farmer debtors were probably more amicable now than at any time in history, they claimed.

H. S. Littleproud, speaking for the Mortgage Loans Association, said the loan companies were trying to do everything reasonable to help out their debtors. Concessions were volunteered which were not called for in mortgage contracts; foreclosures were rare and only taken as a last resort.

Mortgage companies did not feel extension of debt legislation necessary, and the wider this class of legislation became the greater were the restrictions on credit.

MOVERS MUST SEND OTTAWA NEW ADDRESS

OTTAWA, Sept. 8—Oct. 1 is moving day in many parts of Canada but moving may be expensive this year for those who forget to notify the dominion statistician at Ottawa.

The dominion statistician is custodian at the national registration records, and registration regulations provide that any person changing his place of residence must notify the statistician within 14 days or be liable to a fine not exceeding $50.

Movers do not get a new registration certificate, but the alteration is made on the master card at the bureau of statistics.

Persons who marry also must notify the statistician. Either of the parties in the marriage may give notice for both.

The bridegroom will not be issued a new certificate but the bride, who is changing her name, will.

Small Cuba Nazi Party Outlawed

British United Press
Exclusive Cable to Edmonton Bulletin

HAVANA, Cuba, Sept. 28—Governor Adelardo Valdes Astolfi of Havana province has outlawed Cuba's small Nazi party led by Juan Prohias, a violent anti-Semitic.

Prohias petitioned for permission to change his party's name from the Nazi Party of Cuba to the Party of the Fifth Column. Valdes denied the permit, denounced the party as anti-Cuban and ordered it stricken from the political register.

Friday's Losses Costly To Nazis

British United Press
Exclusive Cable to Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Sept. 28. — Reliable sources estimated today that Germany, losing 133 planes in attacks on Britain yesterday, suffered a money loss of about $6,000,000 in addition to about 350 trained aviators. It was said that about two-thirds of the planes shot down were expensive bombers or bomber-fighters.

Attempt To Derail Tram Car At Coast

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28.— Police today investigated an apparent attempt to derail an electric railway train travelling to New Westminster last night by piling ties on the tracks near a suburban station. Only slight damage was caused, however, when the motorman saw the obstruction in time to apply his air brakes.

SOLIDARITY OF TWO AMERICAS NOW SECURED

Senator Pittman Cites Havana Treaty As Answer To Axis

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Senator Key Pittman (Dem., Nevada), citing ratification of the treaty of Havana as new proof of Pan-American solidarity, declared today the western hemisphere nations are prepared to meet "any aggression" which might arise from the German-Italian alliance with Japan.

The Senate ratified the treaty by voice vote yesterday shortly after announcement in Berlin that Japan had lined up formally with the Axis powers in an agreement which pledged the three nations to assist each other in event any of them was attacked by a new enemy in the European or Chinese wars.

MEANING WIDENED

The Havana treaty provides specifically that the 21 American nations will act jointly against the transfer of sovereignty of European possessions in this hemisphere to other European powers. But Pittman, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, declared its significance at this time was much broader.

"It minimizes the effect of the proclaimed solidarity of the eastern hemisphere, as expressed in the tri-power axis treaty," he told reporters. "It furnishes concrete evidence that the countries of the western hemisphere are prepared to meet any aggression with a united front."

AIMED AT U.S.

What aggression might conceivably result from the new axis alliance the Senator did not say, but official Washington generally regarded it as directed chiefly at United States as the only potential new enemy of the Totalitarian states in either the Orient or Europe.

There were no indications, however, that the course of United States foreign policy would be altered in the slightest.

The Havana treaty, designed primarily to meet the possibility that Germany might try to take over French, Netherlands or other European possessions in the western hemisphere, was signed in Havana, Cuba, in July by representatives of all the American nations except Canada.

It provides that they will co-operate in establishing a provisional government over any threatened possession, while one or more of them may act to prevent occupation by a non-American power if the need for expedient action arises.

Farmers Urged Guard Against Hopper Plague

It is essential that farmers residing in grasshopper infested areas of the province accept greater responsibility than usual for protecting their own crops from destruction by grasshoppers, it was stated by the Alberta department of agriculture.

Where grasshoppers were numerous this year, it is reasonable to assume they may be much more abundant next season, unless effective precautions are taken.

In 1941 it is quite probable that, due to enforced economy, poison of grasshoppers may have to be confined to crops produced on summerfallow and properly cultivated stubble land.

Therefore farmers are strongly urged to seed only summerfallowed land in 1941 if you wish to avoid loss.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Sept. 28.—A practice air raid alarm shrieked in St. John last night for ten minutes after midnight.

The alarm came as a surprise and caught the city somewhat unprepared. Only military authorities knew it was coming but air raid precaution organizations went into action promptly and had everything under control within ten minutes.

On Balance

The gratifying fact about the R. A. F. raids on invasion ports and on military objectives in Germany is that with few exceptions the bombers get back to their bases safely. This means that they can and do go back again day after day or night after night and smash more barges and docks and munitions works. The broader meaning is that new bombers coming out of the factories represent in a very high percentage a clear net gain in the total number in service. That the output is now far exceeding the losses is certain and the air strength of Britain and its allies growing steadily as the weeks pass.

On the other side of the account, Germany is losing a heavy proportion of the bombers which are sent to strafe Britain. That these are being built as rapidly as they are being knocked down is doubtful. That they are being built faster is highly improbable. With Germany's raider force static, if not actually getting smaller in number, while more British bombers are in the air each week than the week before, the outcome is evident.

Germany is losing its air superiority of numbers. That is what the calculation comes to.

Eight Days Adrift!

Only the experienced can know what hardships must have been suffered by the two score refugees from the City of Benares as they tossed about for eight days and nights in an open boat on the cold waters of the North Atlantic. But even a landsman can envision the conditions enough to wonder that any of them are alive. That all survived is something approaching a miracle.

A point to remember, and it should be remembered against the day of reckoning, is that the misery these people endured was not thrust upon them by act of a novice at sea, nor by the "fortunes of war". It was the act of a sailor, who know this terrible experience was the best fortune any person on board the ship was likely to meet in the circumstances in which it was torpedoed. And that act could not have been committed by any man who respected the rules of warfare.

Apologist Goebbels has pled that the U-boat commander did not know there were children aboard the vessel. He knew there were sailors aboard. He knew it was altogether probable there were passengers aboard. He knew it was a merchant ship. He knew that by civilized custom and signed convention he was forbidden to torpedo the ship without escorting it to a position from which the crew and passengers could assuredly get to land. His crime was that of a scoundrel, not an ignoramus. He was a typical Nazi.

Japan Formally Joins Up

Germany, Italy and Japan have gone through the ceremony of signing a military and economic alliance, by which they agree to collaborate in setting up "new orders" in Europe and Asia. Meaning in plain terms the subjugation of Europe to Germany and of Asia to Japan.

What the three powers have really done is translate into the terms of a written document the mutual understanding on which they have for years been carrying on policies of aggression in these respective spheres. The treaty is an admission and proclamation of the existing but undocumented partnership.

What difference, if any, this will make in the scope of their operations, the newly acknowledged allies will disclose in due course. That Germany and Italy can do anything to help Japan does not seem likely. The object of the treaty must be assumed to be to bind Japan to continue to help Germany and Italy by threatening war against Britain and the United States.

Japan having come out of the woods, it will now be in order for every democratic country—British, Allied or neutral—to shut off from it the supply of all sorts of materials which may be of military use to Japan or to its allies. If collaboration means anything, it means that Japan will feed Germany and Italy with these war supplies if it can get them. It is bound to do so. In self-interest therefore countries which are fighting Germany and Italy, and all countries which are opposed to policies of aggression can take no other course than that already taken by the United States in respect to scrap iron and steel.

Our Fast Growing Navy

The destroyer strength of Canada's naval forces was almost doubled on Tuesday, when six of the ships recently secured by Britain from the United States were transferred to this Dominion. It is not correct to say this practically doubles our sea forces. For since the war began a good many vessels of other than the destroyer type have been added to the list. The complete number of warships now maintained by Canada and manned by Canadian crews, and in what waters they are serving, are known only to the authorities. What is publicly known is that they are growing in numbers, and now total a "mosquito fleet" of very respectable proportions. All told we have at least a dozen times as many warships as we had a year ago.

Canada, it is obvious, is going to emerge from this war as a naval power, not of course of the first rank, but strong enough at sea to protect its coasts against any power of less than first rank standing.

Judging from the waiting lists at every recruiting station, even in the inland provinces, there will be no trouble finding men to man our ships, however many these may be. Young Canadians seem to take to the naval service as ducks to water. As to the kind of sailors they make—recall the incident of the Fraser and the Restigouche.

By the capture of a large German supply ship, loaded with war material, the Prince Robert has added another item to the list of achievements standing to the credit of our young but active and fast growing navy. Nazi airmen may have fewer bombs to drop on London because this cargo was intercepted and another enemy carrier has been rounded up.

From The News

By HAROLD L. WEIR

It would be wise to reserve judgment on what some hysterical journalistic scolds are pleased to call the "Dakar fiasco."

The first attempt to offset Axis influence in West Africa may have had little military significance. But it certainly has had strategic significance in that it has warned the Germans that their projected winter holiday on the Dark Continent has been foreseen and that the British are ready for any cold-month program involving that area.

Moreover, the operation will have the effect of clarifying the relations between Vichy Frenchmen and Free Frenchmen, whose undefined attitude towards each other since the Fall of France has been anything but wholesome. If the new order of things calls for battle between them—well, July 14, 1789, affords a grim and unforgettable precedent.

The extreme solicitude of Great Britain for the lives of the Vichy soldiers in Dakar is a bit trying. If open hostilities are to develop between the two factions, we will have to choose our side quickly.

It is nothing new for England to take sides in French internal disputes.

Edward IV openly favored Burgundy against Paris; Elizabeth openly favored Valois against Lorraine; George III openly favored Royalists against Republicans.

If reactionary France is going to be our enemy the fact will have to be accepted, however reluctantly. It will be nothing new.

Spain has been bleating in a high-minded way about her right to offer "spiritual leadership" in South America. Obviously she is working up a good totalitarian lather preparatory to climbing into the conquistadorial bed with Germany and Italy.

It is interesting to note that transplanted Spaniards in Panama, Uruquay and elsewhere have already protested against this alleged "spiritual leadership."

It is too plainly carnal. It is far easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for a murderer, a robber and a rapist to wear a self-made halo with dignity and conviction.

Herr Hitler is said to be fuming and raging in his favorite raid shelter because the Nazi air blows have done so little spiritual damage to the British.

His disappointment is peculiarly poignant because the turbulent and troubled Fuehrer contrasts the indomitable courage of Londoners with the frenzied panic of his countrymen in Berlin.

It is no secret that, in spite of his voluble hatred of Britain (doubtless based on envy), Hitler has a great admiration for the British Empire and had planned something very like it for the German state.

He thought he had all the ingredients for this piece of political cookery. What gripes him more than anything else in the futility of his vicious raids is the realization that the most essential ingredient is still lacking from the imperial recipe.

He has discovered that one can't build empires without people who are made of imperial stuff.

The more he learns about the stamina of the British people, the less confident does he become about the destiny of the German people. You can't create British Empires without British "guts."

You can't make silk purses out of sows' ears nor brick buildings out of sawdust.

That's why the shoddy little Caesar rants and raves and grows more ferociously desperate every day.

* * *

For a nation that proposes nothing less for itself than eventual domination of the world, Japan is singularly naive.

She thumbs her nose at the United States just now because the latter nation is in the travail of giving birth to a new president and would find it embarrassing to go to war just at the moment.

She forgets that the Americans are the fastest acting people in the world, once they get started, and that they would be quite able and willing to vote in the morning and swallow Japan in the afternoon.

Our little brown brothers are playing with bestriped and star-spangled fire.

Watch Russia in the new situation created by the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo accord. She says the treaty places her in a "very grave and dangerous position."

If the Soviets still cherish any hope of world dominion—which is likely—Stalin may have something startling to say or do.

It is not part of Russian strategy to permit either side in this struggle to grow too strong. That might render too difficult her rather obvious intention of gobbling up the exhausted victor.

Heaven forgid that this reporter should enter upon any theological or ethical discussion quite beyond his spiritual scope.

But something should be said in answer to the pious expressions of sorrow that have followed the creation of a conscript army in the United States and the plea of the American Legion that such a conscript army be made permanent.

There is, we suppose, the same guilty feeling about bearing arms in a peace-loving country as there is about taking a drink after a period of prohibition has rubbed our consciences overly tender.

But the Americans might just as well decide to abolish their police forces as to disband their fighting force for the next century, or even two.

It was twenty years of fatuous worship at the altar of a non-existent peace that got the world into the present mess.

There is no peace.

There never will be peace until the evil in men's natures is dissolved.

Even the churches regard themselves as militant bodies in constant warfare against evil. Peace and perfection, they teach, are only attainable in the Kingdom of Heaven.

And the Kingdom of Heaven, in this world or the next, is not yet throwing even the shadow of its battlements over this sad and sorry earth.

THE EXAMPLE OF ENGLAND

II

It is clear by now that as the war goes on the issues in it change. This is true of Great Britain. It is also true for Germany.

This column believes that the most important things in this world happen in men's minds, and that what happens in men's minds will, in the long run, determine the outcome on the field of battle.

The greatest weakness of the Allied cause at the outbreak of war was that it was fought for the maintenance of a status quo which progressive minds in all countries had already rejected as untenable. The greatest weakness of the German campaign was, and is, that the Nazis fight for a new order which is oppressive and preposterous.

The greatest need of this campaign is for greater clarity regarding its objectives.

The greatest cause for hope is that objectives are emerging not according to blueprints and ideologies but out of the realities which the war reveals.

* * *

Europe, and the world, at the beginning of this war, were in a condition of political and economic anarchy. Europe was a congeries of small sovereign states separated from one another by rigid political and economic walls. The emergence of Fascism separated them farther into ideologies.

After the last war the United States had carried the process of political and economic secession still farther by a policy of political isolationism, more rigid restriction of immigration and the setting up of the highest tariff in our history.

The League of Nations soon demonstrated that a political confederation which left intact the complete national sovereignty of every state was as certain to fall as was the confederation of the thirteen American colonies previous to the establishment of real federation under the Constitution. Before the European war began, and in the first crucial tests—Manchukuo and Ethiopia—the League, already bereft of some of its members, had broken down.

* * *

In 1929 this already weak and tottering structure was shaken by a world-wide financial collapse, followed by a profound economic depression which let loose revolutionary forces in all countries.

For this collapse occurred in a world in which science and technology had released unprecedented productive capacity, knowledge of which had percolated down to the last sweating worker or dole collector in every Western land. A substandard of living, varying in size and extremity

By FRED WILLIAMS

Sir Evelyn Wrench the other day lamented that Kipling was not alive to use his magic power of verse and prose to describe the terror and the heroism of the England of today. This brought to mind one of the Empire Laureate's best tributes to Canadians, one which is little known to the present generation. Kipling had himself told the story of the wiping out of the Guards at the first battle of Cambrai in 1917. Then, at the end of September, 1918, 22 years ago, the Irish Guards were avenged by Canadians.

When after the second battle an officer wrote his account of it, Mr. Kipling told him that it was one of the finest bits of military history he had ever read—"I could not have done better myself" wrote Kipling. And here is the story of the Canadian whom Kipling accepted as an equal:

"Bourlon Wood was the last oaken forest in all northern France. It was, too, the last trysting place of the fairies in these parts, but they had been driven away by the odor of stale blood and poison gas. The odor of blood is the worst and not to be endured by clean sprites. The ground had been moistened from the veins of all the British and German tribes. Here a battalion of Irish Guards was destroyed, sent to an impossible task. And to this day the wail of the banshee can be heard in the wood, keening for the souls of the ill-used Irish.

"To us was given the task of redeeming this place of death. Up the long glacis from the Canal du Nord we stormed. Machine-guns chattered; field guns thundered far away to the east, and their shells hammered and tore the soil and sent many of our men to their last parade. But we were not to be denied. No leash nor chain of steel could have held the battalion and in a brief space Bourlon Wood was ours to have and to hold. Then for those of us whose ears were attuned thereto (not every mortal can hear the weird sound), the wail of the banshee took on a new note, partly of triumph, for had we not avenged the Irish Guards and 'paid their debt to the sullen forest'?"

The credit for this splendid victory belongs to the 11th Canadian Infantry Brigade, composed of the 87th, the 102nd, the 64th and the 75th, of which Lieut. Robert Dakes, R.E., who recently won fame by his dealing with German bombs in London, was then a member.

Religion Day By Day

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

THEY STILL CARRY ON

For as many years as I can remember the Presbyterian Sunday School Superintendents' Association has been a factor in Philadelphia's life. Recently I asked a member, a business man, about its present condition.

His face lighted up as he replied, "It is the one organization that I have known which keeps up to a high level of efficiency. Our problem is how to hold the membership down, for the average church has dinner accommodations for only about two hundred men."

Naturally, a body that is made up of men bent on Bible teaching and Christian service, has in itself the fuel for ever-burning fires. Life does not get stale for servants busy about the King's business. Active Christian work brings rewards that money cannot buy.

We thank Thee, our Father, for the satisfactions and rewards and fellowships that are to be found in Thy service. They save age from weariness and life from disillusion. Amen.

All's Well With England

Editor, Bulletin: After spending many years in Edmonton, I returned to England just over three years ago. I hope one day soon to return to Edmonton as I want to make my permanent home there, but in the meantime I am not sorry to be in England. I am trying to help, in a small way, to defeat our enemy.

Just to dispel any false statement, England is only beginning to fight and every air raid on this country finds us more determined to win quickly.

We are not and have not been short of food. True, we are rationed but from my own personal experience, and I have a family of five children some of whom were born in Edmonton, neither they nor my wife and I have known any difference since rationing started. We have plenty and do not draw our full rations as they are not necessary.

I have not yet met any soldiers from Edmonton but should I, they would certainly be welcome to a visit to my house here.

You have probably been told all you should know about our wonderful defences. Incidentally I am a member of the Home Guard and enjoy the experience. Of course I am not allowed to tell you about air raids but the only effect they have had upon us is to deprive us of a few hours sleep for two nights. Doubtless we are luckier than some but there is no doubt that the attempt of the German raiders to find their objectives is a very poor one judging by results.

Should you publish this my friends in Edmonton may recognize the writer and if they do may I wish them well and assure them that all is well with us.

McCoy Health Service

"Would you please help me with the problem of mucous colitis? I am a young woman of 24 and have a job as switchboard operator. When the colitis is at its worst, have several watery movements a day and pass a great deal of mucus. The colon becomes so sore and tender in that lower left side that I can hardly bear to press on it with my hand.

"In between times I am very constipated, in fact I have to take something almost daily. Have a great deal of trouble getting food to agree with me and am a very finicky eater, although on my vacation this year I found I could eat the same as anybody else, without suffering afterward. I feel like I am on a teeter-totter, as some days I am better and then some days worse—all of which leads to a hopeless feeling.

"When the colon is sore, I am very nervous and weak. The weakness is so pronounced that my legs feel wobbly under me. When my nerves are bad I feel like I could jump out of my skin. Being tired or upset over something makes the whole business get worse."

The above letter has been quoted in its entirety because it gives such a good picture of a case of mucous colitis.

The typical patient with mucous colitis is intelligent, is a young adult, is probably somewhat over-emotional, and has a nervous system which is easily stampeded into an irritable or excitable state. The flare-up of the symptoms, as marked by soreness or tenderness of the colon, digestive turmoil, increase in nervous symptoms and diarrhea, attended by over-secretion of mucus, is most apt to follow stress or strain, and particularly emotional stress or strain.

Physical depletion from overwork and lack of recreation on the part of the brain worker, economic insecurity through some member of the family losing a job, the building up of a feeling of failure, romantic disappointments, continued family friction, uncongenial work, or an unhappy situation arising from not getting along well with business associates — any of these may start the break which shows itself as mucous colitis.

Once the cycle is on its way, even slight happenings which create tension in the feeling part of the patient's being, may backfire into a period of colitis, and the patient may then be in great physical and emotional trouble. His colon is acting up, his nerves are on the warpath, his stomach goes back on him, and it is to be expected that he would feel unsafe and insecure.

Many patients with colitis are very worthwhile human material and with wise treatment may prove of greater than average usefulness.

The article on "Mucous Colitis" has been changed so as to include some diet suggestions. Readers are welcome to send for it by writing to The McCoy Health Service. Enclose 3c in stamps and a large, self-addressed envelope.

The Two Edmontons

There's an Edmonton in England
  Of very ancient fame,
And there's Edmonton, Alberta,
  To which she gave her name.

And o'er Edmonton, Alberta,
The skies are clear and warm,
And men pursue their daily toil,
Free from all fear of harm.
And children's care-free laughter
Re-echoes through the town,
While safe and snug they're tucked to rest
As twilight settles down.

But o'er Edmonton, in England
The Huns' foul war-birds soar,
As they rain down death and havoc
With bombs' explosive roar.
So destruction flies at noon-day
While terror rides by night,
And children maimed and broken
Add horror to the sight.

O, in Edmonton in England
Are hearts both stout and brave,
Yet to Edmonton, Alberta,
A cry comes o'er the wave.
"O brothers, we can stand the gaff,
And count no price too high,
But we need another Spitfire
To guard our English sky."

On guard! Edmonton, Alberta,
Yours the fight, though far away,
For the battle-cry is "Freedom,"
And it will not brook delay.
Haste and send a speedy Spitfire,
With her blazing, deadly guns,
To guard Edmonton in England
From the murdering, raging Huns.

Still old England stands defiant
By Nazi frightfulness unawed,
Waging grim and desperate battle,
"Head all bloody, but unbowed."
Ah, those glorious, dauntless airmen,
How their praise to heaven rings!
Yet the cry comes o'er the ocean,
"We've the men, just give them wings."

Haste! the need is great and urgent,
Give! nor let your gift be slack;
Let old Edmonton in England
Know that we are at her back.
Haste! nor let our giving falter,
Send, if need be, two or three,
For if England should be vanquished
Who in all the world is free?

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE

Teachers, Board Of Shilo School Resign Positions

At the last meeting of the Rocky Mountain school division No. 153, resignations were accepted from five teachers and the entire school board for Shilo school. The teachers have been replaced and a new school board will be elected for Shilo at a meeting of rate payers to be called next month.

Calkins Valley and Northup schools are in bad state of repair and if the board can sell $10,000.00 worth of debentures, new schools will be built.

The first baby show ever held here was sponsored by the W.A. of the Anglican church, with 27 babies entered. Prize baby of them all was Lawrence Murgatroyd, 11 months. Other prizes went to Mary Pringle, Robert Wilson, Melvin Tessmer, Bonnie Bradshaw, Annettea Lightbown, Lawrence Murgatroyd, June Fay, Lawrence Stocks, Karol Lewis, Phyliss May Smith, Lorraine Ross.

LOUGHEED

Officers were elected for the new term at the annual meeting of the Lougheed-Sedgewick sub-local of the Alberta Teachers' association. The officers are D. Walmsley, president; C. Blakeney, first vice-president; Mr. Tennis, second vice-president; Miss Y. Phipps, secretary-treasurer; Miss L. Reed, press correspondent. Meetings will be held on the last Saturday of each month.

Reading tests were distributed among the teachers for pupil testing and the group is planning extensive work on a remedial course.

INNISFAIL

Fifty years in one locality is a long time but that is the record of one of Innisfall's highly respected citizens, Mr. Dodd, who landed in this centre Sept. 22, 1890. Mr. Dodd has been the postmaster here since 1907.

The Lord Mayor of London is a long distance away, but at a recent meeting of the local I.O.D.E. the sum of $55.00 was sanctioned to be sent to him towards the London air raid victims relief fund.

VERMILION

The local chapter of the I.O.D.E. has ordered $50 worth of new books for their circulating library.

The funeral of B. J. Risdale took place from St. Saviour's church this afternoon. Mr. Risdale had been in the employ of the C.N.R. for over 20 years.

STETTLER

Stettler Branch Red Cross Names List Of Officers

Annual meeting of the Stettler Red Cross was held Thursday.

There was an election and all the former officers were returned. They were: Dr. Wright, president; Rev. Mensch, vice-president; Miss L. Borglund, secretary; Mrs. W. Kloysfer, treasurer.

New committees were chosen. Finance committee: Messrs. Dunlop, Morrison, Adams, O'Brien and Costigan. Soldiers Service Committee: Mrs. McQuarrie, Messrs. Wotherspoon, Feir and Brennen. Enrolment committee: Rev. Chapman, Mrs. Connolly and Mrs. Gatty.

This district has contributed the following list of goods: 229 socks, 217 sweaters, 12 dressing gowns, 4 property bags, 69 pillow cases, 24 pairs of pyjamas, 44 sheets, 156 towels, 24 pneumonia jackets, 46 mitts, 6 gloves, 26 wristlets, 5 helmets, 14 wash cloths.

CORONATION

A meeting of the local branch of the Red Cross was held Friday evening in the Royal Crown hotel.

Mrs. Staples, Mrs. Mayhew and Mr. Butterfield gave their committee reports.

The campaign committee is to decide what supplies, etc., will be required, the list to be handed to the secretary.

Threshing is now in full swing after the weekend layoff which lasted in many cases over Monday as the showers on Sunday dampened the grain. Cutting is finished except a few isolated cases.

LEDUC

The interior of John Killik's tailor shop was badly damaged by fire on Thursday morning, about 4 o'clock.

Under the leadership of the Rev. Mr. Goddard, a Trail Ranger group was organized at St. David's church on Tuesday evening. The following officers were elected: chief ranger, Billy Boyarchuk; vice-chief ranger, Robert Parry; tally, Gordon Ennis, cash, Ivan McLeod.

PONOKA

At a recently held meeting of the local Red Cross Society plans were laid for activities for the winter months. It was decided to hold a series of teas, the first to be held October 5. Since the opening of the Ponoka branch 7,516 articles have been turned in to headquarters.

SYLVAN LAKE

The Presbyterian church at Benalto is making plans to erect a new church building. After a suitable site has been secured, building operations will proceed.

Opening—♣ 10. 28

West opened the ten of clubs against the six-club contract. What was the significance of this opening? First, West would be unlikely to make such an opening if he had three trumps—he would hope that in some way his ten of clubs might be established. Neither would he lead the ten, holding the jack, ten and a small club as he might thus give up his only chance to win a club trick.

With this in mind, declarer proceeded to play the hand by winning the first trick in dummy with the ace of clubs, cashing the ace of diamonds, and then leading the queen of hearts. West refused to cover.

South next played a small heart and ruffed in dummy with the four of clubs, then cashed the ace and king of spades, discarding hearts. A spade was ruffed and another low heart played. East ruffed this, but whatever return he made could be ruffed by declarer with the nine of clubs, both outstanding trumps picked up with the queen, and the last trick won with the jack of hearts.

Jap Cabinet

TOKYO, Sept. 28.—Three ministers were added Friday to the Japanese cabinet by Premier Fumimaro Konoye. Those named were Kiyoshi Akita, oversea affairs; Yasuo Kanemitsu, welfare; and Gotaro Ogawa, railways.

A Near-Tragedy Of The Sea

A near-tragedy of the deep, photographed from the deck of the SS. President Roosevelt about 300 miles off Cape Hatteras. The picture shows the 4,609-ton Swedish freighter Laponia struggling to keep afloat in the centre of a tropical hurricane. The Laponia was en route from Rio de Janeiro to New York when the storm caught her, disabling her steering gear. The vessel later rode out the storm and both ships proceeded to their destinations.

ON THE RECORD

in various countries, prevailed everywhere for a certain fraction of the population.

Not this fact alone, but the conviction that it was unnecessary, was the basis of the popular revolt. Among all except those who had not personally suffered and were deficient in imagination a mental revolt occurred against "the system"—or rather, against the lack of any system.

• • •

The revolt occurred earlier or later most virulently in those countries that had suffered most from the war and its aftermath—in Italy and Germany, both of which had had a taste of Bolshevism and a strong dose of inflation.

A revolutionary condition was therefore everywhere latent. In the United States it was diverted by the New Deal. In France it found no clear expression but revealed itself through embittered and impotent political controversy.

In England, under a decade of Tory government, it was kept in more or less sullen check by progressively increasing social services which did not get at the root of any problem, which were a drain on the existing economy and which made the burden of armaments for defense a threat to the whole economy as it was organized.

When Germany broke out into National Socialism the greatest and most widespread error, sedulously cultivated by the Nazis themselves, was to regard it wholly as a counter-revolutionary movement.

It was this misconception that led to a serious underrating of its power which lay in the fact that it was riding a revolutionary wave.

Hitler himself was carried by this wave. There is nothing in "Mein Kampf," in the field of economics and sociology, that would not be acceptable to an American Republican. To be sure, the famous fourteen points of the National Socialist program formulated a revolt against the banks and against the concentration of industry; they have some resemblance to American populism. They were addressed primarily to a disgruntled and impoverished lower middle class. They were never realized.

The Hitler movement started as a Pan-German revival, and as such it received its first support from the Reichswehr, which throughout the republic, was secretly arming and, through hidden funds, secretly subsidizing "patriotic" societies.

But, once in power, National Socialism found itself riding the revolutionary wave. Like all tyrants, who were ably advised centuries ago by Machiavelli, Hitler found that he must base his power on the masses, and he did so by the accepted formula of terror in one hand and a gift in the other.

Rapidly the two most powerful elements in the Nazi setup became the Gestapo (which, among other things, has established a sort of block-by-block Gallup poll as a current and continual check on public sentiment) and the Labor Front, which became progressively radical.

• • •

Subtly, then, and bit by bit, the Nazi military program, in the propaganda attending it, threw off the Pan-German emphasis and presented itself as the 'Liberator" of Europe and the harbinger of Socialism and political unity.

The campaign against Communism became, in the twinkling of an eye after the signing of the Russo-German pact, a campaign against the "pluto" democracies, and in this campaign the Nazis were not in the least averse to taking over the frustrated hopes of "crackpot" liberals and presenting themselves as the would-be creators of a United States of Europe.

Now, of course, there is a profound and insoluble paradox in the Nazi opportunism.

You cannot base a United States of Europe on tyranny and on the doctrine of racial superiority. One or the other has to go into the ashcan. You cannot convince the Poles, the Czechs, the Norwegians or the Dutch that they have been "liberated."

But now a new tactic asserts itself. It is whispered around that "Hitler is not immortal. His regime is not immortal. He will bring about the unity of Europe and the unity of the whole world. Then, with the end of world anarchy, a new age of freedom and democracy will dawn."

• • •

What will dawn will be the greatest system of monopolistic state capitalism that the human mind can conceive, with all Europe organized like a gigantic Ford factory, and by sheer monopolistic economic power putting the screws on everybody, including us.

But the whispering campaign goes on among the masses in all countries, and it is effective. Nothing the Nazis could do would be more effective.

The greatest allies of that campaign are and have been the status quo supporters—those, unfortunately, in positions of influence and power in all countries—who cannot conceive any better political organization of the world than that of circa 1919, nor of any better economic organization of the world than that of circa 1929. These oppose the Nazi fake revolution, which, nevertheless, has shrewdly exploited the latent discontent, by a counter-revolution which the intelligence of the world rejects.

Deficient in imagination, desperately hanging on to what they have, nostalgically yearning for a status quo which has been exploding for ten years all over the place, these, whether they are American isolationists, or British elder statesmen, or French "safety-first" retreaters, creep into air shelters which they have built in their minds, and hope, with not a shred of reason, that they will somehow keep the best of all possible worlds.

These have been the capitalists in all countries who could not see that capitalism based on free enterprise is a world-wide system, incompatible in the long run with international political anarchy and economic nationalism.

These have been the politicians who have half-heartedly armed nations to fight for yesterday instead of tomorrow.

This is the mentality which loses wars by losing its grip on all the vital forces that believe in the future, not in the past.

That mentality wrecked France and almost destroyed Britain Now, in Britain, a great change is taking place. It is that change which may make it possible to draw victory out of defeat.

Air Quality Will Prove A Decisive Phase In War

SYDNEY, Sept. 28.—Arrival of the first Australian air trainees in Canada is widely heralded in the commonwealth's press, which is also giving considerable prominence to the visit to Britain of Canada's air marshal W. A. Bishop, V.C.

The Sydney Morning Herald said that quality counts in the air as much as on land and sea, and the flow from the Dominions of 10,000 airmen yearly to Britain's aid must prove one of the decisive elements in the war.

Hospitals Meet

CALGARY, Sept. 28—The Alberta Hospitals Association will meet in Calgary, October 21 and 22 when representatives from hospital boards throughout the province will be in attendance.

A.Y.P.A. NEWS

At a recent meeting of the Edmonton diocesan council of the A.Y.P.A. the following officers were elected: President, Norman Pickard; vice-president, George Alexander; secretary, Kay Croft; treasurer, Jack Kimber; chaplain, Rev. A. M. Trendall; patron, Rt. Rev. A. E. Burgett, D.D.; patron, Hon. Justice Ford; honorary president, Judge A. U. G. Bury.

Under the able leadership of Norman Pickard, this council will without a doubt function in perfect coordination with the various branches of the association.

All Saints'—A most enjoyable social was held in the parish hall on Monday evening.

St. Mary's—A roaring campfire was the setting for the meeting held by St. Mary's on Wednesday evening.

St. Faith's—St. Faith's A.Y.P.A. held a weiner roast on Monday evening, which involved the "Fellowship" of our program to the highest degree.

Holy Trinity — An interesting "Edification" evening was held Wednesday.

CENTRAL

First meeting of the season of this Y.P.S. was held last Sunday evening when old and prospective members gathered to discuss the formation of the group for the current year. Lloyd Brown acted as chairman of the meeting, which was addressed by Gordon McClary, and Dorothy Banks, both old members, who explained the Y.P.S. organization to the "prospectives." Harold Campbell led a sing-song, and refreshments were served by a committee in charge of Ina Huston. A nominating committee will report at a future meeting of the group.

BASHAW

The A.Y.P.A. held a farewell party in honor of John McCutcheon and Harold Cummings who left to study medicine and pharmacy at the University of Alberta this week, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Cummings.

The evening was spent in playing "military whist" which everyone enjoyed.

Later Ben Holt presented Harold Cummings with a camera and John McCutcheon with a pen and pencil set on behalf of the A.Y.P.A. and their many friends.

McDOUGALL

The Y.P.S. of McDougall United church commenced their fall and winter activities recently. On Sunday evening at the "Fireside Hour" they had as their guests, the students of Alberta College. Dr. F. S. McCall, principal of the college, gave an interesting talk on "Missions and Missionary Work." Mr. Doug Johnston was the soloist during the evening.

Plans are being made for the annual presentation of an operetta, to be held during December.

FOX DISCOVERS AUTOMOBILE TIRE IS NOT SECURE

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

FAUST, Sept. 28.—Strangely adverse to leaving the busy Peace River highway and frightened half out of his wits by pursuing autos and dogs, a fox that had escaped from one of the fur farms here performed a circus fete of jumping through a ring last Sunday and seemed bewildered for a moment to find that it served him no purpose in way of protection.

While George and Bruce Moore with other children were on their way to Aspen Glen auto camp after Sunday school, George in boyish play rolled an old auto tire ahead of him as they went along. Suddenly a fox popped in sight and with gleeful interest the children watched it. The fox was not afraid of people, but terrified at things to which he was not accustomed.

Desperately he raced ahead of an auto, while onlookers roared with laughter, and then retraced his steps with dogs in hot pursuit. Feeling the need of shelter by the time he reached the boy with the tire, he jumped through the rolling thing. But though he had jumped into something, as he seemed to think, he found himself still in peril and his dilemma unchanged.

The highway had proven unsafe, and the auto tire ineffective; and into the bush he dashed and was out of sight.

NEWSY NATURE NOTES

By STUART L. THOMPSON

Nature's Place of Rendezvous The Marsh

Few features on our landscape change so much from season to season as the marsh. We all know it in dead of winter, locked in ice and deep in snow with the brown dead reeds bent over and covered with snow roofs. It would appear as though there was not a living creature in all the area. Yet skulking here and there, amid this protection, there are perhaps scores of mice of several different species. Here and there we find signs of a cotton-tail rabbit or a jack rabbit. The foraging pheasant wanders about amid the herbage. And one never knows, but that a belated song sparrow or even some venturesome swamp sparrow is roughing out the winter with us here.

Then comes the spring. The ice gives way to open water. The early ducks pause on these ponds on their way northward, finding food of small aquatic life which is already astir in the muddy water. Later the coot and the gallinule wander about among the growing reeds, which are pushing their green shoots upward amid the mats of winter's refuse. The kingfisher hovers over the open water ever ready to drop upon the first glint of a silvery scale below.

THE PAST

Week after week goes by. The brown herbage becomes lost amid the ever-growing green. The reeds sway about in the breeze now. The marsh calla, the pink persicaria, and the white and yellow pond lilies are all in full bloom. And a host of the marshes feathered inhabitants are now at home here nesting. The well-known redwinger black bird, whose very presence speaks of reeds and water, the energetic little marsh wren, sways and chatters on the cat-tail stalk. The swamp sparrow is trilling. And who can tell what shy secretive birds as the virgin rail, the sora, the sharp-tailed sparrow, the least bittern the glum American bittern are lurking amid the tangles and watching the intruder unseen?

Below the water there is another world astir. Diving beetles, water boatmen, back-swimmers, water-striders and whirligig beetles flash into sight momentarily. And the ugly dragon fly nymph crawl and wriggle about the bottom.

But in the autumn this world of water and weeds becomes literally teeming with life. Not only has the marsh all its summer residents still lingering in its depths awaiting the time to be off and the aquatic life the signal for hibernating, but hosts of migrating birds arrive from all parts of the country to congregate here. This is their last stopping place before the great journey to another clime. The grackles and cowbirds from the fields, the starlings from their stubble foraging, the rusty blackbirds from the northern swamps, many species of sparrows, and perhaps most noticeable of all, the myriads of swallows from the thousands of square miles of summery air where these light-winged birds lived and fed and sported. From all over the country throughout the summer days now past, they are now gathered here. In dense flocks they wheel and circle and turn about above the reeds through the evening air, as long as the autumn daylight lasts. Then slowly they settle down to roost with the other feathered hosts which share Nature's great rendezvous, the marsh.

Another Convert

"H-m--m-m . . . so this is what they go after with those worms," might be what this young fellow is musing as he gazes at his first catch. Little Albert, as his name turned out to be, had sneaked off, properly, if slightly over-dressed for the occasion, and results were forthcoming as can be seen.

Meetings Start At Bissell For Recreation Club

The Bissell Recreation Club has started its regular Saturday evening meetings, which are held in Bissell Memorial Institute. A full and interesting program has been planned for the coming year.

On September 21, a new constitution came into effect. The executive recently elected is: president, Jim Kidney; vice-president, Dorothy Chandler; secretary, Evelyne Woollard; and treasurer, Earl Taylor.

The members of the club deeply regret the departure of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Boyes, former mentors of the organization, who recently moved to Vancouver. Activities are now underway with Miss M. George as the new mentor.

A press committee, consisting of Winnifred Douglas and Philip Myers, has been appointed.

All members are urged to attend the regular meetings again. Several new members are to be accepted.

United Church Young People To Hold Rally

Plans for the fall rally of the United Church Young People will be made at a dinner executive meeting to be held on Monday, September 30, at 6 p.m. at the Y.W.C.A. Local unions are asked to see that they are represented.

Practically all United church societies have held their initial fall meetings. Included in these is the Central United Church "Graphic" group which has reorganized this fall after a period of inactivity. At their opening meeting Miss Dorothy Banks and Gordon McClary outlined the type of program which might be followed throughout the year.

Edmonton High School Students Are Bulletin Correspondents

VICTORIA

By Ken Torrance

Vic is in for a great year if the same school spirit that was shown at the annual track and field meet prevails throughout this school term. Yes! Monday afternoon saw one of the best meets ever held at Vic run off with great numbers of students participating.

The official publication at Vic, "The Argosy," will again supply the student body of doings at "Ye Olde Alma Mater." At a recent meeting, Gordon Brown was elected editor; Jack Suttle, assistant editor; Art Hiller, business manager; Jim Gee, circulation manager, and Ken Torrance, advertising manager. Miss L. E. Maguire, staff advisor, was in charge of both the meeting and the elections.

Students' union elections will be held this week, with the nomination and election of "room reps" taking place on Wednesday and Friday respectively. The boys' bowling club under President Jim Gee, held its first meeting Saturday at the "Recreation" with a good turnout reported. The school orchestra, under the baton of W. Baker, held its first practice on Thursday, and with the talent shown the school should have a fine group of musicians to play at different events.

SOUTH SIDE COMPOSITE

By Kay Bonham

Nominations for the coming election were due in at the office on Friday night. The election campaign will be well under way on Wednesday next, when the nominees will transfer from one school to the other, making bold promises as all "politicians" must. Ballots will be issued on Thursday morning, to be marked as the individual desires.

With the hopeful expectation of obtaining another victorious year on the gridiron, Scona has called meetings of all those young students who want to uphold the "Maroon, Green and Gold." Seniors and juniors have been organized and practises have started. This is merely a vague warning to every other rugby team to beware! Scona is on the run!

TECHNICAL

By Alex Sollanych

On Tuesday last, all the students gathered together to elect a president, vice-president and secretary to the students' union. After Principal M. J. Hilton gave a welcoming talk, the candidates delivered their "vote for me" speeches.

Alex Sollanych was elected president by acclamation; Jim Leitch was elected vice-president, and Margaret Clark was elected secretary.

The Tech "pen and pencil" raffle was also held on Tuesday, the proceeds are to be given to some organization to help "win the war."

The various school clubs are being organized, the student fees are coming and most activities are getting well under way. Although the Tech sports day has not yet been held, several students plan to enter in the provincial meet on Saturday.

WESTMOUNT

By Marcea Gillespie

Once upon a time, not very long ago, it was the unforgiveable belief that a book-collector must be a queer little pin-headed man wearing a celluloid collar three sizes too big for him, and squeaky shoes, with an apologetic cough and printer's ink in his veins.

Today a person's education cannot be complete without the use and knowledge of a great number of books, and so it is the aim of the teachers and students at Westglen high school to build up a complete and popular library. All English and social studies students are contributing to the fund for buying books to stock our new library.

Several Westglen students distinguished themselves last week in the gymkhana sponsored by the Edmonton Saddle club. These students included Pat Grey, who came high in the jumping; Nan Short and Jack Cook.

At the provincial track meet to be held Saturday at Clarke Stadium, students participating in this meet will be Margaret Scott, Wylo Swingle, Norma Howard, Helen Smeltzer, Gwen Swingle, Pat McCrae, Cristina Swan, Phyllis Sutton, Lovette McLean, Francis Fraser, Phyllis McAllister.

EASTWOOD

By Jean McBride

A wild shower of blue and gold and of red, white and blue ribbons greeted Eastwood students as they returned to school Thursday noon and were seized and pinned to a few gay pieces of ribbon. Most people, to be perfectly impartial, wore both sets of colors.

Yes, the elections are upon us again, and the contest between the "Co-ops" and the "Eastocrats" promises to be a close one, both sides offering many "tried and trues."

On Friday the school listened cheerfully (we were missing a period) to "and if elected" or its equivalent ring through the gym. We are given the week-end to consider the merits of the respective candidates, and the election will be held Monday (another period to be missed!).

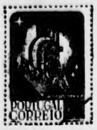
Junior C.G.I.T. Now At Rimbey

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

RIMBEY, Sept. 28—A junior Canadian Girls In Training group, composed of 'teen-age and younger girls, this week was organized in connection with the United church at Rimbey, with Mrs. Wm. Huston, wife of the pastor, and Mrs. Phillip Christophers as leaders. At the first meeting the nine girls joining elected Helen Huston president; Lena Pickering, vice-president; Bertha Picketts, secretary, and Shirley MacDonald, treasurer. The girls are to meet weekly, on Monday evenings. They plan to decide upon a group name, motto and hymn at the next meeting.

Although it has not yet started playing, the badminton club has chosen its executive as follows: President, Dick Reeves; secretary-treasurer, Caroline King; committee to plan schedule, Marcia Dunsworth, Archie Waddell, Barbara Packford, Gordon Ockenden.

Stories In Stamps



Portugal's Golden Age, the Era of Discoveries, is recalled by the stamp above, second pair of a series of eight commemorating the 800th anniversary of the founding of the nation. The Discoverers' stamp depicts the martime heroes climbing to the stars before a modernized prow of an early caravel.

Portugal attained maritime greatness during the period from 1415 to 1540. Wise rulers, particularly Prince Henry the Navigator, aided and encouraged exploration.

While Columbus and Cabot sought a westward route to India, Vasco da Gama sailed around Africa, reached India and returned with cargo that sold for 60 times the cost of the voyage. Other explorers touched Cape Verde, Tangier, Senegal, the Azores, Guinea and Congo, developed the nation's colonial possessions. At one time, Lisbon was the world's greatest centre.

Portugal lacked factories, and England and the Netherlands were able to cut off the nation's supply of export goods. This, and 60 years of Spanish rule, produced Portugal's decline as a maritime power.

James A. Farley leaves the office of postmaster-general with a record of 163 postage and commemorative stamp issues during his 7½ year term. The first stamp issued under Farley was the Proclamation of Peace commemorative, marking the 150th anniversary of the issuance of Washington's order ending the Revolutionary War.

Notable among Farley's contributions to philately are the National Parks set, the Army and Navy commemoratives, Presidential and Famous Americans series.

Sales of the Philatelic Agency at Washington, D.C., have totaled more than $11,000,000 during Farley's term. It is estimated that more than 22,000,000,000 stamps have been printed.

Girls' Council New Executive To Start Term

The first meeting of the Edmonton C.G.I.T. girls council will be held Saturday, October 5 at 4 p.m. in the club room of the Y.W.C.A.

Anna Neilson will turn over her office to Doris Little, newly elected president for 1940-41. Those entitled to attend are the new executive of 1940-41 council; the president of the C.G.I.T. department of each church, and the councillor-elect of each senior group.

Miss Betty Ross, girls' work secretary for the United Church of Canada, and Miss Lillian Carsadden, girls' work secretary for Alberta, will be the guests at the first meeting.

THE AZTEC MYSTERY

—By Murray Leinster

BEGIN HERE TODAY

SONNY HOLMAN, believing he has been cheated out of the Aztec mine, takes to holding up the mine payrolls. JANET LAURIER, daughter of the man who holds legal title to the Aztec, comes to Moleville to put a stop to Holman's activities.

TILFORD, the mine manager, tells her Sonny is also at the bottom of numerous ore thefts, and she offers a reward for Holman's capture. Janet is kidnapped by GARCIA's gang, a band of cut-throats. Sonny rescues her. To his surprise, he learns that the girl thinks he is in league with Garcia.

Tilford imports some mine guards. Two of them kill JAKE HORNABY, a friend of Sonny's, in a saloon. In the absence of the sheriff, Sonny, single-handed, arrests them.

He is visiting on a friend's ranch when news comes of a depredation by cattle rustlers. Sonny suspects Garcia and rides in pursuit. On the way, his horse, Gunpowder, is shot by mine guards who, under orders from Janet, are trying to capture Sonny. Janet secretly has the horse doctored. It is her intention to return him to Sonny, even though she regards the latter as an outlaw.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVII

GUNPOWDER lifted his head suddenly and gazed at the entrance to the stable. Tilford was coming in. He looked acutely nervous and he was fidgeting with his watch chain as he came toward Janet. The stallion jerked his head away and moved aside as the mine superintendent drew near.

"I paid that vet, Miss Laurier," said Tilford uneasily. "He's on his way back to Leftover. When do you intend to start?"

"In about an hour," replied Janet.

"I'll get the men and dogs out at once, then," said Tilford. "We're going to use liver and aniseed boiled together," he announced. "Any dog in the world will follow that scent anywhere, just as a cat will follow catnip. You won't be in any danger, Miss Laurier."

"I'm not afraid," said Janet slowly. "Somehow I don't think Mr. Holman would harm me."

"You forget," Tilford interposed harshly, "that he has been robbing your mine, and in company with Garcia."

"I wonder if he is really helping Garcia," said Janet uncertainly.

Tilford moved uneasily. "There can't be any doubt about that. Your kidnapping—"

"He saved me then." Janet shivered a little.

Tilford waved his hand impatiently. "That was jealousy," he said brutally. "I have a small pistol for you. You can hide it somewhere, in case of need."

"I'll take it." Janet reached out absently to touch Gunpowder. "But I don't think I'll need it. I'll get ready."

She stroked Gunpowder's muzzle again almost apologetically, and went slowly out of the stable. Tilford watched her go and when she had disappeared his expression changed. He drew a handkerchief from his pocket and mopped his forehead. He began to tremble.

A grinning halfbreed appeared from nowhere and regarded him insolently, with his hands in his pockets. "Bueno, hombre," he said amiably, "but w'y you geev' 'er a peestol?"

The halfbreed laughed. "There ees more," he said pleasantly. "The Senor Garcia, 'e is vairy angree. So 'e asks one more theeng, an' then 'e weel be frien's weth you again."

Tilford shuddered. "It's not too late to stop now," he said suddenly, in weak desperation. "I warn you, you can't drive me too far! I can tell Miss Laurier everything."

The halfbreed grinned once more. "W'at deed you fin' in your desk thees morneeng?"

Tilford clenched and unclenched his fists. "A rattler," he groaned. "A rattlesnake—dead."

"Si!" The halfbreed nodded and grinned. "Eet was shedding eets skin, too, Teelford. Eef eet had been put in there alive?"

The flare of desperation that had made Tilford seem about to issue a fierce defiance evaporated. He shivered, but strove to keep up a pretence of resistance. "Well, what more does he want?"

"The nex' ore sheepment," said the halfbreed calmly.

Tilford clenched his hands. Then he said, "And what is my split?"

The halfbreed grinned.

"You?" His air was insolence undiluted. "Why, hombre, you leeve."

He swaggered to the door of the stables, swept off his sombrero with ironic politeness and was gone.

Tilford shuddered and ground his teeth at the same instant. This was a clear enough indication of Garcia's future intentions. He, Tilford, would be less than a tool from now on. Now he was reduced to the status of a servant. The ore stealing had been Tilford's idea from the first. He had promoted Garcia from the lowly way of horsethief to the nobler estate of mine robber. The rise of Garcia to power and even his safety up to the present time was due solely to Tilford's assistance and advice.

And now Garcia had turned the tables neatly. The six guards Tilford had hired with Janet's funds would not protect him against such tricks as half-blind rattlesnakes in his desk. Tilford's life hung by a thread which a word from Garcia would snap. And now he would receive as his reward for more dangerous criminality than ever before, not larger sums, nor even the same, but simply the privilege of continuing to live as Garcia's most despised underling.

Rage swept over Tilford, while terror invaded the very marrow of his bones. He knew Garcia too well not to fear him. But even a coward has his courage if pushed far enough and the desperation only a coward can feel was possessing Tilford just now.

He went back to his office, casting wildly about for plans. From the office window he watched Janet ride out of Moleville and toward the hills. He watched until she was out of sight, biting at his finger ends in an agony of indecision.

But when she had vanished he reached for the telephone on his desk. He called for the Circle Bar, trying to make his voice steady as he did so. And he asked for Thompson, who a week before had shown his scorn and distrust as plainly as it was possible for a man to do.

Janet rode slowly but steadily toward the hills until the first gentle rises of the slopes were under Gunpowder's feet. Then she let the reins hang slack, though from time to time she urged the big stallion onward with her voice. He hesitated more than once, uneasy at the lack of guidance. Each time he halted she spoke to him to move on. And presently he seemed to make up his mind what was wanted and walked steadily forward. He found what seemed to be a trail, though no sign was visible to Janet, and he followed its ramblings here and there, picking his way as if he knew just where he was going. Once, indeed, of his own volition he broke into a trot.

And this was just what Janet had expected and was counting on. Knowing the stallion's intelligence, she had believed that if he were released he would find his way to Sonny Holman's hangout. And the stallion's hoofs had been soaked in a mixture of boiled liver and aniseed which to a dog is as fascinating as catnip to a cat. Any dog will follow that scent anywhere. To make assurance doubly sure, the bandage still around Gunpowder's forelock contained a sponge soaked in the same pungent liquid. Drops would fall from that with sufficient regularity to leave a trail irresistible to a canine nose.

The mine guards were waiting somewhere along the route with a motley of Moleville dogs. They would pick up the trail and follow it leisurely. When they judged the sign was fresh, the dogs would be muzzled and the pursuit would be more swift. And even Sonny Holman would be forced to surrender by such overwhelming force.

Janet counted upon encountering Sonny Holman either at his hangout or before it and she was resolved to give him his choice of flight, immediate and final, or combat with the six pursuers. She could not explain even to herself why she was willing for him to escape punishment for what she considered his crimes. She assured herself, without conviction, that it was because she did not want to be the cause of a battle in which men might be killed and in which Sonny would surely die.

The way was long. Gunpowder had started out more than usually mettlesome from his week's confinement, but as he made his way upward into the mountains the recurrent shocks to his injured hoof striking upon unyielding stone tended to make him favor it a little. Perhaps from pride, he would not limp, but his pace was undeniably slower as he wound deeper and deeper into the hills.

The sun had been little past the zenith when Janet set out, but it moved slowly onward and began to decline toward the west. Shadows appeared and lengthened in the canyons that had been places of a curious baking heat at mid-day, despite the thinness of the mountain air. A peculiar chill seemed to gather beneath the crowning cliffs. Janet felt a momentary thrill of fear. But then Gunpowder, with the air of a horse who knew exactly what he was about, turned to follow a dried up stream bed that went where no horse would ever go unless bound for a definite destination, and the certitude of his action comforted her.

He picked his way among the boulders and scrambled up what must have been a rushing cascade in the spring thaws, and came out suddenly upon a shoulder of rock that gave a limited but clear view for a long way back along the trail he had followed. Janet looked back and down and saw the last of a cavalcade of horsemen just disappearing behind an intervening uprearing of rock. She saw only the last two or three of them and was frozen for a moment.

"But—but I guess they are our men," she said uncertainly. "They must be. Their hats looked very big—like sombreros, and our men wear Stetsons. But it must be our men—Gunpowder, hurry. Hurry!"

EMPIRE GOLD AIDS BRITAIN BATTLE NAZIS

Humble Citizens Fatten War Fund Pool—Canadians Give

By GODFREY ANDERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 28—The British Empire is fighting this war with something the axis powers lack—her gold. But it isn't just an affair of the treasury, of banks and corporations. Humble John Citizen, Britain's "little man," can throw his pence or shillings into the pool.

"Save your way to victory—Buy National Defence Bonds," the billboards proclaim, and "Lend to defend the right to be free."

Savings barometers have been erected in the squares of market towns and on village greens. The pointers are raised £5 at a time as the little men dig in their pockets and donations to the war effort roll in.

RAPID SALE

The French actress Alice Delysia sold $600 worth of national savings certificates in five minutes at a Birmingham movie theatre. By purchasing these certificates at $3 each, the buyer lends the government his money for 10 years. At the end of that period interest has increased his investment to $4.12.

Savings groups are formed in hundreds of factories, workshops and stores, where the workers put aside part of their weekly earnings to boost a co-operative purchase of certificates.

"Street" and "family" groups are popular in some parts of the country. The record family group—in Essex—has 15 members. Many cities and towns hold a savings week.

Opening of the week was announced by the historic town crier at Canterbury.

Two other towns of Kent—Maidstone (population 37,000) and Tunbridge Wells (36,000)—challenged each other to a war savings race.

ISSUE CHALLENGE

In their robes and chains of office, the mayors of the two towns met at Cob Tree Major (the original Dingley Dell of Dickens' "Pickwick Papers") to issue their challenges.

So far Maidstone people have subscribed $2,720,000 to war savings, while Tunbridge Wells has raised $2,000,000. The aim of both towns is to top the $4,000,000 mark by the end of the year. "Barometers" erected near each town all show how they are succeeding.

Willard Garfield Weston, M.P., the Canadian-born biscuit manufacturer, gave $400,000 to buy 20 new planes to replace those lost during recent battles over the Channel.

From Canada has come a similar gift from J. W. McConnell, Montreal publisher, placed at the disposal of Lord Beaverbrook, minister of aircraft production, to be used in putting more British planes into the sky against Germany.

Japs Hope Retain Friendship With Canadian People

OTTAWA, Sept. 28—A. Matsui, charge d'affaires at the Japanese legation in Ottawa, said Friday he did not believe the newly-signed Tokyo-Berlin-Rome pact would have any bearing on Japanese-Canadian relations.

"Mr. S. Yoshizawa, successor to Baron Tomii, at the legation here, sails for Canada today," said Mr. Matsui, "and he wouldn't be sent over if it was not with the purpose of further improving Japanese-Canadian friendship."

It was apparent in official government circles that the pact had been anticipated, though there was no comment on it.

Coast Residents Are Appointed To Regimental Posts

OTTAWA, Sept. 28—The national defence department last night announced appointment of seven Vancouver men as officers of the British Columbia Regiment, a unit of the 4th Division of the Canadian Active Service Force.

Lt. Col. G. Carmichael was named Lt. Col. in command, and Major C. E. Bailey, major and second in command. Others appointed majors in the unit are Majors D. J. Bartlett, G. M. Letson, D. Verchere, A. J. L. Pritchard and H. J. Jones.

Weary Londoners Seek Week-End Rest

LONDON, Sept. 28—The comparatively peaceful country towns around London were "full up" last night with tens of thousands of bomb-weary week-enders, looking for some sleep.

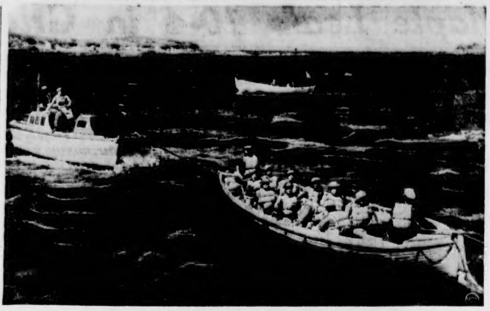
In at least a dozen places within 50 miles of the city there was not a single hotel room empty.

Rent Hearings

OTTAWA, Sept. 28—Mr. Justice W. M. Martin, rentals administrator of the wartime prices and trade board, announced Friday that he would begin a series of hearings next week in areas affected by the rent-pegging order issued by the board Sept. 24. On Oct. 3, Mr. Justice Martin will be in Barrie, Ont., on Oct. 7, in Parry Sound, Ont., and on Oct. 10, in Brandon, Man.

War Medals

OTTAWA, Sept. 28—The subject of what medals are to be struck for Canadians serving in the Second Great War in the three arms of the Dominion armed services is under consideration, it was learned last night at national defence headquarters.



Canada's Sea-Going Soldiers

A rough and rocky coastline alone won't protect Newfoundland from invasion, but it does make it tough for invaders and defendants alike to land. So here Canadian soldiers are towed ashore by small Royal Canadian Navy power launch after being ferried for duty to this unidentified Newfoundland point by Royal Canadian Navy destroyers.

ITALIAN PAPER TAKEN TO TASK IN WORD BATTLE

MONTEVIDEO, Sept. 28. — Uruguayan newspapers fired "reprisal" blasts Friday at the Italian newspaper Regime Fascista of Cremona in a bitter word battle over the neutral status of Uruguay, which currently is sifting evidence against Nazi plotters.

Regime Fascista accused Uruguay of being "at the service of sterlin"—meaning the British pound sterling—that she must consider herself "a belligerent against the totalitarians" and added something about a settling of accounts in the not too distant future.

Uruguayan newspapers came back spiritedly yesterday and demanded action against the Fascist journal.

Meanwhile eight Nazis charged with an ambitious plot to conquer Uruguay remained in jail.

Newspaper comment on the article in the Regime Fascista ranged from demands that its correspondent be expelled from Montevideo to appeals directed at other Italian residents to repudiate the "insult".

Sir Fred Stupart, 'Weatherman' For 34 Years, Is Dead

TORONTO, Sept. 28—Sir Frederic Stupart, internationally famous as a meteorologist and who retired as director of the Dominion meteorological service in 1929, died Friday following an illness of three weeks. He would have been 83 next month.

Sir Frederic joined the meteorological service in 1872 before there were such things as weather forecasts, and served 34 years as Canada's "weatherman." He was knighted in 1916 in recognition of his distinguished work.

Sir Frederic, born near Toronto and educated at a private school and at Upper Canada College here, was one of the leaders in an attempt to produce a world weather map. He was the first to make a serious attempt at realizing this dream by producing weather maps for the greater part of the northern hemisphere.

New Mrs. Astor

EAST HAMPTON, N.Y., Sept. 28—Mary Cushing, one of three daughters of the late Dr. Harvey Cushing, noted brain surgeon, is the new Mrs. Vincent Astor. She was married Friday at her mother's summer home in this peaceful seaside resort.

CHURCHILL AIDS OLD SOLDIER TO SEE DAUGHTER

DUBLIN, Sept. 28.—How Prime Minister Churchill slashed red tape so that an old Irish soldier could visit his daughter, injured in an air raid in England, was told Friday by the father, John O'Connor.

When O'Connor, straight and spry despite his 66 years, applied for permission to visit his daughter in England he was refused.

But the old soldier remembered that the prime minister had been his squadron mate at camp when Mr. Churchill was captured by the Boers in South Africa. So he wrote a letter to the prime minister.

Six days later, the passport office called O'Connor.

"Your permit is granted," they told him. "Word has come from London that your trip is to be facilitated by British authorities."

"Ah, he's a grand man, Mr. Churchill," O'Connor said yesterday. "I knew I could depend on him. If you want to see, go to the top of the tree."

NEW COST OF LIVING INDEX IS PREPARED

Dominion Bureau Statistics Now Based Costs In 5-Year Period

OTTAWA, Sept. 28. — A new cost of living index for Canada was inaugurated Friday by the Dominion bureau of statistics. Long urged by labor organizations and social workers, the new index has been worked out by the bureau after consultation with the federal department of labor and the wartime prices and trade board. Complaints against the former index were that it was based on too few factors and did not indicate fully the fluctuations in living costs.

The new index is based on living costs in the five years, 1935-39, replacing the labor department index which took 1913 levels as 100 and the bureau's own former index with 1926 as 100.

It will reflect changes in the cost of a fixed budget covering retail prices of commodities, services and shelter costs, based on the experience of 1,439 urban wage-earner families in the year ended Sept. 30, 1938. These families, all self-supporting, had family earnings of $450 to $2,500, each family averaging 4.6 persons.

UPWARD TREND

Since the outbreak of war the cost of living has increased roughly five per cent due to general increases affecting all the principal family budget groups. The fuel index has increased 9.5 per cent; clothing, 9 per cent; foods, 6.1; home furnishings, 5.9; rent, 3 and sundries 1.7.

According to the new index, the cost of living increased 5.1 between August, 1939, and August, 1940, while the old index shows an increase in the same period of 4.5. From January, 1935, to August, 1940, the new index advanced 10.8 per cent, the old index 10.3.

AVERAGE INCOME

Average income for the 1,439 families reporting in 1938 was $1,453. There were approximately two tenant families to one home-owning family, and about one family in three operated a motor car.

Expenditures were distributed as follows: Food 31.3 per cent, shelter 19.1, fuel and light 6.4, clothing 11.7, home furnishings 2.9, miscellaneous 22.6, health 4.3, personal care 1.7, transportation 5.6, recreation 5.8, life insurance 5.2. Total 100.

Work For Forestry Corps In England Association Says

MONTREAL, Sept. 28—The Canadian Forestry corps will have a big job on its hands in England, the Canadian Forestry Association announced Friday.

The association said it had been informed that King George has given orders by which the woodlands on his estates at Balmoral and Sandringham will be more heavily cut for the army's timber requirements. At the same time, the King is arranging for the rapid replanting of areas culled of their forest crops.

Many other land owners have followed the King's example, particularly the Marquis of Lothian, owner of one of the finest woodland estates in the British Isles, the association said.

MEN IN CAMPS TO HAVE AMPLE FOOD SUPPLY

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—Men trained under the compulsory military training scheme which begins to operate Oct. 9, need not worry about what they will have to eat in camps. They will have "everything from soup to nuts." And it will be prepared by real cooks.

The national defence department announced Friday night that these cooks will be a permanent staff in the centres to which they are assigned, after completing a special training course at Camp Borden.

During the six-weeks' course, they were shown how to prepare generous, sanitary and good-tasting rations based on recommendations of a committee of scientists and experts in dietetics. Formed through the National Research Council of Canada, the committee has worked out a diet providing for a balanced ration featuring health-giving foods.

Property Taken

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Sept. 28—Expropriation of all rural property owned by Jews was ordered last night by the cabinet of Gen. Ion Antonescu, dictator of Rumania.

TWO OFFICERS OF AIR FORCE DIE IN CRASH

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—Two fliers were killed in the crash of a training plane near the capital late Friday. The dead are Wing Cmdr. Grenville Hamilton Shaw, Royal Air Force, and F.O. Donald Sidney Thomson Young, Royal Canadian Air Force. Wives of both men reside in Montreal.

The cause of the accident was "not immediately discernable," the department of national defence for air stated in announcing the two deaths.

The accident occurred about 10 miles south of Ottawa, a few miles south of the Uplands air training school, a unit in the British Commonwealth Air Training Scheme. The men were in a training plane at the time of the accident.

Wing Commander Shaw was born in England in 1907 and was seconded to the R.C.A. in January this year. He was attached to No. 3 Training Command, Montreal, and his wife resides in Westmount, Que. He was the son of Capt. and Mrs. F. H. Shaw of 15 Stonehill Mansions, Streatham High Road, London.

Flying Officer Young was born at Saint John, N.B., in 1907, attended public schools there, Rothesay Collegiate school, Rothesay, N.B., and McGill University. His wife, Mrs. Edna Clayton Young, resides in Montreal, and his father, Sidney Clark Young, at Saint John.

HOLLANDERS TO RALLY FORCES AGAINST NAZIS

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—The Royal Dutch colonies and Hollanders who escaped from their homeland before the Nazi invasion, are rallying their funds and brawn to counter-attack the invaders of the lowlands, Lt.-Col. C. J. Sas said Friday night.

Col. Sas, head of the mission sent to Canada by the Netherlands government in London, reported progress in construction of the organization which will train Hollanders here from Canada and from the United States to take their places beside the British fighters against Nazidom.

Col. Sas has already been in contact with several hundred Hollanders in Canada and has received a considerable response from his fellow countrymen in the United States who will come to Canada to train.

He leaned forward and said earnestly, "we never were cowards. We Hollanders are an obstinate race. We fought the Spanish and we fought the French and we fought the English. Probably the word to be used now in Holland is obstinate obstruction . . . non-co-operation."

Spitfires Defeat Maple Leafs 10-4 in Grid Opener

Brilliant Spectacle Staged by Juniors

By JACK KELLY
Edmonton Bulletin Sports Editor

Faster, snappier and smarter than even enthusiasts had predicted, junior football came prancing on to the Edmonton sport stage with a big time fanfare as the South Side Spitfires defeated the Maple Leaf Athletic Club 10-4 last night at Clarke Stadium in the opening game of the New City Junior League.

Rated as top-heavy favorites to win as a result of their long experience as a unit in high school grid campaigns, the Spitfires were extended to the limit by a fighting squad of Leafs who gave everything in a performance that would have been a credit to any junior team.

The Spitfires scored their 10 points on two touchdowns — a plunge by Fitzgerald in the second period and a sensational forward pass from Fred Smitten to Reesor Kaufman in the fourth. Leafs counted their points on two rouges and a safety touch.

Close to 2,000 fans saw a brilliantly staged show under the floodlights, a spectacle that fell mighty little short of conference games staged here in the past.

SPECTACULAR SCENE

Under the direction of Alderman Doug Grout, the flood lights went out suddenly a few minutes before game time. Pitch blackness descended on the field from which could be heard the sound of marching feet and a few crisp commands. Then the lights snapped on and the fans caught their breath at the spectacle presented. Three bands in full dress were drawn up on the brilliant green grass of the grid facing the stands while the entire two teams, 44 men in full football outfits, were lined up facing the spectators just in front of the main stand.

Major Newlove's School Boys' Band was on the left, in the centre was the 49th Battalion Band under Major Kirkwood and on the right was the Canadian Corps Bugle Band under Director J. Robinson. Highly polished instruments gleaming in the lights, brilliant colors of the band uniforms and eight drum majorettes strung across the front of the lineup in brilliant scarlet blazers, short white skirts, long white leggings and whirling their silver batons made a striking picture.

JOE CLARKE HONORED

The massed bands played "God Save the King" and then the man whose love of sport and foresight made the palatial stadium possible, Joe Clarke, kicked off.

The first quarter produced no scoring, but the fans got another surprising eyeful. A heavy dew made the spongy turf slippery and the ball soon got that way too. Fumbles were only to be expected —but not a single one materialized. Playing for the first time as a team, the members of the Maple Leafs settled down at once into an able and methodical game that was a fine tribute to the joint coaching of Steve Olander and Tommy Hayes of last year's Eskimos.

The Spitfires, generally considered the veterans of the league since they nearly all played together at Garneau high, ran their plays as smoothly as silk. However, there was a new snap and precision to their performance in comparison with their high school days and this can be credited to the coaching of Paul Kirk and Jimmy Dean.

BIG FITZ SCORES

Scoring started when the second quarter opened with the ball on the Leafs' one-yard line. The Spitfires failed to make headway on their first plunge, but on their second attempt the 210-pound Frank Fitzgerald smashed through the blue and white line for a touchdown. The convert attempt was blocked.

The Maple Leafs got away a fine kick that rolled crazily behind the Spitfire goal line, closely followed by a swarm of tacklers. Norman Rault picked up the ball for the South Side but yielded a rouge to make the count 5-1.

Shortly after, a fine down-field march put the Leafs in scoring range of the Spitfire line again. They kicked and Rault managed to run it out two yards in front of the goal line. The Leafs smashed ahead on the first scrimmage and pushed the South Siders back for a two-point safety touch that made the score 5-3.

Play see-sawed for the rest of the second frame and first half of the third with both clubs kicking freely, tearing off some nice ground gains and attempting forward passes that were spectacular.

SPITFIRES ROUGED

Then some fine tackling and nice gains by Newsome put the Leafs in scoring position again. They tried a placement kick for a field goal, but the ball went wide. Collins raced down, however, and rouged Rault to make it 5-4 and anybody's ball game.

Early in the fourth quarter came the play that cinched victory for the Spitfires. Fifteen and 10 yard runs by Mercer put the South Side at the centre line. Smitten heaved a hair-raising forward pass to Kaufman who was out in the clear and the latter snagged it to gallop 30 yards for a touchdown. The pass itself was a 25-yarder. The convert was again blocked.

In the closing minute of play, the Leafs corralled the Spitfires on their 10-yard stripe, blocked two kicks and got possession of the ball. Their efforts to smash over the line and tie the game was smeared, however, and game ended before they had time to launch a second attempt.

Varsity Help

Baseball Finale

TODAY you can tell your next-door neighbor that he missed one of the finest football shows Edmonton has ever staged if he wasn't out at Clarke Stadium last night for the opening game of the new Junior league.

I mean it was tops so far as staging and incidentals are concerned, for I am not suggesting that the boys played better football than any others ever seen here. Edmonton already has the reputation of putting on the most striking football shows in the west and the craftsmanship of Alderman Grout added plenty last night to that reputation. It was definitely a better show than was put on for any Western Conference games here.

Three full uniformed bands, all smartly drilled and able musicians, eight brilliant drum majorettes, the emerald green of the magnificent turf under the floodlights, the immaculate neatness of the stadium, the dressing of the players and the running explanation of every play over a loud-speaker system by Bob Fritz gave the fans the most they ever got for so little money in any sport.

Maple Leafs were completely togged out in the outfits of last year's Eskimos, while the South Side Spitfires were equipped with the Varsity gear. Twenty-two players were dressed on each team. No football teams in Canada will be better dressed than these two were.

Right here I want to toss a handful of orchids to the students of the University of Alberta whose fine sportsmanship prompted them to generously make available to the Junior League all their surplus football equipment. Without this and the same fine support by the Sport Booster Club, this league couldn't have even thought of starting. Varsity might easily have decided to put its equipment away in moth balls since they are dropping out of intercollegiate football for the duration of the war, but they preferred to do their part to keep sport alive here.

It is something that every sport fan should keep in mind. The very least we can do in return is to make a special effort to attend each of three games in this league which the Varsity Golden Cubs will play at their own stadium.

Calibre Mighty Promising

SO FAR as the average fan was concerned, the calibre of play last night was entirely satisfactory—far better, in fact, than he had expected. Despite a slippery ball and turf, not a single fumble occurred with the exception of two or three slips that were snapped up at once by the player making them.

Naturally the teams are playing straight Western Conference rules and they utilized all the sensational possibilities of this code—even the pro forward pass. Penalties were few and play was as clean as a hound's tooth.

A cheering aspect of the game was the amount of kicking both clubs did. Each tried quick kicks repeatedly. The unexpected kick is good strategy—one of the best ways of making a break, but it also is a first-class crowd-pleaser, since it opens up play and keeps the teams dashing up and down where the fans can see what they are doing. Lateral passing is equally showy and attractive and no doubt all teams will be using it more as they get more practice under their belts.

Tackling last night was sensational. Bob Fritz got so enthusiastic about it that he just about blew out all the tubes in the loud-speaker system—and Bob is rather critical about tackling.

The next game will be on Tuesday night at Clarke Stadium, 8:30 o'clock, with the Edmonton Athletic Club making its debut. The Maple Leafs will be their opposition.

Baseball Finale Sunday

PERFECTLY timed, baseball makes its final appearance on the Edmonton sport stage Sunday afternoon at Renfrew Park when the Central Alberta League All Stars play the champion Dodgers in the fifth and deciding game of their challenge series. It is timed to start at 3:00 p.m.

This series was launched when the Dodgers undertook to beat any team of stars that could be gathered together from all the other clubs in the league. They even agreed to let the veteran Dick Speer manage the Stars. Each club has won two tilts.

Duke Baer, who held the Stars hitless in last Sunday's second game, is likely to start on the mound for the Dodgers. Walter Johnston or Lefty Belter will be the All Star hurler.

The games in this series so far have been exceptionally good—better, in fact, than the playoff between Ponoka and the Dodgers for the league title. Last Sunday's double-header drew the biggest Sunday crowd of the season and another big attendance is expected tomorrow. If the Dodgers can win they will establish their championship calibre right up to the hilt.

Yanks Aid Chicago With Mental Sweat

By HENRY McLEMORE
British United Press, Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

NEW YORK, Sept. 28. — There are few things more pathetic to watch than the suffering of big, strong men. This is particularly true when they're suffering about $5,800 each.

I know, because Wednesday I watched some big and strong men hard at work suffering. They were New York Yankees, who, unable to play themselves because of rain, had to sit by radios and listen to the Detroit Tigers move closer to the American League pennant and a shot at the World Series swag.

I visited Joe Gordon at home and the description of the first game of the double-header between the Detroit Tigers and White Sox was coming in full blast. The White Sox didn't know it, but Joe was playing second base for them during that game. He was all over the room, shifting with each hitter. He played deep and near the reading lamp for Greenberg, next to the piano for Gehringer and hugged the fireplace when McCosky came up.

With the Yankees slim chance of winning the pennant then dependent on somebody kocking off the leading Tigers, Gordon couldn't have been more tense had he been playing in a series game himself.

Over in a corner of the room, trying to read a magazine but having poor luck, was Bill Dickey, Yankee catcher and a fellow who knows more about the strength and weakness of American League batters than anyone in the business.

When the Tigers came up for their half of the tenth inning, with the score tied at 9-all, Bill laid down his magazine and began advising the White Sox pitcher, Clint Brown, as to what to throw.

When McCosky opened the inning with a single and Gehringer sacrificed him to second, Bill and Joe went into a hasty conference.

"They gotta walk Greenberg," Gordon said.

"Yeah, they gotta walk him. They will."

MENTAL TELEGRAMS

With McCosky on second with the winning run, Greenberg on first and Rudy York up, Dickey really went to work in an effort to contact the Sox pitcher by mental telepathy and tell him what to pitch.

"Don't give him a good one, Clint, don't give him a good one," Bill counselled. "And whatever you do, don't get that curve ball inside. He'll pickle it."

"Guess Clint didn't hear you, Bill," Joe said.

Between games, Charley Keller called from a nearby hotel to lament over the Tigers' win, but said the Yanks were still in the fight.

"We still get a chance if we win all the rest of our games," the sluggin outfielder said, "and we'll do it. Lawdy, if we could only replay some of those games we lost earlier in the year. I mean those where we blew three and four run leads in the ninth inning."

Charley's voice packed the frustration that only a man who has seen $5,800 in dollar bills floating away on the breeze could feel.

Then the second game started and Joe started going to his left and right for imaginary grounders and Dickey settled down to the job of out-thinking the Detroit hitters.

Ontario Stars Defeat Coast In Third Game Lacrosse Series

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28.—It's one up and two to go for Ontario All-Stars in their battle to retain the Canadian junior lacrosse championship and the Minto cup for eastern Canada. The visiting stickmen last night scored a decisive 19-11 victory over the British Columbia All-Stars in the third game of the best-of-five series. The British Columbians won the first two tilts 16-13 and 23-21. Fourth game will be played here Monday night.

On the verge of elimination last night, Ontario's Stars found enough power and firing ability to race through a bewildered western team in the final quarter to cinch the game.

Heavy body-checking and accurate passing was displayed throughout by the easterners. They acted quickly and at the right time and on numerous occasions retrieved their own rebounds to rush in close and score.

No major penalties were meted out although Ontario served more time on the bench than the British Columbians. Rough checking was the cause of most of the infractions.

The visitors, who average about 10 pounds more per man than the British Columbians, used their weight to advantage, especially in the corners where they whipped out passes to teammates after drawing in the westerners.

Ontario held a slim 3-2 lead at the end of the first quarter, trailed 8-7 at the half and then marched ahead in the dying minutes of the third to hold a 12-10 lead going into the final quarter. The score was tied seven times before Ontario rushed ahead.

Jack Gair started the rally in the last quarter and Pat Smith added two more while Sam Kabatow was in the penalty box. Don White, star with Orillia Baby Terriers then scored to give the east a 16-10 lead before Walter Bruce rushed the length of the floor to sink British Columbia's lone counter in the stanza.

Don White banged in two more and Tom Madsen rattled in another before the final gong. White and Smith each scored three during the game while John Hewitt scored four. Jimmy Lang was best for British Columbia with four goals.

BETTY JAMESON IN GOLF FINAL

DEL MONTE, Calif., Sept. 28. — Jane Cothran of Greenville, S.C., and Betty Jameson of San Antonio, won semi-final round matches in the United States women's amateur golf tournament Friday and will meet today in a 36-hole test for the title.

Miss Cothran defeated Mrs. James Ferrie of Pasadena, Calif., two up, and Miss Jameson eliminated Clara Callender, of Long Beach, Calif., 5 and 3.

Jinx of Imperials Lifted From Beaches

TORONTO, Sept. 28.—The reward that patience brings appears to be on the way for Alex Ponton of Toronto Balmy Beach who has waited since 1930 for a second Ontario Rugby Football Union title. Ten years ago Ponton took over Toronto's east end club after six years as a Beach player and led the team to the O.R.F.U. title and ultimately to the dominion championship.

Since then the mighty Sarnia Imperials always stood in his way, winning the O.R.F.U. title nine times in a row.

But now the Imperials have disbanded—for the duration of the war—and in the renovated league the Beaches look to be the best bet over three new clubs which have yet to prove they are of senior calibre. Beaches' first test will come when they open the season October 4 at Hamilton against the Cubs.

LOST 11 PLAYERS

Ponton has lost 11 of last year's squad, including Eddie Thompson, a halfback on The Canadian Press all-star eastern team, backfielder Shelley Lush, and Cal Moore, one of the best secondary defence players in the country. Despite this Ponton has high hopes.

To take the place of Thompson and Lush on the backfield Ponton has picked up Bobby Porter, who played for the Beaches four years ago before he turned to professional baseball, and Eddie Shuba, who has already shown enough in practice to make Ponton believe he has one of the coming greats of the game. Frank Seymour, Johnny Manson and Jack Frizelle round out the first string backfield.

Ponton has Porter, Frizelle and Alexander to take turns kicking from this group. He gained additional strength in this department when Don Crowe, last year with Peterborough Orfuns, left Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four to join the Beaches this week.

IMPORTANT RETURN

The return of Syd Reynolds, a crack outside, after a year's retirement is important. With Reynolds, Bob Reid, an inside, and middle George Shields, Ponton has the makings of a powerful line.

Reid captured a place on the alternate Canadian Press all-star team last season and with Shields has been one of the mainstays of the Beaches line for years. The other inside spot is looked after by Bruce Barron and the other middle position by Gordon Downard. With snapback Susie Turner and outside Glen Salter, these two balance Reid, Reynolds and Shields' experience with speed and youth.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28—Broadway buzzings: Did Bill Terry fine every member of the Giants except Mel Ott and Hubbell the night before the Giants went out and won that double header? . . Whether you like it, or not, Max Baer is very much back in the heavyweight picture and will fight Louis again the minute somebody puts $50,000 in the bank for him . . . Mike Jacobs said he believed he would settle for Baer vs Billy Conn.

Softball Notes

The double-header to be played Sunday afternoon at Kingsway Park will be the last game for the softball fans to have a peek at this year.

Podersky's are billed to play Buffaloes at 2:30 p.m. Malone and Jackovitch will do the chucking for the mere males while Elsie Vaughan and Annabelle Thompson will look after the interests of the Big Orange girls.

For the second game the Moose will oppose a combined Centrals Maple Leaf team with Cutler and Montgomery the opposing pitchers.

To Meet Oct. 6

CALGARY, Sept. 28—D. P. McDonald, retiring president of the Alberta Senior Hockey league, announced here Friday night that the league's annual meeting has been postponed until Sunday, Oct. 6.

The meeting was originally scheduled for Sept. 29.

SHERBROOKE HAS ANNUAL SCHOOL ATHLETIC MEET

Sherbrooke public school held its annual track and field meet Friday afternoon on the school grounds under the supervision of the principal, Alex Stockwell and Miss Thomson.

In group A Sophie Chursky won both 50-yard dash and the high jump and also took two seconds. Lillian Schuster had one first and a second.

Judith Hale captured two firsts and a second in group B with Myrtle Lewis her closest competitor.

Rose Hewko was the best point getter of the day taking three firsts in group C and Marion Porter got three seconds.

In the boys' events Donald Bates was the big winner with four firsts and a second and Andrew Korol was Donald's chief opponent taking four seconds and two firsts.

Jack Yurchuk and Norman Yanew shared honors, each with a first and a second.

The biggest winner of the day however was John Korol of group C who won no less than five firsts.

Following are the results:

Canmore Sends Track Team Here

Rene Le Blanc formerly of this city and now principal of Canmore high school arrived Friday. He is heading a party of seven athletes from the mining town who are participating in today's track and field meet at Clarke Stadium.

Each of the seven boys is entered in several events and Steve Kotchoniski will defend the shot putt and hop-step titles won in last year's meet which was held at Banff.

Alex McKinnon, Edmond Cormier, Arthur Michaluk, Angelo Maschio, Walter Riva and Stanley Sawchuk made up the rest of the party.

Incidentally all of the southern boys were trained by Marty Dewis, former Varsity track star. The Canmore branch of the Canadian Legion is sponsoring the trip of their town's representatives.

Table Tennis To Start Soon

Plans for the coming season of the Edmonton Table Tennis Association will be made at an executive meeting to be held at the CNR tennis club on Tuesday, October 1. It has definitely been decided that the club will get under way in the King Edward hotel near the end of the month.

This year the association intends to provide a course of instruction in the art of table tennis that should benefit all who play the game either at home or at the club. This instruction will also be available to those players who live out of town.

Any further particulars may be had by communicating with the club secretary, Miss June Boyce, at 10734 108 street.

Greyhound Sets New World Mark In Saddle Trot

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 28.—New and old stars of Grand Circuit harness racing shared honors Friday at the Lexington trots.

Spencer Scott, Hambletonian champion, won the fourth and deciding heat to capture the rich Kentucky futurity for three-year-old trotters from Kuno and Eton, which tied with Charles W. Phellis' ace in Thursday's three heats. Darkness prevented the final heat Thursday.

Greyhound, which has trotted himself out of challengers and now competes only against time in record-breaking attempts, set up a new world's mark for trotters under a saddle, stepping off a mile in 2:01¾ under the guidance of Mrs. Francis Dodge Johnson of Detroit. The former record was 2:04¼, established by Hollyrood Doris.

"It's rightly named"

We were arguing about names, and I said the truest tradename ever adopted is "Old Chum" because that's exactly what it has been to me for years. It's helped me through times of trouble and added to my pleasure in days of ease. Give me a pipe of Old Chum—any place or any time—and I'm in good company. The older I grow, the more sure I am that there is no other tobacco just like Old Chum. Try it for yourself.

Available in packages, pocket pouches and ½ lb. tins.

Detroit Tigers Shutout Cleveland 2-0 To Win American League

Big Hank Dominates World Series Scene

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Big Hank Greenberg overshadows all rivals so completely that it is difficult to start to compare the outfields of the teams that will clash in the world series next week.

The great Detroit left fielder leads the American League in home runs, runs batted in and runs scored, and he is a mortal cinch to be acclaimed the year's most valuable player, succeeding Bucky Walters of the Reds, who won the honor last season.

To make the Tigers' outfield superiority even more pronounced, they also possess the second-best gardener among the three clubs concerned. He is Barney McCosky, their sophomore centre fielder, who at last official averages was banging the ball at 338 and generally crowding Greenberg as a run-producer. This pair, hitting in conjunction with Rudy York and Charlie Gehringer, give the Tigers a close approach to the Yankees' old murderers' row.

Their right fielder, Pete Fox, is no slouch of a slugger, himself, and when manager Del Baker feels like making a change he has such a capable pair in reserve as Earl Averill and Bruce Campbell, both sound .275 hitters.

Cincinnati, on the other hand, has won two National League pennants despite its weak and frequently shaken-up bleacher brigade. Ival Goodman, in right, was the best the Reds had for several years. He hit 30 home runs in 1938 and last season had a highly respectable batting average of .323. But this year he has been in a bad slump and is down to .255.

In centre manager Bill McKechnie has the freshman, Mike McCormick, finally having been forced to give up on Harry Craft, who made only one futile single in 11 attempts in the last world series. Jim Ripple, reclaimed from the minors, appears to have sewed up the left field job with a little timely hitting in the last month, since Morrie Arnovich proved a flop. There isn't a .300 hitter in the lot.

With The Pin Busters

The Independents made a good start on the opening night of the Friday section of city 10 pin league by winning three straight games. The Moose and Rialto each took two.

Henry Cuthbert of the Corona Service team was high singles man with 256 and in his other two games he rolled 174 and 202 to make up 632, which was three-game high.

ART BUCKMAN ROLLS 611

The Mercantile 10 pinners did not have a full turnout, but the Gas Company won two out of the three games with Woodland Dairy.

Art Buckman of the Nut House five took singles high withn 232 and three-game honors with 611, made up of 180, 199, 232.

NEW FIVE-PIN GROUPS

In the five pin leagues three new groups started Friday night—Accountants, Junior Commercial ladies and C.N.R. Mixed.

W. Meen of Kinnaird-Aylen rolled 287 in his second game for singles high and his total, 477, was also the best for the Accountants for the two games played. His team, Patriquin-Johnstone's, and the Income Tax boys won both games.

JUNIOR COMMERCIALS

Twelve teams started out in the Junior Commercial group and Miss B. Belanger with 205 and Miss J. Irvin with 470 were respective winners of singles and three-game honors.

The Pepper Pots and Kresge's "A" won their three games and Metro-Spitfires and Binderettes took two.

FERGUS FAULDER GETS 734

Fergus Faulder of the Dead Heads was the star performer in the C.N. Mixed league first nighters. Fergus rolled 166, 332 and 236 for a total of 734 and won both singles and three-game titles.

Mac's won three games, while Reliances, Dead Heads and Old Timers each won two.

NURSES' FIVE-PIN GROUP

In the Nurses' five pin group Miss M. Scott of Misericordia 1 chalked up 231 to take singles high and Miss Carbol of General 1 had the best three game score.

Generals 2 won three games and their No. 1 team took two.

Burrards Not To Meet Winnipeg

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28. — Vancouver Burrards will pass up a scheduled game at Winnipeg and go right through to Montreal for their semi-final lacrosse series with Montreal Indians Oct. 3 and 4, Coach Les Dickinson said Friday as his team prepared to leave for the east tonight.

Jack Streight, secretary of the British Columbia Lacrosse Association, said the Winnipeg game was abandoned because a number of the prairie players had joined the Royal Canadian Air Force and because the Winnipeg arena raised the rental price for the sudden-death playoff game scheduled for Sept. 30.

Winners of the Montreal-Vancouver semi-finals, a best of three series, meet the winner of the St Catharines-Brampton series for the Canadian championship.

Glace Bay Gets Four More Men

GLACE BAY, N.S., Sept. 28. — Names of four more new hockeyists who will appear with the Glace Bay Miners this season in the Cape Breton circuit were announced Friday night.

They will join other new men such as Jimmy Foster, a former Moncton Hawk, and Jo-Jo Graboski, last year with Kirkland Lake.

Ramsey played last year with Atlantic City Sea Gulls in the eastern amateur league; Newbolt saw service in 1939 with Sudbury; Drummond was on the lineup of the Toronto Goodyears, and Haneberry was with the South Porcupine seniors in Ontario.

Vermilion Golf

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

VERMILION, Sept. 28.—Eighteen Lloydminster lady golfers invaded Vermilion Thursday afternoon and played an equal number of Vermilionites in nine foursomes. The Lloydminster ladies took all the chocolate.

After the competitions were over the visiting golfers, with the local players, were entertained at the home of Mrs. I. Amos.

Varsity Notes

Track and field workouts for University students are being held daily at 4 p.m. under the supervision of physical director James Panton.

A rugby practice has been called by Coach Bob Fritz for 2 o'clock this afternoon.

An outdoor rink is to be constructed for the use of the students by the authorities to temporarily replace the arena which has been turned over to the department of national defence.

Venus' fly trap, the famous carnivorous plant, catches more spiders than flies. So far, no one has been able to find out what the plant leaves in their stead.

St. Catharines Beats Brampton

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Sept. 28 —St. Catharines Athletics, eastern Canada senior lacrosse champions last season, whipped Brampton Excelsiors 25-10 here Friday night for their third successive victory in the best of seven series for the Ontario Lacrosse Association senior title.

The fourth game will be played at Brampton next Monday with the series winner qualifying to meet the western Canada champions in the Dominion titular series opening at Toronto Oct. 7.

Marty Barry Is Manager Millers

British United Press
Exclusive To Edmonton Bulletin

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 28.—Frank McNally, president of the Minneapolis Hockey Club, announced today that Marty Barry, former National League star, would manage the Millers of the American Association this season.

Barry, who compiled a high scoring record while with the Boston Bruins and the Detroit Red Wings, will replace Ching Johnson who resigned. He will report Oct. 10.

Bollaert-Debaets	2023-8	203
Wissel-Yaccino	2023-5	300
Sellinger-Eiler	2023-1	116

Anderson and Ottevaere formed a team after their teammates, Kilian and Shipman, respectively, were injured in spills yesterday afternoon and forced out of the race. The race will end at midnight today.

School Soccer

Good progress has been made in the public school soccer leagues due to ideal weather conditions.

McKay seniors defeated Cromdale 3-0 in a fast and well fought game. John Harvie, John Birks and Eric Botzow each scored a goal.

In the grade IX league McKay defeated Riverdale 1-0.

In the Bantam league Bennett won from Forest Heights 3-0, Kenneth Christensen with two and Harry Speers being the marksmen for the winning team.

Bennett seniors won the return game with Garneau by a 1-0 count. Eric Woolridge scored the winning goal.

Ritchie seniors eliminated Queen Alex in two games, Jack Scott, clever centre forward for Ritchie getting several goals.

Queens Ave. played two games with Alex Taylor school in the Bantam league and proved their superiority by eliminating them from further competition.

Garneau Bantams also put out Normal Practice in two fine games and are ready to play Bennett in the second round next week.

Homer Wins Pennant

Rudy York, above, whose hitting has improved since he was moved from behind the plate to first base. In Friday's game Feller allowed the Detroit Tigers only three hits, but one was tagged for a home run by Rudy. Gehringer was on first at the time, the result of a walk.

Regina Bases Hope On Brand New Plays

REGINA, Sept. 28.—An improved attack based around a new set of plays was boasted by Regina Roughriders Friday night as they rounded off training for the Western Interprovincial Football Union game here this afternoon with Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Riders attack has been improving gradually although they have not been victorious since their opening game of the year. It is expected to reach its peak this week-end. Coach Dean Griffing feels that his defence will hold up if the attack ever starts to roll.

There will be one newcomer in the line. He is Art Stein, a brother of the veteran lineman Frank Stein who played for Regina for several years. Art is husky and has shown up well in practices. He will likely see duty at inside wing.

Despite the brave showing Riders have given in practice and the hopes of Griffing, the Bombers are favored to win. Part of this feeling has come through the return of dynamite Fritz Hanson to the Bomber backfield.

Bombers Set With Hanson

WINNIPEG, Sept. 28.— Winnipeg Blue Bombers, their ranks bolstered by Fritzie Hanson who returned to the game Monday night after retiring, left here Friday night for Regina to open the second half of the Western Interprovincial Football schedule against Regina Roughriders this afternoon.

Bombers are two points behind the league-leading Calgary Bronks and are determined to pull even before meeting the westerners on their home grounds next week-end.

So far this season, they have broken even with the young Regina team in their two encounters.

In today's game Hanson will share the half back position with Art Stevenson and Ossie Snell.

Greg Kabat and Art Kolisnyk will alternate at the quarterback position.

The Regina team is expected to try some new plays and Coach Dean Griffing has bolstered his defence with the addition of Art Stein, brother of Frank Stein, husky lineman with the club for many years.

Rookie Allows Only Six Hits to Indians

CLEVELAND, Sept. 28.—Rudy York, the pale-faced Indian, nullified the three-hit hurling of Bobby Feller Friday with one lofty home run that clinched the American League pennant for Detroit Tigers.

The homer came with one on base in the fourth inning and beat Cleveland Indians 2-0 while a riotous crowd of 45,553, a third of them women, demonstrated its hostility to the Tigers with frequent showers of fruit, vegetables and eggs.

One fan dropped a basket of green tomatoes out of the upper deck of the grandstand and hit Catcher Birdie Tebbetts on the head, knocking him out but not injuring him seriously. This incident came after Chief Umpire Bill Summers stopped the game to warn the crowd that every Cleveland player who hit a fly ball would be out if Detroit infielders were interfered with by the fruit throwing.

Nothing counted after York's 33rd round-trip ticket of the season after Charley Gehringer had walked.

A short time later the big score board in centre field ran up the 6-2 final score of New York Yankees' beating at Philadelphia and everybody knew the Tigers were in as soon as they went through the rest of the motions.

They did—with 26-year-old rookie Floyd Giebell, who isn't even eligible for the world series, checking Cleveland every time the Indians threatened.

It was a surprise bit of strategy by which Manager Del Baker entrusted the vital task of clinching the pennant to the right hander who spent all summer with Buffalo in the International League, winning 15 games and losing 17.

He kept six hits scattered, struck out six—including Ben Chapman three times—and gave only two walks.

Feller was a gallant figure in defeat. He never quite got the game under control. Although he fanned four, he was frequently behind the batters and walked eight men. Double plays pulled him out of jams in three innings.

ATHLETICS OUST YANKEES

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28. — The four-year dominance of New York Yankees over the American League ended Friday.

The world champions lost the last slim chance they had of gaining their fifth straight triumph when a one-time Yankee farmhand, Johnny Babich, limited them to five hits while his mates banged out a 6-2 triumph in the last meetings of the two teams this year.

The righthand slider ball specialist is the only pitcher in the league to beat the Yankees five times this year. His fifth victory was the greatest of them all, for old Connie Mack predicted the collapse of the Yanks—and his team put on the clincher.

NEW YORK NEWS ISSUES APOLOGY

British United Press
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The New York Daily News and Jimmy Powers, the newspaper's sports editor, apologized yesterday to Lou Gehrig and the New York Yankees for suggesting, in a column published August 18, that the retired first baseman had inflicted his teammates with poliomyelitis.

The apology followed by several weeks the filing, in Gehrig's behalf, of a $1,000,000 libel suit against Powers, who wrote the story, and the newspaper.

In the apology Powers explained that he had been led into error by the report of the Mayo clinic in June, 1939, which said Gehrig had "a form of chronic poliomyelitis—infantile paralysis," and had assumed the malady was the communicable" kind known to laymen.

The News has since learned, Powers wrote, that Gehrig's malady was not the form of poliomyelitis "commonly known as infantile paralysis" and was not communicable.

"Unfortunately," Powers said, "[illegible] greetings [illegible] were unfit. I am sorry [illegible]. I am deeply sorry and so is The News."

Powers said he had been motivated only by desire to find a reason for the Yankees' slump this year and that "hurting Lou Gehrig's feelings was far from my mind."

"The News [illegible] is glad to learn Lou Gehrig has no communicable disease and that the Yankees themselves could not possibly be infected since Gehrig himself was not infected."

What Constitutes A Proper Eye Examination?

A modern eye examination may be divided into two general divisions: (a) The objective part in which the optometrist depends upon his own observations and instrumentation of his findings.

(b) The subjective part in which the findings are dependent upon the patient's response to the optometrist's questioning.

Both are essential, the one to some extent corroborating the other.

Each part consists of several tests or measurements, everyone of which has been skillfully and scientifically developed to obtain necessary information. The findings of each test are recorded and compared with the known normal or expected, with a view to correcting the discrepancies.

As the majority of the people who consult the optometrist complain of difficulty or discomfort while engaged in close work, the necessity of special investigations at the [illegible] reading distance is obvious— the examination will include tests made while the eyes are [illegible] both distant and near [illegible]

The [illegible] or correction devised to give maximum comfort can [illegible] at after a complete [illegible] and careful analysis of the several findings.

Legal Notices—

SALE OF TIMBER BY PUBLIC TENDER

1. PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the Director of Forestry, Department of Lands and Mines, Edmonton, will offer for sale by public tender at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon on Wednesday, October 9th, 1940, at Room 532, Administration Building, 109th Street, Edmonton, Alberta, the right to cut timber under license on Berth No. 6738, comprising:

All those portions of Sections 14, 22, 23, 27 not covered by the waters of Lawrence Lake, the North half and Legal Subdivisions 7 and 8 of Section 15; Legal Subdivisions 9 and 16 of Section 16; all those portions of Legal Subdivisions 1, 8, 9, 10, 15 and 16 of Section 21, and those portions of Legal Subdivisions 1 and 8 of Section 28, lying East of a fireguard forming the East boundary of Berth No. 6626, all in Township 69, Range 25, West of the 4th Meridian.

2. It is estimated there are at least twelve million feet board measure of merchantable spruce on the timber berth.

3. The license will be awarded to the person tendering the highest rate of dues on sawn lumber of species other than poplar and no tender of a rate of dues of less than $2.50 per thousand feet board measure shall be considered. All timber cut under license on the timber berth, excepting sawn lumber of species other than poplar, shall be subject to the payment of dues at the rates prescribed in Form "E" of the Timber Regulations.

4. Tenders for the timber berth must be enclosed in a sealed container and submitted by the tenderer in person or through his duly authorized agent who must present his authorization with the tender and such authorization must be sufficient to empower the said agent to make application for a license in behalf of the tenderer and to bind such tenderer to full and complete compliance with the terms and conditions of sale.

5. Tenders must be accompanied by a deposit of $3,000.00 in cash, marked cheque on a chartered bank, certified treasury branch order, cheque or certified non-negotiable transfer voucher payable to the Provincial Treasurer. The deposit made by an unsuccessful tenderer shall be returned to him and in the case of the person to whom the timber berth is awarded the deposit shall be retained as a guarantee of compliance with the terms of sale.

6. Every tender to purchase the timber berth shall include an offer on behalf of the person making the same to pay to the Crown in addition to all dues and taxes reserved or imposed by Statute the sum of $91.48, being the cost incurred in cruising and advertising the timber berth.

7. The timber berth shall be subject to an annual rental of $10.00 per square mile or fraction thereof, and one-half the cost incurred by the Crown in guarding the timber from fire shall be defrayed by the licensee.

8. The person to whom the timber berth is awarded must immediately sign a contract agreeing to carry out the terms and conditions of sale and shall at the same time apply for a license for the current year paying the costs incurred in cruising and advertising, together with the rental, license fee, fireguarding charges and timber areas tax.

9. The license shall be for a term not exceeding one year and shall be renewable from year to year for a term of nine years from the date of sale while there is on the timber berth a sufficient quantity of the kind and dimensions of timber specified in the license.

10. The cutting of timber on the timber berth shall be subject in all other respects to the Regulations Governing the Granting of Yearly Licenses to cut Timber on Provincial Lands or to any regulations that may be established hereafter in substitution of such regulations.

11. The Minister may, in his discretion, reject any or all tenders made for the purchase of the timber berth.

12. Further particulars may be obtained on application to the Director of Forestry, Department of Lands and Mines, Edmonton.

T. F. BLEFGEN,
Director of Forestry

Department of Lands and Mines,
Edmonton, Alberta,
September 21st, 1940.

TENDERS FOR SAWRIDGE TIMBER

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and marked on the face of the envelope "Tenders for Sawridge Timber" will be received up till noon of Tuesday, October 15, 1940, for the purchase of the merchantable timber on Sawridge Indian Reserve No. 150H, Lesser Slave Lake District, Province of Alberta.

This Reserve has an area of approximately 3,022 acres and is reported to contain [illegible] f.b.m., more or less, of merchantable [illegible] chiefly white spruce, which is offered for sale. No spruce is to be cut of [illegible] [illegible] diameter [illegible] and an upset price of $2.50 per M. f.b.m. is fixed for this species. Tenderers should state the price they are prepared to pay for each species, either per M. f.b.m. of sawn lumber or per cord of 128 cubic feet of [illegible] of dues at [illegible] and offers must be submitted in [illegible] of tender provided for that purpose.

It is [illegible] condition of the sale that all merchantable timber cut will be [illegible] and [illegible] and paid for, and any wastage will be considered a breach of contract, and that all such [illegible] timber operations shall be properly and safely disposed of to the satisfaction of a duly appointed officer of the Department.

Five years will be allowed in which to complete the cutting [illegible] of the timber. The provisions of the Indian Act and Timber Regulations [illegible] and Indian members of the Sawridge Band must be given the preference by way of employment in the cutting and removal of the timber.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on any Canadian chartered bank [illegible] the first year's ground rental $40.00, licence fee $4.00 and a [illegible] of $[illegible] such cheque to be made payable to the Receiver General and returnable to the unsuccessful tenderer.

[illegible] Department [illegible] undertaking is completed to the satisfaction of the Minister of Mines and Resources.

The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Forms of Tender, Plan of the Reserve, and copy of the Timber Regulations may be had on application to the undersigned or to Mr. N. P. L'Heureux, Indian Agent [illegible]

Legal Notices—

SALE OF TIMBER BY PUBLIC TENDER

1. PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the Director of Forestry, Department of Lands and Mines, Edmonton, will offer for sale by public tender at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon on Tuesday, October 15th, 1940, at Room 532, Administration Building, 109th Street, Edmonton, Alberta, the right to cut timber under license on Berth No. 6745 comprising:

Legal Subdivisions 12 and 13 of Section 15, North half and Legal Subdivisions 5, 6 and 7 of Section 16, North half and Legal Subdivisions 5, 6, 7 and 8 of Section 17, Legal Subdivisions 9 and 16 of Section 18, Legal Subdivisions 1, 8, 9, 14, 15 and 16 of Section 19, All Section 20, Legal Subdivisions 3, 4, 5 and 13 of Section 21, Legal Subdivisions 4 and 5 of Section 28, South-east quarter and Legal Subdivisions 3, 9 and 10 of Section 30, all in Township 53, Range 13, West of the 5th Meridian, an area of approximately 3.85 square miles.

2. It is estimated there are at least eight million feet board measure of merchantable spruce on the timber berth.

3. The license will be awarded to the person tendering the highest rate of dues on sawn lumber of species other than poplar and no tender of a rate of dues of less than $2.50 per thousand feet board measure shall be considered. All timber cut under license on the timber berth, excepting sawn lumber of species other than poplar, shall be subject to the payment of dues at the rates prescribed in Form "E" of the Timber Regulations.

4. Tenders for the timber berth must be enclosed in a sealed container and submitted by the tenderer in person or through his duly authorized agent who must present his authorization with the tender and such authorization must be sufficient to empower the said agent to make application for a license in behalf of the tenderer and to bind such tenderer to full and complete compliance with the terms and conditions of sale.

5. Tenders must be accompanied by a deposit of $[illegible] in cash, marked cheque on a chartered bank, certified treasury branch order, cheque or certified non-negotiable transfer voucher payable to the Provincial Treasurer. The deposit made by an unsuccessful tenderer shall be returned to him and in the case of the person to whom the timber berth is awarded the deposit shall be retained as a guarantee of compliance with the terms of sale.

6. Every tender to purchase the timber berth shall include an offer on behalf of the person making the same to pay the Crown in addition to all dues and taxes reserved or imposed by Statute the sum of $34.20, being the cost incurred in cruising and advertising the timber berth.

7. The timber berth shall be subject to an annual rental of $10.00 per square mile or fraction thereof, and one-half the cost incurred by the Crown in guarding the timber from fire shall be defrayed by the licensee.

8. The person to whom the timber berth is awarded must immediately sign a contract agreeing to carry out the terms and conditions of sale and shall at the same time apply for a license for the current year paying the costs incurred in cruising and advertising, together with the rental, license fee, fireguarding charges and timber areas tax.

9. The license shall be for a term not exceeding one year and shall be renewable from year to year for a term of nine years from the date of sale while there is on the timber berth a sufficient quantity of the kind and dimensions of timber specified in the license.

10. The cutting of timber on the timber berth shall be subject in all other respects to the Regulations Governing the Granting of Yearly Licenses to cut Timber on Provincial Lands or to any regulations that may be established hereafter in substitution of such regulations.

11. The Minister may, in his discretion, reject any or all tenders made for the purchase of the timber berth.

12. Further particulars may be obtained on application to the Director of Forestry, Department of Lands and Mines, Edmonton.

T. F. BLEFGEN,

SHEEP, SWINE SHOW BILLED OCTOBER 16-17

With the assistance and co-operation of the Alberta Provincial Sheep and Swine Breeders' associations and the provincial and federal departments of agriculture the Edmonton Exhibition Association is conducting the regular fall sale and show of sheep and swine on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 16 and 17. All breeders interested in stepping up the quality of their flocks are invited to write in for a copy of the free sale catalogue.

The commercial show of finished stock will be held on Wednesday and the sale of registered breeding stock on Thursday, commencing at 9:30 a.m. with the swine. J. W. Durno will officiate at the sale when 100 head of purebred swine, Yorkshires and Tamworths, will be offered and 179 head of high quality sheep. All rams will be graded and the boars inspected by federal government graders and only high quality stock will be permitted to pass through the sale.

Now that the war has demoralized former marketing conditions in Great Britain, and Canada and Canadian breeders are supplying a large part of the bacon required, Alberta stockmen have a position and a responsibility they never before enjoyed, in that if they produce the kind of bacon which suits British standard they will be able to supply a product that will help them retain the British market after the war is over.

A little attention now to securing breeding stock may mean the difference between an unlimited market for Canadian bacon and the loss of that market when the war is over. Now is the time to secure new breeding stock in an effort to produce a higher percentage of "selects" in swine herds.

Reception Week At University Will Close With Dance

Freshman reception week at the University of Alberta draws to a close Saturday with the annual "Freshman Mixer" dance in Athabasca Hall. The affair promises to be the feature attraction of the well-planned week.

Friday evening freshettes were treated to a hike by the Wauneita Society for university women students. At the same time the new male students took part in the traditional "freshman smoker" in Athabasca gymnasium. The freshmen were introduced to various student executives, and were treated to the usual quota of "good" stories, with plenty of cheers, and songs.

A special church service is planned for Sunday at 11 a.m. in Convocation Hall to which all first-year students are especially welcome. Rev. R. McElroy Thompson, of Metropolitan United Church, will speak on the topic, "Pearls Before Swine."

Sunny Weather In Prospect For Week-End Here

Pleasantly cool, clear sunny weather is in prospect again for this week-end, according to official forecasts.

Temperature dipped just below the frost line to 31 at 4:30 a.m. Saturday but by 8:30 a.m. the mercury was on its way back toward more summer-like heights, having reached 46 at that time.

Friday's high was 68 at 4:30 p.m.

Smoke and haze had cleared pretty well from the [illegible] Saturday and Sunday promised to be clear and bright.

Thick fogs still blanketed the north at Athabasca, McMurray, House River and Calling River.

Commercial aviation firms found flying conditions difficult as a result of the heavy ground vapor.

26 AIRMEN ARE ENLISTED HERE; WILL BE TRAINED

Additions to the recruiting strength of the Royal Canadian Air Force, taken on the strength at R.C.A.F. offices in the Provincial building during the past week, totalled 26.

Of these 15 are tradesmen, 10 air crewmen and one is an elementary flying instructor. Majority of the men sworn in have been posted to the Brandon training centre, with a few being assigned to Toronto.

The new recruits bring the total number recruited here since the recruiting centre opened to 737. Of these 532 are tradesmen, 202 aircrewmen and three flying instructors.

Following is a list of those signing up this week.

Tradesmen—Edmonton men posted to Toronto are Harry Aspden Welch, Theodore Roland Hiebert, Donald Coffin, and Reginald William Pilcher. Posted to Brandon from Edmonton are Robert William Montgomery, Patrick John Greany, James Wagstaff, Alexander Clarke MacGregor, Reginald Albert Brown and John Ely Shore. Others to Toronto are Cecil Howard McBrien of Donalda, William Charles Milburn of Killam and Ernest Gordon Hudson of Lloydminster. To Brandon are William Albert Carson of Fort Saskatchewan and Thomas Currie of Rankine.

Air crew, all posted to Brandon, are John G. Keeling Barrie, John Cecil Douglas Bell and Charles Arthur Rainforth of Edmonton; Warren Walter Freeland and John Wilbur Freeland of Peace River; William Maynard French, Fairview; Gordon Webster MacDonald, Wanham; Horace Brougham Hillcoat, Yellowknife, N.W.T.; Michael Rico Shean, St. Paul and Donald Alexander Sinclair, Cold Lake.

George Harry Neate of Edmonton is posted to this city as elementary flying instructor.

Man's Conviction Is Being Appealed: Bail Is Granted

Appeal against conviction and two-year penitentiary sentence imposed on him by Mr. Justice W. C. Ives on a charge of breach of recognizance, was launched Friday afternoon by Neil D. Maclean, K.C., on behalf of Kenneth Abbott, who was convicted in supreme court Friday morning.

Chief Justice Horace Harvey set bail at $5,000 and Abbott was released from custody Saturday morning pending hearing of his appeal in October.

The appeal was taken on several grounds that the crown had proceeded by way of indictment; that the appellant was not brought before Magistrate A. I. Millar, K.C., on a warrant or oath that Abbott had failed to observe any or all of the conditions of his recognizance.

It was pleaded also that Abbott was not remanded by warrant until a sitting of a court having power to deal with his original offence, and that Mr. Justice Ives when he purported to sentence Abbott on October 2, 1939 was without jurisdiction.

Named Editor

Students' council of the University of Alberta appointed Max Stewart to be editor of the Students' Telephone Directory, in place of Peter Leacock, now at Sarcee camp, who will return to university too late to complete the booklet. The appointment was made at a special meeting of the council Friday night.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Selected stocks got back on their feet in today's market although the majority showed little inclination for a fast rallying sprint.

The list was a bit ragged until the final hour when buying in steels, rails and an assortment of specialties brightened the picture considerably.

GRAIN INSPECTIONS

WINNIPEG, Sept. 28.—Grain inspections Friday: Wheat, this year 995, last year 1,953 cars of contract wheat [illegible] 967 [illegible] 26-55 [illegible] 26-7 [illegible] 9-5, others 1-3, total 1,005-2,446.

FUTURES PRICES CONTINUE CLIMB

WINNIPEG, Sept. 28.—Strong prices at Chicago brought buyers into the wheat pit on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today and wheat futures prices continued their climb from pegged levels. Closing quotations were 1¼-1⅜ higher with October at 71½, December 73¼ and May 77½ cents a bushel.

The upturn in Winnipeg prices was believed to have been stimulated by the firm tone of the Chicago market where prices were nearly two cents higher. Both domestic and United States mills made purchases in the wheat pit where offerings were scarce.

WEEKLY LIVESTOCK REPORT
By Senior Markets Supervisor

Report from Edmonton stockyards for week ending Sept. 28.

Receipts—	Cattle	Calves	Hogs	Sheep
Week	1456	248	1608	261
Saturday	48	32	252	50

Trading throughout the week has been slow and draggy under a limited demand. All classes of butcher cattle under pressure at prices no better than steady. In-between kinds were 35c per cwt. lower for the week, and fat heavy steers 25c to 50c lower for the week. Very few good steers reached $7. Top choice light steers quoted $7¼. Salesmen expect a clean-up by the end of the week's trading at the week's decline. The following are the quotations:

Good to choice fed calves $7½-$8, good to choice steers $6½-$7¼, fair to medium $5¾-$6¼, common to fair $4½-$5½, good to choice heifers $6½-$7, fair to medium $5½-$6¼, common to fair $4-$5½, good to choice cows $4-$4½, common to fair $3-$3¾, canners and cutters $2¾ down, bulls $3-$4½.

Stockers and feeders continued steady. Good steers selling from $5½-$6, heifers mostly $5 down and cows $3¾ down.

Calves fully steady and in demand. Good to choice vealers $7½-$8, choice light $8½, others $7 down.

Hog market opened Monday at $8 for off-truck bacons, and advanced Wednesday to $8¼, closing Friday at $8¼, selects bringing a premium of 50c per cwt. and butchers discounted $1 per cwt.

Sheep and lambs steady and in good demand. Good to choice lambs $6½-$7, off car lambs topping $7¼, yearlings $5 down and ewes $3 down.

AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Sept. 28—Hogs 4,500 quotable top around 6.60; holdover 500; compared week ago: weights under 270 lbs. fully 25 lower, others steady to 10 lower; sows around steady.

Six U.S. Destroyers Strengthens Canada's Navy

The destroyer strength of the Royal Canadian Navy was almost doubled overnight with the recent acquisition of six over-age destroyers from the United States. Sailors of the R.C.N. are shown here as they broke out white ensigns over the former U.S. ships.

WAR CANNOT KILL BRITISH SENSE HUMOR

SEATTLE, Sept. 28 — Bomb-plagued Britons still can show a sense of humor through it all.

A letter which Donald Litchfield, Seattle newspaper artist, received yesterday from his mother, describing the discomforts of life in London, included a newspaper clipping about Dover landladies advertising "nice rooms, with every convenience, facing the enemy."

Yorkton Hockey Player Is Killed

British United Press
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

YORKTON, Sask., Sept. 28 — Loudy Slugoski, player for Yorkton Terriers, of the Saskatchewan Senior Hockey League, was killed this morning in one of the province's first hunting accidents of the season.

Slugoski was hunting with Howard Ware, Yorkton merchant and Slugoski's employer, when he was killed.

Slugoski's rifle went off as he was stepping out of the car in which he and Ware were driving. The young hockey player was killed instantaneously.

Alberta Oils

CALGARY, Sept. 28—Only a few scattered oil issues attracted attention in the opening session of Calgary stock exchange today. Prices for Lethbridge Pete, Madison, Extension and Arrow, only stocks traded, stuck close to previous bids or fractionally lower. Transfers, 3,978 shares.

BRITAIN GETS TANKS, PLANES FROM AMERICA

British United Press
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 28—Boeing Aircraft Company, whose production lines turned out one bomber every two weeks when the company first started building the great ships, now is putting out a complete ship every two days, company officials revealed Friday.

Commenting on suggestions that 25 "Flying Fortress Bombers" be sent to Britain, officials said the ships could be replaced in several weeks with the production schedules now in effect.

CHICAGO, Sept. 28—Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing Co., announced yesterday its Hammond, Ind., plant would build "a substantial number" of medium weight tanks for the British government and 2,306 81-millimeter mortars for the U.S. army.

The company would not reveal the number or cost of the British tanks, but indicated they would be similar to the American type weighing between 25 and 30 tons each.

The company said several months would be required for tooling and plant re-arrangement before production could begin. The company was a large producer of world war material.

British Bombers Raid Italo Base: Destroy Aircraft

British United Press
Exclusive Cable to Edmonton Bulletin

CAIRO, Sept. 28—A Royal Air Force communique says that British bombers raided the Italian air base at Sollum, on the Libyan-Egyptian border, scoring [illegible] three grounded planes and possibly damaging a fourth.

The South African Air Force attacked Magi, Ethiopia, Wednesday in waves, bombing military buildings and the airport and starting large fires. All British planes returned safely.

Italian planes raided Haifa, Palestine Thursday morning but caused no appreciable damage.

AMERICANS IN GERMANY MAKE DASH FOR HOME

Nazi Speakers Describe Pact As Defence Against U.S. and Russia

By RICHARD C. HOTTELET
United Press Staff Correspondent
Exclusive Cable to Edmonton Bulletin

BERLIN, Sept. 28.—Authorized German quarters today described the Tokyo-Berlin-Rome pact as "a red light on the horizon" against any material aid by the United States or Russia that would affect the outcome of the war in Europe or Asia.

The transfer of 50 over-age United States destroyers to Britain was cited as a parallel in response to a question as to whether Russian supplies of war materials to China would bring the three [illegible] into collision with Russia.

GOING HOME

Meanwhile it is reported from Berlin today Edwin Hartrich of Columbia Broadcasting Company, revealed that members of the American colony were [illegible] about "having to make a dash home."

He said many Americans he had talked with felt they should make preparations for return to the United States "because they feel there is a distinct possibility as viewed from this capital that the United States will enter the war."

The spokesman declined to state whether the Dutch East Indies belonged to the Asiatic or European sphere of influence as "that question was not connected with any discussion of the three-power pact."

Referring to allegations that the alliance was aimed at the United States, the informant said: "The three-power pact is not directed against any nation but against warmongers who seek to interfere with the new world order."

The gold mines of North Wales produced $2,030 worth of gold during 1938.

Peace And War Make Strange Contrast In An English Meadow

A strange contrast indeed is this, and one that only war could produce, as harmless sheep wander past one of the Nazi engines of death that failed to reach its objective. The wrecked plane was brought down "somewhere in England."

PACT IS SIGN AXIS REVERSE PAPER STATES

NEW YORK, Sept. 28—The New York Times said today the signing of the German-Italian-Japanese pact shows clearly that the plans of the axis for the swift conquest of Britain have met with a real reverse "and that they now feel it necessary to call upon fresh reinforcements in the form of the phychology of fear."

"Japan has [illegible] for entering the alliance," said the Times editorially. "She needs to convince [illegible] exhausted people that they have friends abroad and to force the United States [illegible] to lift the sanctions which now promise to handicap her military efforts, or at least to refrain from imposing new ones.

"On their side the axis powers are [illegible] the effective assistance which the United States is giving Britain. . . . The authors of the new alliance have miscalculated badly if they think it possible to confuse the American people about the importance of the successful defence of the British Islands and the eventual victory of Britain in this war. . . ."

Turk Newspapers See Closer Unity

ANKARA, Sept. 28. — Turkish newspapers interpreted the new Rome-Berlin-Tokyo alliance last night as "establishing a closer identity of interests among Russia, England and the United States." Turkey is a non-belligerent ally of Britain but is pledged against any step which might involve conflict with Russia.

Stay At Work

LONDON, Sept. 28—Civil servants were instructed Friday to continue their work during air raids unless there should be real risk of government offices being bombed. Workers of government departments were asked to conform to the new arrangements.

STATEMENT ON DAKAR AFFAIR MAY COME SOON

LONDON, Sept. 28. — Rising criticism for the handling of the Dakar expedition inspired predictions Friday that Prime Minister Churchill soon would make a formal statement on failure of the Free French-British attempt to align French West Africa into opposition against Germany.

Lobby talk between members of the House of Commons indicated detailed questions would be asked.

The tabloid Daily Mirror carried a talk of parliamentary criticism under the banner line, "Dakar probe is demanded," and commented editorially that "Dakar has claims to rank with the lowest depths of imbecility to which we have yet sunk."

The Daily Herald (Labor) said "Dakar echoes Narvik. That is why it disturbs us. That is why parliament must probe the origins of this fiasco and prevent its repetition."

Narvik is the Norwegian oreshipping port where British troops were withdrawn after making inroads against the Germans.

Rumania To Ask For Extradition Magda Lupescu

BUCHAREST, Sept. 28.—Diplomatic circles said Friday that the Rumanian government has decided to ask both the Spanish and Portuguese governments for the extradition of Mme. Magda Lupescu, former King Carol's intimate, and Ernest Urdareanu, former Rumanian minister of state without portfolio.

These quarters said the Iron Guardists are seeking to bring the abdicated monarch's closest friends to trial on a variety of charges, claiming that a movement to restore Carol to the throne has already been discovered.

Nurse Killed

TORONTO, Sept. 28.—Mrs. William Bell, Toronto, has been notified by Dominion authorities of the death of her daughter, Marian Elizabeth Bell, a nursing sister attached to the 15th General Hospital, with the Canadian Active Service Force overseas. She was killed in a motor accident Wednesday. Miss Bell is believed first Canadian nurse killed overseas.

NAZIS' ACTION REMINDER OF 23 YEARS AGO

Attempt Line-Up Mexico, Japan Against U.S. Then Revealed

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Hitler's action in bringing Japan into an alliance with the Rome-Berlin axis, with its implied threat to the United States to stay out of the war, recalls he notorious Zimmerman note of 23 years ago, one of the factors in a sequence that brought the United States into the first conflict against Germany.

Newspaper readers on the morning of March 1, 1917, were amazed to read:

"Washington, D.C., Feb. 28.—The Associated Press is enabled to reveal that Germany, in planning unrestricted submarine warfare and counting its consequences, proposed an alliance with Mexico and Japan to make war on the United States, if this country should not remain neutral. . . ."

Mexico, for her reward, was to get general financial support from Germany, and to be given Texas, New Mexico and Arizona. Japan, through Mexican mediation, was to be urged to join in the attack on the United States.

The plan was embodied in a secret coded note sent by Dr. Arthur Zimmerman, the Kaiser's foreign secretary, to Count von Bernstorff, ambassador to Washington, for relay to von Echardt, German minister to Mexico.

The story was released through the Associated Press by Robert Lansing, secretary of state, but at that time the state department could not be named as the source. On the demand of the senate, however, President Wilson vouched for its authenticity. Years later it became known the note had been intercepted by the British intelligence service which turned it over to the admiralty for decoding. The state department said the major reason for Lansing's withholding the facts of how the message had come to the administration was the necessity for concealing Britain's knowledge of German codes.

Safeblowers Get $750 In Two Towns

CALGARY, Sept. 28—Royal Canadian Mounted Police Friday were looking for safeblowers who pulled jobs early yesterday morning at two adjoining towns in eastern Alberta, Naco and Sedalia, and escaped with $750. At Naco the post office safe was blown and $400 stolen. In Sedalia $350 was taken from a store safe. Waco is about 40 miles east of Hanna, and Sedalia is about 12 miles east of Naco.

COURT AWARDS DAMAGES FOR CAR INJURIES

Damages totalling $543.75 were awarded by Mr Justice A. F. Ewing in supreme court Friday to Mrs. Josephine E. Ladd, Edmonton widow, for injuries received in an accident on the St. Albert trail on January 10, 1938. Defendants to the action were Maurice Auest and Henry Auest, St. Albert district farmers, driver and owner of the automobile concerned in the accident.

The court held that Maurice Auest was negligent in not slackening speed when he sighted Mrs. Ladd, and in not sounding his horn to warn her of his approach.

It was held by the court also that Mrs. Ladd contributed to the accident by walking on the wrong side of the road. Degree of negligence was equally divided between the parties. Total award made by the court was $1,187, of which the plaintiff recovers only 50 per cent.

James H. Ogilvie acted for the plaintiff and Hugh C. Macdonald, K.C., for the defendants.

New Appointments Are Announced By Varsity President

New appointments, promotions, leaves of absence and resignations of the staff of the University of Alberta were announced Saturday by Dr. W. A. R. Kerr, president, following a meeting of the executive committee of the board of governors.

The president expressed his satisfaction at the registration figures which indicate that in spite of the heavy enlistment in the armed forces, employment on harvesting operations, and employment also of students on contract, the enrolment showed only a minor decrease from that of a year ago.

In order to meet the demand of the army for engineers the University has admitted some 40 additional qualified applicants into the faculty of applied science. To provide space for drafting tables the Edmonton School Board put the old Commercial High School building in Garneau at the University's disposition and work is already under way.

The first parade of the University Reserve Battalion took place on Friday afternoon, some eight to nine hundred men turning out under the command of Lieut.-Colonel P. S. Warren.

Following are the staff changes:

Leave of absence for military service—Dr. G. B. Thurston, instructor in operative dentistry, has enlisted in the Canadian Army Dental Corps; Mr. Denis M. Healy, lecturer in modern languages, enlisted in the Air Force; Dr. C. R. Tracy, lecturer in English, to be adjutant of the C.O.T.C., University of Alberta.

Promotions—Dr. H. R. MacLean from demonstrator to instructor in operative dentistry.

NEW APPOINTMENTS

Anatomy—Sessional demonstrators: Dr. Mitro Michael Seredo, Dr. Harold Lane Richards, Dr. Olav Rostrup, Dr. Albert Wm. Hardy, Dr. John Miskew.

Civil Engineering—L. E. Gads, B.Sc. (Alta.) to be sessional demonstrator in civil engineering; G. A. Govier, B.Sc. (McGill) sessional instructor in civil engineering (plant design).

Dentistry—Dr. William Orobko to be demonstrator in operative dentistry; Dr. Paul Herview to be demonstrator in operative dentistry.

AYLING NAMED AS CHAIRMAN OF COMMITTEE

E. H. Ayling was nominated chairman of the Citizens' Committee at a meeting of the executive of that body held Friday evening at the Corona hotel.

He succeeds John Dower who has held the office for the past two years. Mr. Dower's name was put in nomination but he asked that it be withdrawn as he would be absent from the city frequently this winter, and could not devote the time necessary to the committee's work.

The following ware named members of the nominating committee: John Dower, E. H. Ayling, Harvey Harrison, B. C. Whittaker, Percy Herring, L. Y. Cairns, K.C., and G. W. Auxier.

Vice-chairman of the committee will be Harvey Harrison and B. C. Whittaker was re-elected as secretary. L. Y. Cairns was named to head the publicity committee, and Percy Herring the finance committee. The campaign committee will be under the chairmanship of G. W. Auxier.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

The recently-signed triple alliance between Germany, Italy and Japan prompted The Bulletin's Inquiring Reporter to seek reactions of Edmontonians on this welding of the totalitarian states against democracy.

THE ANSWERS

ALDERMAN J. H. OGILVIE, barrister: This terror agreement holds no terror for the democratic nations. The agreement has existed for a considerable time, but had not been translated to writing. It might appear the dictators did not trust each other. The general result of this threat will be to consolidate the democracies against the dictators.

• • •

FRED MITCHELL, accountant: This pact can have only one result. It will intensify the hatred for the dictators in the democracies, and make them more determined than ever to restore peace and goodwill on earth.

• • •

THOMAS MORRISON, salesman: The mutual admiration society of the dictators was working overtime, to judge by the opening sentences of the pact. While they plan to carve up the world for themselves these dictators are accumulating a wrath amongst other nations which will end for all time their reign of lawlessness and brutality.

A MESSAGE TO PARENTS
By Jackson Bros., Optometrist

Educators say that thousands of school children struggle with their studies because of defective vision. When a bright child consistently brings home poor marks, something must be wrong.

No child with defective vision has a proper chance in the battle of life. A scientific examination of children's eyes such as we make is a sure way to determine whether they have normal vision. Do not neglect your children's eyes. Let us examine them.

Remember this, that defective vision, if corrected in a child's eyes during school life, will lessen that child's chance of having to wear glasses in later life.

Visit our eyesight clinic which is open to you every day except Sundays and Holidays, and have our registered Optometrist, who holds his degree by university examination, give your eyes a thorough eyesight examination.

If you require glasses, you may have the use of them, while paying for them, by using our well established easy payment plan, in weekly or monthly payments.

For your appointment, call, write or phone 21747.

To Call Recruits

JOSEPH P. McISAAC, K.C., Alberta registrar for national war services, who announced Saturday that the call for recruits in the 21-, 22- and 23-year-old classes to report for military training October 9, will go out some time next week. Those whose medical history cards have shown them physically fit will be called.

$2,500 MARK IS REACHED BY SPITFIRE FUND

Small and Large Donations Pour Into Campaign Headquarters

Edmonton's Spitfire fund climbed to the $2,500 mark on the fourth day of the drive, it was announced by Comptroller A. A. Campbell, treasurer of the fund.

During the last few days donations small and large have been coming into the city hall, and to the chartered bank branches. So far only a few of the Edmonton business houses have responded to the call, but it is anticipated that next week the subscriptions from this source will start coming in.

OUT-OF-TOWN DONATIONS

As has been usual during the early days of the drive numerous donations have been received from points outside the city.

Amongst the donations received Thursday was $1.97 from the children in room 14, Queen's Avenue school, who raised this amount through the sale of coat hangers. Next week they are putting on a drive for empty bottles which will be sold for the fund.

Little Kathleen Kelly turned in her savings bank, which, when the city treasurer had counted its contents, contained $2.38 in coppers.

The Mrs. William Aberhart group of the Red Cross Society sent in a cheque for $50, while the Woodland Dairy Co., and the Arctic Ice Co. each sent cheques for $25.

$150 CONTRIBUTION

Donation of $150 was received from the Edmonton Rotary Club, and $39 from the British America Paint Co Ltd. and staff. The Lyric Musical Club of Edmonton donated $25 and the Alberta Avenue Lawn Bowling Club sent a cheque for $20.

The Crown Paving and Construction Co. Ltd. and Alberta Concrete Products Ltd., each donated $50, and the Edmonton Credit Co and Weber Bros. sent cheques for $12.50.

DANNY CUPID'S ACK-ACK ARROW DOWNS AIRMAN

First serious "casualty" to hit the R.C.A.F. recruiting office here is announced Saturday by Flying Officer Thomson. The casualty is not the result of dive-bombing or ack-ack fire but is a victim of one of the world's oldest weapons, a shaft from the quiver of little Dan Cupid.

The "casualty" is Corp. A. Jackson of the recruiting office staff, who is being married Saturday to Miss Marjorie Graham of this city.

RECRUITS WILL BE CALLED FOR ARMY TRAINING

Registrar States Physically Fit Men Will Enter Camps October 9

Call to recruits in the three classes being drafted in Alberta for military training will be sent out during the coming week, it was announced Saturday by J. P. McIsaac, Alberta registrar for the War Services act. The exact date on which the call will be made is not decided yet. Recruits will enter camp on October 9, according to present plans.

The classes being called are the 21-year-olds, the 22-year-olds and the 23-year-olds in the Calgary and Edmonton east and west federal ridings.

Postponements have been granted to all farmers, farm laborers and university students in these classes.

The call for the 21 and 22-year-old classes to present themselves for medical examination, went out several days ago, and returns in these classes are practically completed. The medical examination call in the case of the 23-year-old class went out early this week, and a special appeal was made to all in this class to complete their medical examination as soon as possible.

Through The Mill

Mark Twain's loveable rogue, Huckleberry Finn, might have told a more ingenious story than the chap in police court Saturday, charged with fishing without a license in a prohibited stream, but we doubt it.

It happened on the bright early autumn morning of September 2 on the blue sparkling waters of the Macleod river.

• • •

Accused said he was on a berry-picking expedition. As the fruit on the opposite side of the stream seemed, as always, most luscious and plentiful it was decided to ferry across on a raft. Companion of the accused had his fishing tackle along, so to pass away the time on the crossing he cast his line into the water.

• • •

Just then that pesky prowler, the game warden, emerges from the shrubbery lining the shore. He yells loud and long at the men on the raft.

• • •

"Have you fellows got a license to fish?" was the shouted query.

So the companion of accused, according to his story, handed his rod and reel over to the former, saying: "Hold this until I get the fishing license out of my wallet."

Accused courteously obliged and as a result was pinched for fishing without a license and fishing for trout in waters where this is prohibited.

• • •

That was the explanation given by accused. Then the fish warden told his story and it was a whole lot different. The warden said accused had pretended to not hear his shouts from the shore and that when the warden approached accused started an argument about the law in regards to the kind of fish being fished for. And furthermore: "There was a grasshopper bait on the hook when I looked at your line," said the warden.

• • •

Trout go for grasshoppers just like southern darkies go for watermelon. The magistrate decided that our angler had tried to pull too many angles and if he didn't catch anything on the morning in question it was no reason why he shouldn't catch something now, so a fine of $5 and costs was imposed.

• • •

Two young men charged with breaking and entering a garage at Sedgwick and with theft of a truck, were remanded until Monday.

Pilot Jack Moar, Canadian Airways, on Saturday was northbound from Fort Simpson to Aklavik.

Chinese At University Still Too Youthful For National Registration

Only one student enrolled at the University of Alberta this year does not possess a national registration card. He will not be fined for not having one, for he is not old enough to receive one. Under the Dominion of Canada National Registration Regulations he will not be eligible until March 22, 1941, when he will be 16.

This brilliant student who is entering the University of Alberta at the age of 15 is Donald Quon of High River, Alberta. He is registered in the faculty of applied science for a B.Sc. degree in mining engineering. In 1944 he should receive his degree at the age of nineteen.

Mr. Quon took his public school at Winnifred, Alberta, which is near Medicine Hat. He spent five years in public school instead of the usual eight, and entered high school at the age of eleven. He attended high school at High River, Alberta, where his parents now reside. While in high school he had consistently high marks. In his grade twelve work he had an average of 90 per cent. Mathematics were his favorite subject in high school, and he received his highest marks in them.

He is attending the university on a University of Alberta matriculation scholarship which pays his tuition fees for three years. His course is a four year one but by the end of the three years he will no doubt have another scholarship or so.

Mr. Quon is a Canadian of Chinese descent. His father is Chong Quon of High River. A sister of Mr. Quon's will receive her degree in medicine this year from the University of California. His elder brother is taking a course in civil engineering at the Renssailer Polytechnic at Troy, New York.

When interviewed Mr. Quon was already registered as a freshman and had his little green and yellow "freshie" cap, and looked quite ready to take his part in the University life.

Those of the students who know of him feel rather proud that he is attending the same institution and hope that he will enjoy his stay here.

Handicraft Guild Of Calder Community League Holds Third Annual Display

Community Hall Is Colorful Setting For Exhibition As More Than 300 Patrons Call To See Lovely Examples Of Handicraft

CRAFT work that has kept skillful fingers busy during the past year and that has proven a common bond of interest to Handicraft Guild members, drew the enthusiastic comment and exclamation of more than 300 patrons who visited the annual display of work of the Calder Community League Handicraft Guild arranged in the rooms of the Community hall on Wednesday afternoon and evening. The event was the third annual display.

Booths were colorful and interesting and were arranged tastefully around the walls of the main auditorium, while in an attractively flag-lined enclosure, tea was served by the members. Welcomed at the door by Mrs. W. G. McConachie, gracious and talented president of the guild, the guests were shown the many and interesting exhibits by members of the guild and their assistants.

Among the guests who called during the afternoon were Mrs. J. C. Bowen, wife of the lieutenant-governor of the province, and her daughter, Mrs. Ruth Bowen [illegible]. Mrs. William Aberhart, wife of the premier, called during the afternoon and with her were Mrs. W. A. F[illegible]low and Miss Florence Cottingham and many other Edmonton women prominent in social, community and handicraft circles.

ALL TYPES

All types of needlework, quilting, knitting, embroidery, needlepoint, sewing and woolen work were shown on the sewing booths. Beaten, brass work that has proven a useful, interesting hobby to several of the members featured another display, while leathercraft displays—gloves, book covers, [illegible] belts and knitting bags, drew much favorable comment. Weaving, [illegible] olden [illegible] that lately has been revived, proved the inspiration of several other booths.

Women's University Club Anticipates Worthwhile Year Of Association Together

General Meetings, Social Functions and Study Groups Will Give Varied and Colorful Atmosphere To Forthcoming Year

HIGHLIGHTED by eight attractive general meetings and featuring smaller, more informal but none the less interesting study-group gatherings to be held at intervals during the fall and winter months, the program of activity of the Women's University Club of Edmonton for the coming season includes in its breadth and range avenues of interest for all its members and many members-to-be. Announcement of the program is made today.

Mrs. H. C. Newland, formerly first vice-president of the club has been asked to assume the position of president for the coming season, a position made vacant by the resignation of Mrs. Edgar Stansfield.

Social activities for the year include a tea to be held at the home of the honorary president, Mrs. W. A. R. Kerr at No. 1, University Campus, a tea for the new members at the home of the president and the annual dinner.

The first meeting of the club on Wednesday, October 9 in the Macdonald hotel at eight o'clock in the evening will introduce Dr. Samuel Everett as guest speaker. Dr. Everett is a visiting American educationalist, and a members of the National Education Assocation in Washington, and prominent author, will have a timely address on educational matters to give on the occasion. Miss Lorene Maguire will give a report of the triennial meeting in Calgary at that time.

In November, Miss Julia Matouskuva, national program and education secretary of the Y. W. C. A. will speak, the occasion being a tea at the home of Mrs. Kerr. Members of the Canadian Handicraft guild will explain and demonstrate sime of their activities when the club is entertained at tea with them in December. Latin America will form the subject of the January paper, and in February Mrs. Chester D. Gainer will speak on the Defence of Canada Act.

Miss Lillian T[illegible], director of Children's Social Service agencies, has been asked to address the March meeting and in April reports will be given from study groups on world problems. Annual business will feature the annual meeting arranged for late spring, when an attractive program will be arranged.

Weeds Are Wanted!

By Nellie McClung

Copyright Reserved

THERE was a poem written some years ago by a librarian in Calgary, Miss Georgina Thomson, in which praise was given to the stout spirit of the wayside weed. She spoke of the way that weeds move in on a vacant lot, and set themselves up without anyone's help or approval. There was a hint in the poem that it was quite possible these humble little plants knew something unknown to mortals, and that this cherished secret helped them to survive in an unfriendly world. The poem got a prize in the Alberta poetry contest, but the judges, in explaining their decisions, deplored the commonplace subject that Miss Thomson had chosen.

Now something has happened to bring Miss Thomson's poem to mind. Dandelions, burdock and couch grass did know something. They knew that some day they would be needed, that some day they would be the subject of government bulletins, for these little renegades hold in their homely stalks and flowers something precious to human beings. These weeds are wanted for their medicinal properties. They are called to the colors!

Before the war the growing of medicinal herbs was carried on extensively in several European countries, particularly Spain and Italy. In Britain too there were profitable herb gardens. Now Spain and Italy are cut off and the herb gardens of Britain are planted with potatoes and cabbage, so Canada is asked to come to the rescue. According to an article in the London Spectator of July 19, 1940, couch grass roots are quoted in London at fifty-five shillings per hundred weight and dandelion roots at eighty shillings. This news is of interest to Canadian farmers who have labored hard to eradicate these weeds.

IN NEWS AGAIN

I always knew that couch grass so persistent and full of life that even a piece of the root an inch long will start another plant, must have some purpose, and when Dr Cora Hind brought back the astonishing news from Russia that it had been crossed with wheat at one of the laboratories there and had produced a perennial grain that was suitable for cattle feeding, with all the hardiness of its base born father and some of the nutritious qualities of its highly respectable mother, that seemed to be romance enough for this evil little pest! But now it's in the news again. A price is set on its head and national bodies like the Women's Institutes, are asked to organize their members and school children for the gathering of these plants.

The list of plants that are wanted for their medicinal properties comprise, elder flowers, marigold flowers, poppy petals, and cammomile flowers. The prices of these as listed in London run from 65 shillings per hundred-weight for the elder flowers to 400 shillings for the cammomile. Foxglove leaves for digitalis are also in demand.

MAKING STUDY

The Spectator article gives an address where additional information may be obtained—Messrs. Brome and Schimmer, 6 Leather Market, S.E. 1, London, and the Agricultural Departments of each of the provinces are making a study of this whole question and will be able to give definite information regarding each phase of it.

Elderly people who feel they cannot take guest children or perform the arduous duties of war work will welcome a chance to help their country by raising some of these plants. Foxglove and marigold will appeal to the garden lovers for their beauty and the ease with which they can be grown in almost all parts of Canada. But it must be remembered that the harvesting will entail careful hand work, for all roots and leaves must be clean and dried.

CRY AROSE

The medicinal value of these plants and the fact that there is a shortage aof them now in the Empire, does not mean that fortunes can be made from their cultivation. At the end of the last war a cry arose for the cultivation of medicinal plants in British Columbia, where there are forty wild plants to be found in the woods with a definite therapeutic value. The inducement of large profits on small investments was held out by irresponsible writers and some expensive experiments were made. These were followed by disappointments and recriminations. Now the Department of Agriculture are urging all who may be interested to secure full information before launching out in any ambitious program for raising these plants for export. But the collecting of dandelion roots can begin at once, to the improvement of lawns and gardens, if our school children could be induced to dig up their spending money this way and definitely help their country in its time of need.

Canadian farmers are also advised that flax will be a profitable crop during these war years, for the supply of Irish flax has fallen off and the needs during war time are increased. Flax is used for the linen in machine gun webbing, ambulance and truck covers, hospital supplies etc., etc. It is interesting to note that the first flax grown on the prairies was the work of the Mennonites soon after their arrival in 1861. They brought the seed with them from Russia. But the very first flax seed sown in Canada came with the German settlers.

FLAX CROP PAYS

Flax has always been a paying crop if it escapes the frost. The average yield is about two tons of straw per acre which, when processed, might produce four hundred pounds of fibre. The price of flax fibre is $470.00 a ton. A field of flax with its soft blue flowers is a sight to remember.

Since reading the bulletins, I have hunted out all the fox-glove seedlings I can find on the place, watered and cultivated around them. They have suddenly become precious. "Fairies' Thimbles", some poetic soul has called them. They are biennial plants and the books say they should be planted each year in June and then they will bloom the next year. But they seem to seed themselves freely and ask only a little living space. I first heard of the fox-glove from the Manitoba school reader in the delightful poem beginning:

"A fair little girl sat under a tree
Sewing as long as her eyes could see
Then smoothed her work and folded it right
And said 'Dear work, Good-night, Good-night.'"

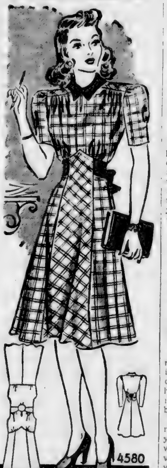
Then as the poet described the coming on of evening, these lines occur:

"The tall pink fox-glove bowed her head
The violets curtsied and went to bed
And good little Lucy tied up her hair
And said on her knees her evening prayer."

The flowers are bell-shaped in shades of pink with a quaint pattern inside. The green leaves on second year plants yield digitalis, a standard remedy for the human engine when it develops a "knock".

Bulletin Patterns

Pert Office or Campus Frock



Working girl . . . schoolgirl . . . or just busy young miss about town—Pattern 4580 by Anne Adams is a frock you'll really need! The skirt with its bias front panel, has the jaunty flare girls adore. And the waist-seam swoops to a high point for that grand "slim-away" look. There are nicely bloused lines in the yoked bodice, and long, three-quarter or short sleeves. Make the bow-tying sash just in back, or for greater effectivensss, let it come from the front — either from the panel seams or stitched right on top. Wouldn't the prim little collar and the sash be lively in velveteen on a frock of plaid or checked wool?

Pattern 4580 is available in junior miss sizes 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16 and 17. Size 13 takes 3½ yards 39 inch fabric and ¾ yard contrast.

Send 20c in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

Send your order to The Edmonton Bulletin, Pattern Department, 60 Front St. W., Toronto, Ontario.

POST-NUPTIAL AFFAIR

Entertaining at her home on Saturday afternoon, Mrs. H. G. Bowley, the former Miss Ilene Grant, whose marriage took place in Regina recently, was hostess to a number of her friends at a post-nuptial tea. Receiving with the hostesses was Mrs. H. S. Bowley, mother of Mr. Bowley. Presiding at the tea-table laid with an ecru lace cloth and centred with a bouquet of asters, sweet-peas and smilax, were Mrs. F. Erikamp, Mrs. F. J. Pinnell and Mrs. F. Gleave. Serviteurs during the afternoon were Miss Patricia Sullivan and Miss Betty Pinnell. Mrs. H. Spelman showed the guests the wedding gifts.

Dorothy Dix Says:

Dear Miss Dix: I am a girl of 19 years of age. Recently graduated from high school. I must go to work to support myself, as my father gets a small salary and we have a big family. What advice can you give me?

LALLA

Answer. Well, Lalla, my first piece of advice is to urge you to try to find out what nature intended you to do. Perhaps you haven't any great talent, but you are sure to have certain aptitudes, things for which you have a "turn" for doing. Maybe you have a head for figures and always got the highest marks in mathematics in school. Maybe you are handy with the needle and can take a wisp of velvet and a bunch of flowers from the 10-cent store and turn them into a hat that looks like a Paris confection.

Maybe you can put on a hand-me-down from the bargain basement and make it look like a million dollars by the way you wear it. Maybe you have a way with children so all the kids in the neighborhood follow you wherever you go. Maybe, as the old Negro cooks say, you have only to pass your hand over a pot on the stove to make the stew in it turn into a ragout that will whet he appetite of a gourmet.

You have never thought of any of these little characteristics being worth noticing. You and your family have just thought of them as Lalla's ways. But when you come to decide on your life's work they are vitally important because they point the way to the career that you should follow.

For none of us ever do any real good work unless we are doing the thing we like to do, the thing we are interested in doing, the thing we do as a pleasure instead of a task. If you have to do something that bores you and rubs you wrong somehow, you can't put any heart interest in it. And the minute you do your stint you put it out of your mind and forget it.

But if your work is something that you enjoy doing and that you have skill and pride in doing, you don't count the hours you put in on it. When you have done your day's work you carry it subconsciously in your mind and you are always thinking about how to improve your technique and new and better ways of doing it.

Then I would urge you to study your job and to make yourself an expert in whatever you are trying to do. The main reason why men are paid more money for their work than women are is because when a man picks out a career he expects to follow it as long as he lives, while a girl regards her work as just a temporary job.

Now, maybe you will marry and maybe you won't. In these days it is by no means a foregone conclusion that every girl will get a husband, nor is it certain that even if she gets a husband that he will be able to support her.

And never forget even for a moment that you are going to write your own price tag, and in the end what you will find in your pay envelope will be just exactly what you rate in efficiency.

And make a business of business. By that I mean give your thoughts and your time and your interest to your work during working hours instead of devoting one lobe of your brain to your job and the balance of whatever brains you may possess to your dates and your looks.

When you come to work, dress the part. Wear plain, sensible clothes that make you look like an efficient business woman instead of a debutante who has just dropped in to see papa on her way to a cocktail party.

DOROTHY DIX.

What To Do

Will you please tell me what I should have done in this matter? A friend was visiting me and was very untidy in her room. She left her things scattered about the room; put cream on her face which soiled the pillow case and was generally late for meals. My mother thinks I should have told her about these things, but I just could not speak to her about them. Thank you for your advice.

MISS N. S. J.

Answer: I don't know what you could have done but give a sigh of relief when your friend left and not ask her again. You might once or twice have picked things up for her and said pleasantly that you would play maid as you had no servant in the house to wait on her. This would have been a gentle hint. But certainly your friend could not have been well brought up or she would have had some thought for her hostess. To be careless about getting cream on nice pillow cases, to drop clothes anywhere about the room and to be late for meals are all indications of an inconsiderate nature. I don't wonder your mother was annoyed.

Regular services are conducted by Buddhist priests in Tokyo to pray for the souls of fish eaten by the people of the land. The Japanese religion dictates that no living thing is to be killed for food and no flesh eaten, but most Japanese eat fish daily.

Try These Tasty Recipes For Apple Delights

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Apples are low cost, excellent and make good eating from both taste and nutrition standpoints. These recipes will help you make the most of our abundant apple supply.

APPLE GINGERBREAD UPSIDE DOWN

Two or three tart apples, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon.

Pare and core apples and cut them in thin slices. Melt butter in a heavy pan, add brown sugar and cinnamon and arrange the apples in an overlapping layer on top. Cover with this cake batter:

One-fourth cup shortening, ¾ cup brown sugar, ½ cup molasses, 1¼ cups all-purpose flour, 1 egg, ½ teaspoon salt, ¾ teaspoon ginger, ⅛ teaspoon cinnamon, ¾ teaspoon soda, ½ cup boiling water or ½ cup sour milk or buttermilk.

Cream the shortening and sugar and then add the well-beaten egg and the molasses. Sift flour with the spices, soda and salt. Add to molasses mixture alternately with the hot water or milk. Pour over apples. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 to 35 minutes. Serve hot with whipped cream or hard sauce.

APPLE CRISP

(Serves 4 to 6)

Two cups sliced apples, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ cup water, ¾ cup flour, ½ cup shortening, 1 cup brown sugar.

Put apples in greased baking dish. Sprinkle with cinnamon and then pour in ½ cup water. Work the flour, shortening and brown sugar together and sprinkle over the apples. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 to 40 minutes.

APPLE TAPIOCA

(Serves 4 to 6)

Three apples, sliced thin, ½ cup brown sugar, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 cup raisins, 2½ cups hot water, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup brown sugar, 1-3 cup granulated tapioca.

Put the apples and raisins in a deep, buttered baking dish. Add the ½ cup brown sugar, the spices and the butter. Cook the tapioca in a double boiler with the salt, water and ¼ cup of brown sugar and pour over the apples. Bake in a moderate over (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes or until apples are soft. Serve hot with cream or hard sauce.

Monday's Menu

Points For Parents

By EDYTH THOMAS WALLACE

Bill: "Let's eat some cookies."
Tom: "No, we can't until mother comes home. I can't ever take things to eat without asking her. That's a rule at our house."

Bill: "Will your mother whip you because we ate the cookies?"
Tom: "I don't know. Sometimes she doesn't care and sometimes she cares an awful lot."

Consistency in discipline helps both parents and children.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Twice within the last week a reader has asked me to discuss worms in children. I am glad to oblige but there is so little to be said about these disagreeable parasites. But, perhaps, that little needs to be said often.

Worms in children are much less common than mothers imagine. According to a leading pediatrician almost every ailment known to flesh has, at some time or another, been attributed to worms. He said that he saw just about six cases of worms in his city patients in one year.

There are so many groundless superstitions about the symptoms of worms. People dose their children for worms because they grit their teeth or scratch their noses or bite finger-nails or look pale or have black circles under their eyes. None of these symptoms has the slightest relation to worms. Symptoms of worms are not easy to define. Persistent itching around the rectum might be indicative of pin worms. Almost any symptom one could name or none at all might be due to round worms or tape worms.

But the presence of worms need not be suspected by symptoms but because they can be seen in the stools. If there is any real reason to imagine that a child has worms, the stools should be put under a magnifying glass and then one knows not only that the child has worms, but their kind and therefore the proper treatment for their riddance.

Worms are acquired by eating food on which there are live worm eggs. They hatch in the intestines. This is just one good reason for washing all uncooked fruits before eating. Better yet, peel them.

WASH HANDS

Once acquired children can reinoculate themselves by failure to wash hands after going to the toilet. The worms are again swallowed from or scratched under the flesh by dirty hands.

If adults who are worm-infested, and also careless and dirty, handle foods they too might be agents for the distribution of worm eggs. Every single hygienic measure for keeping food clean and for keeping ourselves clean is calculated to prevent ourselves becoming a host to intestinal parasites.

When we do acquire them we need medical aid, not a patent medicine bought at the drug store and used with as little caution as an ordinary physic. Don't do that.

Any reader interested may obtain my leaflet, "First Aid for Common Emergencies," for the usual three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope sent in with a request to Mrs. Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine department in care of this newspaper.

> Myrtle Meyer Eldred will answer your questions about diet, general care and management of children if you will send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your letter to Mrs. Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine department in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

THERE ARE NO TWO-HEADED SNAKES

Some snakes have tails that are shaped like their heads, and thus fool their enemies, but there are no snakes with a head at each end of the body. The "two-headed snake" of China looks almost exactly the same at each end, as the tail is shaped and marked like the head, and even behaves like it. This snake will even pretend to strike with its tail, and most people believe the snake truly has two heads.

Mrs. Kenneth Montgomery entertained a number of friends at the tea hour on Sunday afternoon at her home when guests of honor were Miss Marjorie Montgomery and Miss Beth Livingston, bride-elects of the near future, Mrs. Jack Marshall, whose marriage took place recently, and Mrs. N McPhee who is leaving shortly to make her home in Spokane. Presiding at the tea-table which was laid with an ecru lace cloth and centred with gladioli, flanked with maroon-toned tapers were Mrs. Alfred Livingston, Mrs. Hugh Montgomery of Wetaskiwin, Mrs. Gerald O'Connor and Mrs. Lou Davidson. Assisting as serviteurs were Mrs. Arthur Bragg, Mrs. Fred Martin, Mrs. Alfred Bramley-Moore, Mrs. Alex Sinclair, Mrs. Arthur Carlson, Mrs. Gordon Ozarko, and Miss Melba Wright.

Beauty After Forty

By EDYTH THORNTON McLEOD

Coating For Beauty

The large woman who is in the 40-plus class should never wear "chubbies." The longer ones with smooth finish are the things.

It is never too late or too early to talk about coats, as we seem to be always at the season for either planning to buy or buying a coat. And there is no article of a woman's wardrobe which is so important and which requires so much thought as to beauty, style and comfort.

The woman of forty-plus must be particularly careful in selecting her coat. Please, when trying on coats, study your figure from every angle in a full-length mirror. Don't let your enthusiasm for the beauty of a coat in the hand influence your choice of it on your figure. You must like the way it looks on YOU!

When you select a coat, remember, if you are the large, heavy type, you must not wear a chubby fur jacket. No, no, they are not for you. Rather must you choose the coat built along classic lines; simple, straight-cut, without belt or fancy pockets.

If your shoulders are heavy and you have that dowager's hump, avoid collars or fluffy, long-haired furs. Flat bands of smooth fur are most flattering. The collarless coat, without fur is always a wise choice.

Dull-finished, lightweight materials are the ones for you. Those with a brilliant or raised surface will make you look huge. "Warmth without weight" should be your choice. Smooth, soft-fitting, long lines are always smart and always in fashion.

If you are the opulent lady who buys a fur coat, go slow, choose wisely and well. Straight lines with slightly padded shoulders are best. The wide shoulder line seems to make the body look narrower. Persian lamb is the perfect fur for you. Caracul is beautiful, with dignity, but a bit on the brilliant side. The deep highlights in caracul tend to make you look larger. Don't, please, don't choose a silver fox jacket. I don't care how much you love them, they will not flatter you. They make even the slenderest woman look top-heavy.

If you must have silver fox, choose a black coat of classic simplicity, no pockets, no belt. Have a pair of silver foxes done in the new way, without the heads. Drape them carelessly, but not too far on the shoulders, thus giving a long line to the figure.

The slender lady of forty-plus has a wide choice. Fluffy fur collars, pockets and belts are good for her. Fur jackets are very flattering to her slender figure.

If you are a career woman, you will also need a smart sports-type coat for business wear. The same type of coat belongs in the wardrobe of the lady of leisure. She will wear it for shopping, driving the car about town, acting as chauffeur for husband and children. Don't go too "sporty" in your choice. Very tailored, of course, of tweed in soft, dull shades would be most flattering. A touch of flat fur at the collar softens the whole effect. Loose lines are considered by the smartest designers to be the most slenderizing.

Your Figure, Madame!

By IDA JEAN KAIN

There is nothing like getting a few surprises in the morning mail—along with the bills! A letter from a gentleman in Ohio makes me a present of some fine feathers from his macaw because his wife is named Ida. They turn out to be just the touch of gaiety my brown felt needed.

But the prize letter is from a Toronto reducer who has lost 70 pounds since last November and has slimmed down from a size 44 to a trim 18. She is five feet tall and weighs 118 pounds. She has taken 22 inches off the hipline and nine off the bust, and nine off the waist. Her new measurements are: Bust 35 inches; waist, 28 inches; hips, 36 inches. And she wants to know if she can do better than that!

This reducer has done a perfectly marvelous job of remaking her figure. Because of the trend toward tiny waistlines, however, hers could be slimmed down another inch or so. That would give her an eight-to-nine-inch difference between the waist and bust—and a model figure.

Whenever I tell about someone losing a certain number of pounds, there is a small deluge of demands as to how it was done.

"I weigh 70 pounds too much, too," the writers will confide, "and would like to know just how that reducer went about losing her weight."

So I'll tell you. There is no mystery about it. She followed a balanced slimming menu approximately 1,200 calories a day and took regular exercise. The variable ingredient in a good slimming program is will power—you have to supply that yourself.

Another bit of good news comes from an Oregonian who says:

"Thought you might be interested in knowing that my husband and I have been counting calories for the past three months and have been delighted with the results. When we started, he weighed 262 pounds and I weighed 240. He now weighs 205 and I am down to 190. Of course we shall keep on until he gets down to 175 or 180 pounds and I to 150.

"We realize that the fact that we both needed to lose has made it easy. Hope this may serve to encourage others to the same success we have had and are continuing to have."

Now those are the kind of letters I like to get with my morning coffee—they make writing a daily diet column a positive pleasure!

CRESCENT IS CELEBRATING ANNIVERSARY

Furniture Company of Edmonton Has 28 Years Service Record

With almost three decades of service to Edmonton and Edmonton district, purchasers behind Crescent Furniture Ltd. is now celebrating its 28th anniversary with a sensational sale.

The firm has made that [illegible] old British motto: "A man's home is [illegible] castle" [illegible] policy, the [illegible] makes [illegible] customer a [illegible] king of [illegible] castle.

DOUG. KERR

The Crescent [illegible] a pioneer [illegible] firm in [illegible] broadest [illegible] of the [illegible]. It was [illegible] in the year 1912 that the [illegible] that later became the Crescent [illegible] opened for business in a modest manner on 97 street, then Namayo avenue.

That was the year of the amalgamation between Strathcona and Edmonton, the two cities having a total population of 60,000.

HEALTHY GROWTH

Then began that process of slow [illegible] healthy growth. Twelve years ago, in 1924, the firm's business had so expanded that it became necessary to move to more commodious quarters at [illegible] avenue and 96 street.

[illegible] H. [illegible] B[illegible] [illegible] manager, joined the organization.

In addition [illegible] merchandising of high class furniture the Crescent firm pioneered in the practice of extending credit to persons of moderate income who would be unable to suitably furnish their homes unless some form of easy-payment plan were made available to them.

Called a credit and budget plan, the new system at once proved popular with Edmontonians and those living in rural areas.

The slogan: "Make your own terms" became associated with the one Edmonton store at which families could buy new furniture without a large outlay of cash.

TRADE-IN VALUE

[illegible] the progressive management and staff decided on another [illegible]el, and at that time somewhat [illegible] business [illegible]. It was [illegible] of allowing [illegible] warned that [illegible] practice was [illegible] with [illegible]. It had [illegible] automobiles but would not prove successful with furniture, where the depreciation of goods is very high.

But these gloomy predictions were certainly not substantiated. The plan proved at once popular [illegible] the firm.

As a result the furniture bargain basement is one of the most popular departments of the store. Here customers looking for high values at extremely low prices, may purchase really high class reconditioned second hand furniture.

In 19[illegible] the firm moved to its present site on 101 street, where one of the most modern stores of the [illegible] is operated.

SPECIAL DEPARTMENT

As a large portion of the firm's total business originates in country districts, this trade is catered to by a special department, and the needs of out-of-town buyers are kept in mind, at all times. Every convenience, including [illegible] of country patrons, while free truck delivery for a reasonable distance is maintained, especially during sales such as the present anniversary sale.

In addition to furniture needs other requirements are covered in a stock of nationally known products, such as General Electric products, DeForest Crosley radios, Parkhill studio lounges, and living room furniture, Wedgwood dishes, Clare Bros. stoves, and Lane's cedar chests.

COURT HEARS EVIDENCE IN THEFT CHARGE

Chapter In Stony Plain Robbery Recited—One Sentenced

Second chapter in the story of the Edmonton counterpart to the "dead-end kids" was unfolded in city police court Friday afternoon during preliminary hearing of charges of burglary and theft against Leo Perras, involving a garage at Stony Plain on September 8 last.

Witnesses against Perras, who was committed for trial in supreme court, were Kenny Meagher, Thomas Shaw and Fred Lisenak. All three are under sentence for the Stony Plain burglary and other offences. Perras is charged with the theft of a car and of breaking and entering the garage, from which the office safe, containing $160 in cash and a quantity of jewelry were stolen.

On the stand both Shaw and Meagher told of going to the Stony Plain garage, along with Lisenak and Perras on the night of the robbery.

LIFTED SAFE

The youths told of being interrupted at the work of rifling the office by a car driving into the garage. They had merely left by the back door and returned to resume their nefarious work after the car owner had left the garage.

They had placed the office safe in a car and had driven away. On the main street of the town, while turning a corner, the safe had fallen out of the auto.

With calm indifference the four [illegible] nesses.

Corp. R. E. Walker of the R.C.M.P. told of arresting Perras, after an investigation of several days.

GIVEN SENTENCE

Shaw, who had been sentenced to one year in jail on the Stony Plain charge, was sentenced to two years less one day on six charges arising out of burglary and theft of Edmonton garages. He had pleaded guilty to these charges earlier in the week.

Sentence Friday will run concurrently with the one year term.

Corp. Walker stated before sentence was passed that Shaw had been of great assistance to police in clearing up the investigation. The accused had sought a penitentiary term instead of a jail sentence, but Magistrate Millar pointed out that it was impossible to impose a penitentiary sentence of two years that would run concurrently with the one year jail term. To sentence Shaw to penitentiary for two years for the city burglaries would mean that the youth must serve three years in all. This would be unfair, the court stated.

Asked by Crown Prosecutor C. G. Purvis, K.C., if he had been scared when the safe tumbled out [illegible] the main street of [illegible], Shaw replied with a wide grin:

"No, not much."

Schools Should Prepare Pupils For Their Life

That the school must be considered a place to learn to live and not for the amassing of knowledge, is the new technique of progressive education in Alberta schools, R. L. Doucette, normal school instructor, told a meeting of the Edmonton Elementary Teachers' Association held in the Separate school hall recently.

Self-discipline, with almost complete freedom, instead of the old imposed-from-without discipline is also a part of the new teaching technique.

The entire technique is based on the principle of permitting the personality to develop.

G. A. Clayton was in the chair and other meetings are planned for the future.

Joyrider Gets Year In Prison From Magistrate

Youth of 17 who, earlier in the week, stole a car in the east end of the city and was chased by the owners for several miles along Ada boulevard, before crashing the stolen car and thus becoming captured was sentenced to serve one year in jail by Magistrate Millar in police court Friday afternoon.

Accused was charged with operating a car without the consent of the owner.

The youth told police he took the car because, "I got tired walking and wanted a ride."

NEWEST BOOKS ON SCIENCE TOPICS NOW IN LIBRARY

By a recent purchase of a large number of volumes on technical subjects the Edmonton Public Library has enlarged its scientific and technical section and created a department replete with new information on these subjects.

The scientific section is formed in a large alcove in the southwest corner of the library, next to the reference section.

Among the new books are a large number of volumes on aircraft and aeronautics, which were purchased on account of the stimulated interest in aviation, resulting from the war.

Below is a list of some of the new volumes:

Aircraft Maintenance (for the airplane mechanic) by D. J. Brimm and H. E. Boggess; Sheet Metal Workers' Manual, by L. Broemel and J. S. Daugherty; Airplane and Its Engine, by C. H. Chatfield and others; How to Understand Electricity, by A. F. Collins; Instrument and Radio Flying, by K. S. Day; Practical Mathematics for Aviation, by A. E. Downer; Oxy-acetylene Welding for Beginners, by J. W. Giachino; Principles and Practice of Radio Servicing, by H. J. Hicks.

Chemistry and You, by B. S. Hopkins and others; Geology and Engineering, by R. F. Legget; Metallurgy, by C. G. Johnson and others; General Aeronautics, by H. F. Lusk; Airmanship, by J. McDonough; Practical Die Design and Die Making, by E. G. Marshall; How to Design and Install Plumbing, by A. J. Matthias Jr.; First Course in Physics for Colleges, by R. A. Millikan and others; Pageant of Electricity, by A. P. Morgan; Farm motors, by A. A. Potter.

Pattern Making, by J. Ritchey and others; Water Treatment and Purification, by W. J. Ryan; Chemistry [illegible], by S. S. Sadtler; Interior Electric Wiring and Estimating, by A. Uhl and others; Steam and Hot Water Fitting, by W. T. Walters; Practical Shop Mathematics, by J. H. Wolfe and E. R. Phelps; Airplane Maintenance, by J. E. Younger and others.

SOLUTION OF YESTERDAY'S PROBLEM, GLURKS AND GRIFFS:

GLURKS are PINK GRIFFS are BLUE

Statements 1, 4, 5 and 6 are the lies.

Reasoning: (Remember that only 4 lies were told in all.)

If ALAN told the truth: BERT, FRED, GAIL and HUGH must be lying; all others must be telling truth. But this is impossible, since CARL and DAVE contradict each other.

If DAVE told the truth: CARL, ERIC, GAIL and HUGH must be lying; all others must be telling truth. But this is impossible, since ALAN and BERT contradict each other.

If ERIC told the truth: BERT, DAVE, FRED and GAIL must be lying . . . and HUGH must lie in saying that ALAN lies.

If FRED told the truth: ALAN, CARL, ERIC and HUGH must be lying . . . and GAIL must lie in saying that DAVE lies.

Hence, by elimination, ALAN, DAVE, ERIC and FRED must be the ones who lied. So GLURKS are PINK, GRIFFS are BLUE.

NEGRO SINGER TO ENTERTAIN CITY AUDIENCE

Brilliant Basso, Kenneth Spencer Will Be Here In October

Vividly remembered by Edmonton audiences who attended his brilliant recitals of Negro spiritual and folk songs, in Edmonton last fall, Kenneth Spencer, Negro basso singer will again be heard in this city early in October.

Mr. Spencer will sing at both morning and evening services at the First Baptist church on Sunday, October 6 and will be heard in recital in the church on the following evenings of Monday and Tuesday, October 7 and 8.

During the past summer, Mr. Spencer has been residing in Vancouver where, on a number of occasion, he has been guest soloist with the Stanley Park Memorial Bowl symphony orchestra. During the past year he has been acting as understudy to Paul Robeson, the well known Negro singer, in New York.

Combining the richness and depth of his fine voice with artistic and intelligent interpretation, Mr. Spencer has won wide acclaim for his solos and readings given in recital in western Canada. Last week he gave a recital and repeat performance in Calgary. He will be accompanied by Gordon Kuschner, who has been accompanist for the Winnipeg Symphony orchestra.

Ticket Sales For Celebrity Series Moving Rapidly

Enthusiasm for the delightful and varied program being arranged in the Celebrity Series to be presented this fall, is resulting is a tremendous turn-over of tickets, and those eager to attend the series are invited to book their seats for the concerts in the near future.

Included in the program are such favorites as Mischa Elman, world famous violinist; Richard Crooks, known to thousands for his marvelous singing voice, and Reginald Stewart, Canadian pianist from Toronto. Also to be heard are Lansing Hatfield, the Virginia baritone, who is competing for place among Lawrence Tibbett and other leading singers, and BiduSayao, the South American soprano who has taken the feminine lead in many of the Metropolitan operas. The first concert takes place on Friday, October 18, when Lansing Hatfield will be heard in recital.

STUDENTS OUT IN FORCE FOR FIRST PARADE

All men students attending the University of Alberta other than those exempted under regulations were out in full to the first parade of the U. of A. Auxiliary Battalion. The unit is to provide military training as required under the national mobilization act for male students at the university here.

The estimated 800 men gathered in Convocation hall at 4 p.m. and heard the University military set-up explained to them by Lt.-Col. P. S. Warren, officer commanding the Alberta contingent of the C.O.T.C. and official in charge of military training on the campus. Col. Warren indicated that after a month's training those cadets showing the most ability would be enrolled in the C.O.T.C., while the remainder will drill with the Auxiliary Battalion.

The army course offered to men students at the university here, Col. Warren stated, was expected to take the place of the month-training camps that are being organized now to handle the 18 year to 30 year old draft classes. A two-week camp, together with 110 hours training during the term, is planned to meet the requirements of the department of national defense.

Following the talk by Col. Warren, the group was divided into nine companies with four platoons each, to form the basis of the U. of A. Auxiliary Battalion. Training was then started out on the campus and in the grid under the direction of Lt.-Col. E. H. Strickland, officer in charge of military instruction.

The present phase of the army drill at the University of Alberta will continue for one month, and will consist largely of elementary squad drill, preparatory to an intensive period of training in the renovated covered rink.

All past members of the C.O.T.C., and senior students will have a [illegible] joining the officers' training [illegible] at the completion of the general month of training, it was announced by officials.

MUSIC SPHERE GOES BEYOND NATIONALITIES

Writer Feels Wagner Would Not Approve of Hitler's Type

"Much has been made in some quarters of the fact that Hitler approves highly of Wagner's operas, but is Wagner to be blamed for that?" writes H. P. B., in the Montreal Star. "Adolf Hitler may flatter himself that he is like Siegfried or a Knight of the Grail, but it is hard to believe that Wagner would have thought so."

In a few weeks, another season of music will commence in which Canadians will certainly listen to many works by German and Italian composers, and many will agree with H. P. B. that "there is surely no good reason why we should not hear the works of dead composers, whatever the countries in which they were born or lived."

He continues: "Not all Wagner's dramas have to do with the primitive Teutonic savages, who excite the admiration of Nazis. The scene of Parsifal is nowhere in particular, though it might be in the north of Spain; Rienzi had a few points of resemblance to Mussolini, but he was by no means pro-German, and the fact that the scene of the Flying Dutchman is in one of the Scandinavian fjords cannot be taken as a reasonable excuse for the invasion of Norway.

"Why then should we spite ourselves by deprival of good things which were made by Germans or Italians, who died before Nazism or Fascism were ever thought of, and, if they were still alive now, would assuredly be refugees in other countries? Their works are now refugees and we should treat them as well as we can and use them to remind us of the existence in the past of good Germans and Italians, whose degenerate successors should be removed as quickly and thoroughly as possible."

Menuhin Plays For War Victims

The net proceeds of Yehudi Menuhin's recent concert tour in Australia were given for the benefit of war victims. The famous violinist has in a little over a year turned over more than $70,000 to the cause of refugees. The entire proceeds of his New York recital in December will help European refugee students at the Palestine Conservatoire of Music in Jerusalem.

Steaming will remove marks in dyed velvet and velveteen garments.

Many Noted Masters Cross From Europe

This continent has gained musically by the upset in Europe, as a casual poll of great musical authorities who have fled from Germany, Austria and other countries indicate. A partial list of those now working in the United States reveals the following: Alfred Einstein, Hugo Leichentritt, Curt Sachs, all who fled from Hitler and all noted musicologists. Then there is Paul Nettl from Czecho-Slovakia; Paul Amadeus Pisk of Vienna; Ernest Krenek, composer, and Karl Rathaus, Ernst Toch and Darius Milhaud of the French Six. They nearly all occupy teaching posts in the larger universities.

New Treatment Will Be Given To Rigoletto

Verdi's Rigoletto is to get an entirely new treatment at the hands of the New Audience Company of New York. A production called "Hunks - a - Dory," using Verdi music, is planned. This will be a gangster opera presented in modern dress. It will have one act and four scenes, and its composers claim that it is not swinging the opera, but a new version. Be that as it may, it will be a bit startling to find the Duke as "Duke the Gangster," head of a white slave ring.

JOSEPH MARKS GUEST ARTIST RECITAL HERE

Calgary Violinist To Give Concert At Masonic Temple

Joseph Marks, Calgary violinist will be the guest artist for the opening recital of the Women's Musical Club on the afternoon of Saturday, October 5, in the Masonic Temple. Mr. Marks is well known to Edmonton music audiences, and has gained a fine reputation for his performances.

Following a recital given in Calgary last spring by the artist, a music critic there stated, "Mr. Marks opened his program with Andantino by Kreisler, arranged by Martini, and at once established himself as a violinist who has that invaluable spark which brings his playing to life and makes it a thing of beauty and satisfaction to his hearers.

"Chaconne by Bach, with piano accompaniment by Schumann, a technically difficult composition, which in less capable hands might easily become tedious was well expressed.

SINGING TONE

"The Bruch concerto which followed is romantic, emotional music, and was played with fine restraint and provided excellent opportunity for display of the artist's fine singing tone."

Mrs. Helen Boese, pianist, also well-known to Edmonton audiences, will accompany Mr. Marks. Of her accompaniments, a Calgary music critic has said, "Mrs. Boese's work last evening was outstanding among the many excellent programs on which she has been the chief assistant in recent months. Always the most sympathetic of accompanists, Mrs. Boese was at the top of her excellent form, and quite half the honors should go to her truly inspired performance."

PROGRAM HERE

Mr. Marks' program is as follows: Andantino by Martini - Kreisler; Chaconne by Bach, with piano accompaniment by Schuman, and Concerto in G. Minor by Bruch, allegro moderato, adagio and allegro energico. These compositions are the ones performed last spring in Calgary by Mr. Marks.

Forming the second half of his program are Nigun by Block; Ait et Trepak by Sassanoff; Caprice XX by Paganini-Kreisler, and Fire Dance by de Falla-Kohanski.

Baritone Goss Lives At Coast

John Goss, the English baritone who adjudicated the vocal classes last spring at the Canadian music festival is now making his home in Vancouver and has opened a studio to continue his professional activities in this country. The B.C. city enthusiastically approves of his taste in habitation.

Directs Club

Dr. Kenneth W. Nealby, formerly of Edmonton, who is now making his home in Winnipeg, has been named director of the Men's Musical Club of Winnipeg, at the annual meeting held recently.

Little Orphan Annie
C'MON, BILLY-- HUSTLE UP-- TH' DOC'LL BE THERE WHEN WE GET HOME FROM SUNDAY SCHOOL--- WANTA HEAR WHAT HE SAYS-
CAN WE SEE TH' SICK LADY TODAY? CAN WE, ANNIE?
MAYBE--- IF WE PROMISE TO BE REAL QUIET AND NOT STAY LONG OR TIRE HER OUT GABBIN' TO HER-
OH, I WON'T SAY A WORD--- I JUST WANT TO SEE HER-- NOBODY'S LET ME SEE HER YET-
OH, YOU'LL GET LOTS O' CHANCES TO SEE HER--- HELLO, DOC-- HOW IS SHE TODAY? COULD WE SEE HER FOR JUST A MINUTE?
SHE'S MUCH BETTER- GAINS A LITTLE EACH DAY-- BUT SHE'S STILL VERY WEAK-- HM-M-M- WELL, I GUESS YOU COULD GO IN FOR A MINUTE-
NOW, REMEMBER, BILLY-- BE JUST AS QUIET AS A LITTLE MOUSE, WON'T YOU?
YES, ANNIE-
HELLO, ANNIE-- NICE OF YOU TO COME TO SEE ME--- WHO'S WITH--- YOU--? I CAN'T SEE--
OH, THIS IS LITTLE BILLY--- HERE-- UP ON THIS CHAIR, BILLY-- WHAT DO YOU SAY TO THE LADY?
HELLO-
BILLY? OH-- BILLY! LITTLE BILLY---
HA! HA! BUT OF COURSE-- YOU'RE NOT LITTLE BILLY ANY MORE, ARE YOU? NO-- YOU'RE A BIG BOY NOW-
WE WON'T STAY ANY LONGER THIS TIME--- BUT WE'LL COME TO SEE YOU OFTEN--- EH, BILLY?
UH-HUH! WE'LL COME OFTEN-- YOU'RE NICE-
T-THANK YOU-- BILLY-- YES--- YOU MUST COME OFTEN-
OH, HELLO, SAM- GEE, SHE SEEMED GLAD TO SEE US-- DIDJA NOTICE HOW SHE LOOKED AT BILLY? SHE SURE LIKED HIM-
AND I LIKE HER, TOO-
I'M SURE YOU DO, BILLY-
9-29-40
I CAN'T GET OVER TH' WAY SHE SORTA CHOKED UP WHEN SHE SAW BILLY- COURSE HE IS CUTE--- BUT TH' LOOK IN HER EYES-- IT WAS MORE'N AS IF BILLY WAS JUST ANY KID-
PERHAPS SOMEWHERE SHE HAS A LITTLE BOY OF HER OWN-
SAY-- THAT COULD BE, SAM--- GEE! I WISH SHE'D HURRY UP AND GET WELL-- THERE'S THOUSANDS O' QUESTIONS I'D LIKE TO ASK HER-
HA! HA! NO DOUBT-- BUT YOU WILL NOT BE RUDE, I KNOW- TIME BRINGS THE ANSWER TO ALL QUESTIONS, ANNIE-

FLYIN' JENNY
BY- Russell Keaton
RICK AND STARR RUSH SWOOP LOWE TO A HOSPITAL AFTER FINDING HIM WALKING DOWN THE HIGHWAY DAZED. UNKNOWN TO ANYONE, HE CRASHED HIS CAR WHILE SPEEDING TO JENNY AS SHE FLOATED DOWN ON HER 'CHUTE.
SWOOP! SWOOP LOWE! IT'S STARR! WHAT CAUSED THE KILLER TO CRASH?
PLEASE! PLEASE, MR. STARR!
THIS MAN IS SUFFERING FROM BRAIN CONCUSSION! HE'S UNCONSCIOUS! WE MUST GIVE HIM A CHANCE.
SORRY, DOCTOR! THAT EXPERIMENTAL SHIP HE TESTED IS A WASH-OUT! NO WAY OF FINDING OUT WHAT WAS WRONG UNLESS HE TELLS US!
BUT IT WAS JENNY, NOT SWOOP WHO TESTED THE "KILLER"!
HOME! BUT IF I HADN'T WAITED UNTIL DARK I'D NEVER HAVE MADE IT WITHOUT BEING RECOGNIZED!
WHY, THE AIR-STREAM OF THAT POWER DIVE RIPPED OFF MY FLYING CLOTHES--AN' MY SHOES! I USED MY 'CHUTE TO MAKE THIS DRESS!
BETTER GET MYSELF OVER TO THE AIRPORT AND TRY TO LOCATE SWOOP! THERE'S LOTS OF THINGS TO TELL HIM ABOUT THAT AIRPLANE THAT HE CAN TELL STARR!
SWOOP LOWE?--WHERE WERE YOU DURING ALL THE EXCITEMENT? HE'S IN THE HOSPITAL! GLAD STARR DIDN'T LET YOU TEST THAT JOB!
OH-H-H
HE DIDN'T GET HURT JUMPING FROM THAT PLANE IN A 'CHUTE! I KNOW THAT! THIS PUTS ME ON A SPOT!
WHAT STARR SHOULD KNOW ABOUT THAT SHIP CAN'T WAIT! WHY, SWOOP MAY BE UNCONSCIOUS A WEEK! GUESS I MAY AS WELL TELL ALL.

I HAVEN'T TIME FOR JOKES! DIDN'T I SEE SWOOP GET IN THAT SHIP? DIDN'T I PICK HIM UP ON THE HIGHWAY AFTER HE JUMPED?
BUT, MR. STARR! I DID TEST IT!
JENNY'S STORY SPREAD LIKE A HANGAR FIRE--
WOULDN'T HAVE THOUGHT IT OF HER! - TRYING TO TAKE CREDIT FOR THAT TEST DIVE WHEN POOR OLD SWOOP IS IN THE HOSPITAL UNCONSCIOUS!
COOLER
SHE TRIED TO PULL A PRETTY LOW TRICK, I'D SAY!
WHY, I THOUGHT SHE WAS A SWELL GAL!-BUT --NOT NOW!

OUT OUR WAY — The Willets — By Williams

I'VE TOLD YOU A HUNDRED TIMES THE FRONT ROOM IS NO PLACE FOR YOUR CAP AND SWEATER. GET THEM OUT OF HERE, RIGHT NOW!
OKAY- OKAY! ANYWAY, I'M GONNA WEAR 'EM--GONNA PRACTICE FOOTBALL AS SOON AS I GRAB A BITE OF BREAKFAST!
OH, LILLIAN! GET UP! I'D THINK YOU COULD COME DOWN HERE AND HELP ME WITH THE IRONING!
GEE, I OVERSLEPT. DAD SNORED TERRIBLY AND I HAD AN AWFUL TIME GETTING TO SLEEP. YOU KNOW I'M GLAD TO HELP WITH THE IRONING!
YES--I KNOW!
ALL RIGHT, YOUNG LADY--GET BUSY. I'LL HANG UP THE THINGS I'VE ALREADY IRONED
RUN UPSTAIRS AND GET SOME MORE HANGERS LIL--AND CARRY THE SHEETS UP, WHILE YOU'RE AT IT. I'LL BRING THE TOWELS AND OTHER FLAT THINGS!
HEY, MOM, I'M HOME! AN' I'M ROBBIN' THE ICE BOX--BOY, AM I STARVED! WE WALLOPED THE TIGERS 51 TO 6!
OH, YOU DID--WELL, YOU OUGHT TO GET WALLOPED YOURSELF!
ONCE MORE YOU'VE LEFT YOUR CAP AND SWEATER IN THE FRONT ROOM. GO PUT THEM AWAY!

THIS CURIOUS WORLD
MAN IS JUSTLY PROUD OF HIS EFFICIENT METHODS OF SENDING MESSAGES TO OTHERS OF HIS KIND AROUND THE EARTH! THE LOWER ANIMALS, TOO, HAVE METHODS OF QUICK COMMUNICATION.
GIANT SILK MOTHS, IT IS BELIEVED, HAVE SOME SORT OF WIRELESS COMMUNICATION IN WHICH THEIR FEELERS ACT AS ANTENNAE...WITH A RANGE OF SEVERAL MILES.
THE WHITE-TAIL DEER WIG-WAGS SIGNALS WITH ITS TAIL
UNIQUE IS THE HELIOGRAPH OF THE PRONG HORN ANTELOPE. AT THE FIRST SIGN OF DANGER, A MUSCULAR MOVEMENT FLASHES THE LONG WHITE HAIRS OF HIS RUMP-PATCH! OTHERS OF THE HERD TAKE UP THE SIGNAL, AND FLASH IT UNTIL ALL ARE WARNED.
THE FAR-REACHING WARNING CRY OF ONE SPECIES OF BIRD IS RECOGNIZED BY ALL OTHER BIRD SPECIES!
SCENT GLANDS ARE USED BY MANY ANIMALS FOR INTER-COMMUNICATION! THE HOG-LIKE PECCARIES HAVE SUCH GLANDS IN THEIR BACKS.
BEAVERS SLAP THE WATER WITH THEIR TAILS TO WARN A COLONY OF IMPENDING DANGER.

"E" IS EXCELLENT... "F" IS FAIR AN' "P" IS POOR!
THEN YOUR REPORT CARD SEEMS TO INDICATE THAT YOU ARE "POOR" IN PENMANSHIP!
YES, SIR!
ARE YOU GONNA SPANK ME?
I'M GOING TO DO WORSE THAN THAT.... I THINK I SHALL HUMILIATE YOU!
I'M GOING TO WRITE A LETTER TO YOUR TEACHER WHICH I HOPE WILL GET RESULTS!
"DEAR MISS KANTZ: I FEEL ASHAMED OF MY SON, TAG, FOR BEING THE DUNCE OF HIS CLASS ----
....AND UNTIL HE SHOWS IMPROVEMENT IN PENMANSHIP I WANT YOU TO MAKE HIM STAND IN A CORNER EACH DAY"
DON'T YOU THINK YOU WERE A LITTLE SEVERE THIS MORNING, HENRY?
I DON'T THINK SO.... TAG MUST LEARN THE IMPORTANCE OF LEGIBLE HANDWRITING!
WELL, SON, WHAT DID YOUR TEACHER SAY ABOUT MY NOTE?
SHE DIDN'T SAY ANYTHING, POP.... SHE COULDN'T READ IT!
